The Italians Battle Fiercely for the Mountains and Finally Clinch Their Hold on Them.

SITUATION MENDS, BUT VENICE IN PERIL

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Thursday, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Heavy fighting continues on the northern line along the low mountains above Monte Grappa. These successive mountains are proving to be the same kind of natural barrier to the enemy's swift advance that the successive rivers interposed before the Piave was reached. Before the enemy loomed snow-capped Grappa, held by the Italians, which would be a really formidable obstruction should the lower ranges be taken.

The name of this mountain inspires a feeling of security among the people, as it is taken from the local dialect, its meaning being "saw." The crest looks like a saw with teeth turned to the sky. It is toward this natural mountain barrier that the present mountain fighting is gradually developing.

Guglielmo Ferrero the distinguished Italian historian, declares that this mountain barrier is Italy's greatest security which throughout history has brought defeat to invading armies.

The fighting today between the Piave and Brenta rivers while heavy brought no material change in the position of the opposing forces.

GERMANS SHELLING AMERICAN SECTORS WITH MUCH ENERGY

With the American Army in France, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The enemy artillery firing is more active along the American sector. Shells in more than normal number are falling on the rear. No casualties have resulted. In reprisal for the shelling of the town in which the American headquarters is located during which a shell fell on an American regimental headquarters, American guns sent an equal number of shells into the corresponding town behind the German lines the next day.

Patrolling operations continue with nightly excursions to the vicinity of the German wire defenses, but the Americans have failed to encounter any Germans and no further casualties have been reported.

The officers who have served their turn in the trenches at the battalions already relieved have held a meeting with the commander of the first contingent and discussed their experiences. All agreed that actual training in the trenches under fire is the ideal method of acquainting officers and soldiers with fighting methods.

ROUND UP OF THE FAKERS

Bogus "British Officers" to Be Object of a Wide Search.

SWINDLERS ARE QUITE NUMEROUS

Genuine British Officers Indignant at Harm Done Repute.

New York, Nov. 23.—A concerted country wide effort to round up fake "British army officers" who, it is said, have imposed on the American public in many ways, is to be made by British officials now in New York, it was announced today. An investigation has disclosed, it was said, that at least fifty men posing as British officers are now operating throughout the country. A recommendation has been made to Washington, whereby all subjects of the British government represented as undesirable by British officers will be deported.

The British officers here are indignant over impositions practiced upon Americans by the alleged representatives of the army. One man is said to have registered at one of New York's most exclusive hotels and succeeded in borrowing $70,000 from an elderly woman.

The importers have been able to get unlimited credit in other hotels in the United States. One alleged officer is said to have dined with American army officers upon representations that he was a colonel in the British army and actually took part in a review of troops.

HOLY CITY IS SOON TO FALL

German Newspapers Preparing Public for Capture of Jerusalem.

USELESS TO HOLD ON TO IT, SAYS ONE

Is Admitted That to Give Up the City Would Be "Painful Loss."

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—The German papers are preparing the public for the loss of Jerusalem. The Nord Deutsche Algemeine Zeitung says that to cling to places "which would bring us no military advantage" would be tantamount to the needless sacrifice of numerous Turkish forces and our own troops, and would likewise involve serious losses.

After discussing the difficulty of reinforcing the defenders, it says:

"Any way, the abandonment of Jerusalem, which is within the bounds of possibility, certainly would be an extremely painful loss, in view of the city's great historical past, but no military change would be caused by such a course."

Lieut. Gen. von Ardenne in the Tagblatt attributes the Turkish retreat from Jaffa to the great range of the guns of the British fleet, and adds:

"Jerusalem is not equipped for defense. Therefore it is not improbable that this advanced position will be abandoned by the Turks." He insists this will in no wise alter the military situation.

LONDON JOURNAL SAYS VATICAN IS AIDING AUSTRIA

London, Nov. 23.—The vatican is accused in an editorial in the Morning Post of being implicated in the propaganda which the newspaper says was responsible for the recent Italian reverses. Reviewing what it describes as vatican machinations, the Post says that its political activities during the war "can by no sophistry be regarded as consistent with the principles of neutrality."

"From the beginning," says the Post, "the vatican has leaned to Austria's side, and lately has furiously, but actively, espoused the Austrian cause."

The newspaper calls on the British government to look into the matter, and demands that the vatican declare definitely on which side it stands.

XMAS SEAL SALE OPENS

Red Cross Drive Against White Plague Has Begun in Fort Wayne.

MUST BE GREATER RESULTS THIS YEAR

War Increases Field of Work for Anti-Tuberculosis Crusaders.

Another campaign, that of the sale of anti-tuberculosis stamps, was opened Friday. Last season's mark reached was $455,566 stamps, bringing a total of $4,556,66 to aid the cause of white plague victims.

Fort Wayne has today several half and hearty citizens, who but a year or so ago were consumptives. These people owe their recovery to the treatment at Camp Recovery. Practically all of the cases at Camp Recovery are under treatment at the county's expense, and to keep up this good work at the camp sufficient funds are necessary. The sale of Red Cross stamps is the prime support of this tuberculosis hospital.

Mrs. J. R. Meriwether has opened the society headquarters in the Noll building and an active campaign from these headquarters will be started within a few days. Dr. Eric Crull, superintendent of the hospital at Camp Recovery says: "Unless the people buy seals in larger quantities than ever before the society must abandon some of its work, and the disease will again show an increase per-

DRIVE GERMANS BACK IN EARLY MORNING SMASH

Haig's Forces Rout Teutons From an Elevation Dominating Large Section of Cambrai Region.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES NEW BATTLE IS ON

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The British early today drove back the enemy at the elevation called Tadpole cope, which dominates a large section of the canal du Nord and a large part of Moevres in the Cambrai region.

NEW BATTLE SAYS.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—A new battle is in progress in the Cambrai area, army headquarters announced today. The fighting broke out anew this morning in the direction of Moevres.

Yesterday, the statement adds, the Germans forced the British from the village of Fontaine and from La Folie wood. English attacks against Rumilly, Banteux and Vinduill, the war office reports, collapsed with heavy losses.

VICTOR IS HONORED.

London, Nov. 23.—King George has promoted Lieutenant General Byng to the rank of general in recognition of his distinguished service in the field in the recent operations, it was officially announced today.

LINE IS ADVANCED.

London, Nov. 23.—The British have advanced their line slightly in Flanders southeast of Ypres, the war office announces. The situation on the Somme front southwest of Cambrai is unchanged.

"Southeast of Ypres we advanced our lines slightly during the night. Hostile raids attempted in the night of Neuve-Chapelle, northwest of St. Quentin and northwest of Pontrue last spring. Neuve is now within a sharp salient which has been tightened by the British advances from Bullecourt in the present.

Gen. Byng's stroke was a masterpiece of maneuver, according to reports from the front. Many squadrons of tanks cut through the great wire defenses, opening the way for the infantry and the cavalry which pushed through rapidly.

ENGLISH JACKIES MUST HAVE SPORT

Americans Could Do Good Turn by Teaching Them the Game.

Base of the British Grand Fleet, Nov. 7.—(Mail)—Many leading British naval men believe that baseball may solve one of the great problems of the Grand Fleet, that of recreation. Here in the Grand Fleet are over a hundred thousand men who need some form of play, and there is nothing in the list of British sports which exactly fits the bill. Naval officials feel that baseball is the answer. But they also feel that there is nobody here who is qualified to teach the game properly and they hope that in some way it will be found possible for Americans to

CANADIAN OFFICER ADDRESSES THE ELKS

Sergeant Flahiff Tells of Experiences While With Army in France.

At a patriotic meeting and dinner given Friday night at the Elks' temple Sergeant John Flahiff, of the Canadian army, gave an interesting talk of his experiences along the western front. A chicken pie supper, following the talk, was attended by over 200 members. Claude G. Bowring, in a short talk on the principles of the order, another feature of the program was the acts of valour obtained from the current bill at the Flanders theater.

In his talk, Sergeant Flahiff told of the different great battles of the war along the western front. He spoke particularly of the fights along the Somme sector which have been the most desperate of the war. Interesting references were made to the various methods of modern warfare. He praised highly the work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross.

Sergeant Flahiff was a member of the famous "Princess Pat" regiment, and won his shoulder straps for bravery in battle. At present he is on leave of absence as the result of a severe case of trench fever, but said as soon as his health would permit he was willing to re-enter the war under the Stars and Stripes.

HAVE FLOOD OF LETTERS ON THE ALIEN ENEMIES

Washington, Nov. 23.—A flood of letters and telegrams reporting suspicious Germanisms, the result of President Wilson's proclamation imposing restrictions on alien enemies, reached the department of justice today and were carefully scanned by agents of the bureau of investigation. Many were from persons who did not understand that the alien enemies regulations applied only to unnaturalized Germans and not to those of German nativity or birth who have become citizens. The investigation bureau's mail has been particularly heavy for several months since the department of justice issued an appeal to all citizens to report any circumstances appearing dangerous to the country's prosecution of the war. Persons wrote detailed accounts of their German neighbors' habits of living and lengthy explanations of their suspicion. These letters are still welcomed, although most of the information they have furnished has not been of great value.

ITALIANS INVENT A WORKING-CLASS FLAT

Type of Dwelling Will Be Adapted to Rebuilding of England.

London, Oct. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—British architects and town-planning experts, who are making plans for a great remodelling of British cities after the war, declare that one of the most successful experiments in new types of industrial and urban housing is that which has been made by the Italian Good Dwellings Society of Rome. The idea of adopting something similar in England has been proposed.

"The Italian Society," says a report on the Rome experiment, "has erected a block of working-class flats containing 800 dwellings, designed for all types and sizes of families. The flats are built on four sides of a square, with a garden in the center in which the 'children's house' stands by itself."

"You enter the quadrangle by a
for storing baby carriages and bicycles. To the right is the porter's office, the postoffice and telephones for general use. Inside, newest the gateways, beds and an open space for the pleasure of everyone. Beyond are the children's gardens, then the little low building called the children's house, a charming place, white, with great windows that stand open to the air, and covered with painter roses. Here is the nursery school for children under seven. Another big room in the children's house is the 'after school' where the children over seven do their home lessons on returning from school, under supervision, and in conditions that they could not possibly find in their own homes."

"The 'after school' is the nursery school, and the cloak room occupying the whole of the front of the children's house. On the other side there is a group of rooms whose use is common to the whole establishment. There is a large common room for the women, fitted with electric sewing machines and electric irons, which can be used on payment of a small sum. Here also are great cutting tables and sewing tables, such as women know to be invaluable in sewing work, but which are impossible in small homes.
A common wash house and laundry is in the basement of the building.

"This central building also contains a 'surgery,' where a doctor is in attendance at stated times and any tenant may have free advice. If tenants need attention in their own apartments, there is a fee of 20 cents.
Twice a week the doctor examines all the school children.

"The buildings are equipped with numerous bathrooms, but hot water is obtainable only at stated times.

"The flats are of various sizes.
Overcrowding is forbidden, and families must move into larger flats as their numbers increase. The largest flats are designed to accommodate the parents and five children. Tenants who rise above a certain standard in the care of their dwellings receive a percentage of their rent back in an annual bonus."

AMERICAN JACKIES
FROLIC IN IRELAND

Lads of the American Flotilla Enjoy Tramps Over Emerald Isle.

Base American Flotilla in British Waters, October 28.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Tramps through the beautiful Irish countryside are the favorite autumn pastime of American sailors on afternoon shore leave.

The Americans never saw so many pigs in their lives as they have since they began to wander around Ireland. Up one of the favorite country roads they have become fast friends with an Irish farmer who has a remarkable squad of trained pigs. Whenever the sailors visit his farmyard the farmer delights in running his pigs through a number of evolutions just to make the sailors laugh. The farmer is very fond of the youthful Americans. To one party which called the other day he presented a tiny porker which they took squealing back to their ship and adopted as their mascot.

One trip at sea, however, made piggy so seasick that he turned over to the chef and made the centerpiece of at roast pig dinner, the like of which the boys have not had since leaving the shores of the United States.

Bicycling has gained a tremendous vogue with the American bluejackets.

Scores of them, mounted on machines of all possible types and vintages, may be passed daily on the roads leading out from the naval base. The bicycles are rented from local dealers at about $2.50 to $3 a week. Many of the sailors have pedaled all the way to Blarney Castle, while others have ventured as far as the Lakes of Killarney. They ride through the streets here at what the natives characterize as "reckless speed."

Several of the blujackets are former professional, or semi-professional cyclists who have competed in long distance contests in many parts of the United States and they like nothing better than a spin of 20 or 25 miles over good roads to be found in this part of Ireland.

The bicycling season is at its height now and the American sailors have joined with the natives in gathering thousands of quarts from the hedgerows along the roads.

The American sailors have caused a boom in the broiled lobsters and oyster business of this port. Neither of these foods has ever been popular with the Irish people, although they are available in large quantities and at low prices.

A photographer has just made the rounds of the destroyer and on each of them has taken group pictures of the officers and men. The photograph was sent over by the British admiralty, which knows how the sailor loves to be "snapped." Copies of the photographs are sold to the sailors at cost price.

The photographer, just before coming to the Americans here, had taken photographs from the seaplane of the damage done to Zeebrugge, Ostend and other German submarine bases by British airmen. He has won great popularity among the Americans, who look forward to his further visits with much pleasure.

GERMANY IS TRYING HARD TO SAVE COAL

Every Possible Means of Conservation Employed to Hoard Fuel.

Berne, Oct. 16.—Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Germany has resorted to stringent measures of reducing its coal consumption during the coming winter by cutting down its train service and curtailing the number of people who travel, especially in express trains.

The latest edition of the Journal of the Association of German Railroads announces that at a recent meeting of the representatives of all German railroads, held in Berlin, it was unanimously decided not only to reduce the number of trains, but to put such a high cost upon travelling, by means of radical raises in the price of tickets, as to insure that only those will travel who absolutely must do so.

The advance contemplated and which probably will become effective within a very short time are as follows: On all tickets for express trains costing up to five marks, an extra charge of three marks will be levied; tickets hitherto costing from five to ten marks will be taxed eight marks extra; from ten to fifteen marks, thirteen marks extra; from fifteen to twenty-five marks, twenty marks extra; and for sums above twenty-five marks, ten marks extra for each ten marks as ordinarily charged.

Likewise there is to be a sharp limitation in baggage regulations so that both the size and number of trunks, as well as their weight, will be cut down. For the first time in many years Sunday trains are to be reduced in number. Hitherto they have always run on weekday schedules, sometimes even have been increased in number because of the German's love of making Sunday excursions.

In order to assure the punctual arrival and departure of trains, which unfortunately suffered greatly last winter because it was impossible to get up enough steam to haul the long heavy express trains on time, the timetables will be revised so that trips will be longer than under the present schedule—though probably no longer than they have been actually taking.

Miss Augusta Seaman, of Milwaukee, who father was an officer in the German army, will purchase and outfit a Red Cross automobile and drive it herself.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 25

A PSALM OF THANKSGIVING.

LESSON TEXT—Psalms 103.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits.—Pa.
103:2.

This Psalm is man's response to the goodness and mercy of God. It expresses the joy and gratitude of a forgiven sinner as he worships before God. There is too much in this Psalm for one to attempt to set it forth, so we must be content to display some of its most prominent notes.

I. Man's Entire Being Should Sing God's Praise, v. 1. The true worshipper praises God with every faculty of his being; his intellect, emotion, desires, affections all unite in praising Jehovah. The entire being responds in a song of harmonious praise. Some praise God with their voices but not with their hearts; some with their intellect but not with their affections; some with their emotions but not with their wills. That praise which involves the entire being alone is pleasing to God.

II. The Benefits Granted, v. 2-6. The Psalmist exhorts man not to forget all God's benefits. This seems to be needed now as well as then, for most of us are better at remembering our troubles and adversities, our losses and our sorrows, than we are at remembering our mercies and blessings. It would be a good thing for some of us to keep a record of the good things of life and see that, after all, our blessings outweigh our burdens. We have more days of sunshine than of clouds, more joys than we have of sorrows, more hours when we are free from pain than we suffer with pain. If God were as forgetful of us as we are of Him, life would be hard indeed.

(1) Forgiveness of sins, v. 3. In forgiveness we are freed from the curse of sin and its blight and burdens are removed. We are not only forgiven, but we are healed of sin's disease; not only freed from the burdens of sin but of its effects, so that we do not go after the things of this world. To be saved for heaven means that we are saved from the world.

(2) Redemption, v. 4. We have been saved by Christ giving Himself as a ransom for our souls.

(3) Satisfaction, v. 5. When God redeems, He so thoroughly renews the man that the good things which he gets from God satisfy him. His blessings are so real that he finds satisfaction in God. Men and women of the world are reaching out after fleeting things. They are ever grasping after something, but are never satisfied. Not so with the redeemed soul; he finds absolute satisfaction in the things which God gives him. Worships may be satisfied, but God's redeemed alone are satisfied.

(4) Executing judgment in behalf of the oppressed, v. 6. He is always on the side of the oppressed. God undertakes for his own, and sooner or later He will mete out justice to all. There is a reckoning day for the world coming. Those who have done evil shall suffer loss; those who have done good shall be rewarded.

III. Attributes of God for Which He Should Be Praised, v. 7-18. These attributes have been displayed in God's dealings with his chosen people.

(1) Merciful and gracious, v. 8. He is slow to anger and plenteous in mercy. An example of his mercy is seen in the father of the prodigal son running to meet his son and kissing him. A very little thought will make very evident how God withholds his anger and waits patiently for an opportunity to extend his mercy.

(2) He will not always "chide," vv. 8-12. When God forgives he forgives forever. Men say they forgive, but how often they "chide" and "keep anger." God has not dealt with us according to our sins, for, as the heavens are high above the earth, so great is his mercy toward them that they fear him. So really has God forgiven us that our transgressions are as far removed from us as the East is from the West, an incalculable distance.

(3) He is compassionate and tender, vv. 13-14. This reveals God's fatherly heart. He fully knows our weakness. He does not deal with us as though we were strong. He knows how weak and fallible we are through the fall. It is consoling to know that God considers our "frame"; He knows that we are "dust."

(4) His mercy is everlasting, eternal, vv. 15-17. Man is at best transitory, but God is eternal. The one who rests his hopes in God is eternally safe. This should encourage us to lean not upon man but upon God.

(5) God is gracious to those who are in covenant relationship, v. 18. If we would enjoy these blessings replete in God's attributes we must be God's children. His mercies are restrictive, only bestowed upon his own children.

IV. A Call to All the Universe to Praise the Lord, vv. 19-22. Since God is such a wonderful Being, He should have universal praise. His kingdom is over all; his Lordship should have recognition.

The true conquerors are often those whom the world calls the vanquished.—Max Muller.

The presents which do so much to maintain the spirits of the soldiers in their dreary life at the front usually consist of small Christmas boxes for the individual soldiers, containing small articles of comfort, necessity or amusement.

The value of this stimulant to the morale of the troops is so recognized by the military authorities that shipments of gifts rank with munitions as an early start in organizing this all-important feature of soldiers' life.

DELAYING THEIR CAUSE.

If the militant suffragists who are creating disorder in Washington and breaking into jail had the wit to see the damage they are doing to the cause to which they profess such devotion, they would pack their satchels and go home. We do not believe the high jinks they are cutting up in the capital will have the slightest effect to coerce congress. Indeed, quite the contrary result is likely.

The militants have no public support to speak of. They have not even the approval of the much larger body of suffragists in the country. They have been repeatedly condemned by their more rational and moderate sisters, who appreciate better how the march of the suffrage cause has been halted by the attempt to introduce in America the violence and lawlessness that so conspicuously marked the suffrage propaganda in England prior to the breaking out of the war. The ladies of the picket line have been deaf to all reason as they have been callous to all snares and appear determined to make as much trouble as they can invent.

There does not appear to be any doubt that sooner or later and at no great distance in the future congress will adopt the resolution to submit to the states the Susan B. Anthony amendment for complete political equality of women. That action would have earlier field if the militants could be persuaded to let Washington alone. The conclusion is that the disorderly militants harbor some sort of notion that by keeping at their silly and futile demonstrations in the capital they will stand to claim all the credit of the victory when it comes and be able to boast they compelled the president to heed and coerce congress into action.

It is much to be regretted that the picketers cannot be brought to appreciate the harm they do the cause they preach. Suffrage is no dearer to these disorderly few than it is to millions of American women who have faith in the chivalry and justice of the men who must make the laws by which woman's political equality must come. There might be a promising outlook for action on the Anthony resolution at the coming session of congress if the militants were to pack themselves off home and give congress at least the appearance of acting without constraint of any sort. Universal suffrage is coming. Nothing can head it off. And about the only factor of delay now seems to be the conduct of the violent school of propagandists, who are making the Washington police and police courts work overtime.

FOOD SHORTAGE REAL.

It is stated by Dr. H. E. Barnard, national food administrator for Indiana, that there is a real food shortage in the country and that if less wasteful and extravagant practices in the use of food are not made the rule the day of legal rationing will not be long coming.

It is not to be understood from this that there is any danger of famine or starvation. Americans are not going to perish miserably of hunger. But it does mean that under the necessities the war imposes this country must use its food carefully and be able to feed its allies, without whose ability to keep up the fight we are doomed to defeat in the war. This nation must feed the European nations with whom we fight. And while we may have plenty of food for ourselves alone, we have too little if we meet the call of the allies for food.

It is a hard job to break up the habits of generations of well-fed Americans. Food always has been one of the things of greatest abundance in this country. If a wheat crop happened to run short we kept for ourselves and exported less. Prices might rise, but there was no attempt to conserve that grain and the proposal for wheatless meals and wheatless days would have got a horse laugh from Cape Cod to San Diego. We have been facing a growing shortage of flesh foods for a good many years and prices have been constantly rising. That has impressed nobody, although the warnings have been clear and persistent that America was rushing forward to a meatless future if conservation of food animals did not become the rule. There has been plenty of grumbling at prices and kicking against the packing trust and all that, but no one has appeared to consider that to reduce consumption of meat appreciably would furnish some little guarantee for the future.

In the present year we got a short wheat crop, but a bumper harvest of corn and an unprecedented yield of potatoes. We can eat all the corn and potatoes we want, but wheat must be conserved, for that and meat are the food staples that must be shared with the allies. Sugar has run so short that in some sections sugar famine has been an actuality. Fats are undeniably scarce and will become scarcer, for fats must be kept going to the battle fronts and the industrial centers that men may remain strong either for the fighting or for the not less vital service of labor that makes fighting possible.

When Dr. Barnard speaks of the possibility of rationing, that does not mean rationing as thorough and drastic as Germany has found it necessary to practice. We have plenty of certain foods. But there will have to be rationing if the scarcer foods are not conserved. Probably it would be no bad thing to put the American people under some constraint to cease waste and extravagance in the use of foods, and that altogether apart from any necessity that has to do with our part in the war. It has been so long and so universally the practice to have everything in a great abundance and to use it lavishly with the thought that where it came from was plenty more, there perhaps must be some sort of force used to break the habits to which the modern generations of American people were born and bred. There seems to be a notion that the solemn counsel of Hoover, and others who ought to know, respecting the food shortage is a sort of joke and that the preaching of necessity for conservation is a pleasantries. It is impossible for multitudes of people to get it into their heads that food after awhile may be hard to get.

The coal situation ought to teach the American people that notwithstanding the prodigious abundance of their resources they can be made to suffer want.

NO PEACE THAT ROUTE.

It is wholly in line with expectations that the envoys of nations of the allies will have nothing to do with the Lenin-Trotsky government in Petrograd. It will be equally in line with expectations that they will decline to receive the Bolshevik proposals for an armistice. If the anarchist regime now on top in the Russian capital were the unquestioned representative of authority for all Russia, the allied nations would in no wise entertain the proposals for a cessation of fighting, while lunatics, radicals, visionaries, German propagandists and paid agents of the kaiser put forward a peace program that could mean nothing but a breathing spell for the central powers and an opportunity to get ready for a harder offensive or a stiffer defense. It is settled in the minds of the allied nations, and in none more firmly than in this country, that the peace that comes must be a durable peace in which the world can feel safe. What Russian peace elements and German hirelings in Russia propose is nothing of the sort. It could lead nowhere but to more war and worse war. Mankind will be in the end much better off if this conflict be fought out to a decisive issue. What Russia and the kaiser may be able to cook up in the way of peace, is a poor thing to guess at, if we take Russia to mean the mob that is in control of the capital. It may not be long until the great mass of the people of Russia will be heard from to different effect.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw says the silly salaries in Washington have put the president's life in peril and that they displayed banners that were treasonable. What's the odds? They're "front page stuff" most of the time, ain't they, and what else could matter?

Eat for your health and you will not have to fuss yourself a great deal about the inconveniences and restraints of food conservation. The average American would be a lot better off on about half of what he daily puts into the hopper.

A household temperature of 60 degrees can be maintained with a lot less fuel than 70 degrees and the doctors agree that a temperature of 60 is the better one to get used to when coal is short.

"UNITED WE STAND—

GROCERS' WAR PROGRAM.

(Indianapolis News.)

The comprehensive program proposed by the food administration for cutting retail selling costs, and accepted by representatives of Indiana grocers, eliminates most of the practices that have been criticized as costly and wasteful. The proposals include:

The abolition of soliciting orders during the war.

Cutting deliveries to not more than one a day.

The elimination of the credit system.

The sale of such articles as prunes, cornmeal, oatmeal in bulk.

The general enforcement of these rules should reduce appreciably the cost of selling. The delivery system, in particular, has constituted a costly abuse. So habituated have customers become to the frequent trips of the grocer's wagon that it no longer seems necessary to order more than a few things at a time. The housewife feels free to telephone for a delivery at any time during the day.

To meet this demand, started and encouraged perhaps by the merchants themselves because of competition, large dealers are required to maintain many vehicles and few of the smaller dealers are able to do business without one or two. If only one delivery a day were made the number of these could be reduced.

Any saving made by the dealers through the government's war program should be shared with the consumer. High retail prices, it has been said for years, are due in part to expensive methods of selling. If these are eliminated the public has a right to lower prices. Credit, frequent deliveries, etc., are a convenience, but if the consumer is not to have them he should not be obliged to pay for them.

The ideal system might be to permit those who want expensive service to pay for it and to let others who pay cash and carry home their own parcels reap the benefit of their efforts at economy.

VINDICATES MEATLESS
CULT SAY VEGETARIANS

Manchester, England, Nov. 22.—"The experience of the present war should result in the general adoption of the meatless diet," says the annual "program" adopted by the Vegetarian Society of Great Britain, which has just closed its annual convention here.

In his presidential address, Professor Ernest Bell spoke of the "many hundreds of millions of men and women who are now obtaining a living out of the slaughter of animals and fish, and suggests that one of the social results of a general adoption of vegetarianism would be that 'these people would turn to more humane and edifying work.'" He added, "at a time like this, when food is a most serious problem, it is monstrous to devote 64 pounds of dry grain to the production of one pound of beef."

Bernard Shaw, in a letter to the convention, said that he had been a vegetarian for forty years, and spoke of the meat diet as a relic of cannibalism.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 3.—Alice Karlson, a young school teacher who recently shot and killed her father at their home in the town of Scotts, near here, was acquitted early today by a circuit court jury. The girl declared that she shot her father because he had been cruel to her mother. Miss Karlson also testified that he had wronged her when she was a child. Miss Karlson had been away from home for several days before the shooting took place. She returned home late at night, went to her father's room and shot him. He ran from the room to the kitchen where he fell to the floor. His daughter entered and fired two more shots into his body. When the sheriff's deputies reached the home Miss Karlson was waiting to be taken into custody.

TO PROTECT AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Uncle Sam is Taking Steps to Keep Down Vice in Camps Abroad.

(Special Dispatch from our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The war department is making every effort to extend American troops in France the same protection from alcohol, vice and disease that has been thrown around them in this country.

In America the screen of protection has been thrown far around camps and embarkation points. Wide zones of cleanliness have been created.

To establish similar conditions in France or Britain involved delicate diplomatic negotiations and questions of legal jurisdiction and national sovereignty.

To give American military authorities extensive police powers in strips of foreign territory may require legislation by the British and French parliaments. The utmost care must be taken to avoid ill-feeling on the part of our allies.

The request will, or has been made, and the negotiations fall to the state department.

It is to be emphasized to the allied governments that in requesting such powers, the American government is not reflecting in any way on the measures the allies take in their territory, but simply as a matter of military efficiency it is desirable that in the American zone of operations the American authority be made fairly comprehensive.

Above all things the American army is trying to avoid the pose of "savior" or "reformer" either in France or Britain.

France is abuzz with posters warning the soldier against the perils of vice. France has taken other steps and the same is true of Britain.

It is probable, however, that neither country has resorted to as much outright repression as America.

As to conditions around American camps, the reports made to the surgeon general of the army and made public No. 18, show that the vice menace is practically mastered.

In most of the camps the percentage of cases is so low that it is not believed to equal the rate in civilian life.

This pretty thoroughly disposes of the British "war baby" scare revamped in this country by publicity seekers. The stories of hundreds of young girls about to become mothers around army camps are not only untrue, but are being taken up for the deliberate purpose of getting publicity, according to Bascom Johnson of the U. S. training camp commission, who has bossed the cleaning up of cities and neighborhoods around many army camps.

SOCIETY

The fact that her approaching marriage to Lieut. Ernest Warbiton is not many weeks away is the reason for Miss Anna Koehlinger being the honored guest at a beautiful party on Wednesday evening for which Mrs. M. A. Coleman, of Washington boulevard east, was the hostess. Preparations for a happy time were made in the way of contests, decorations of yellow and white chrysanthemums and crepe paper and a supper. Crocheted baskets tied with yellow maline bows and filled with nuts and hand-painted envelopes that contained photographs of the bride and groom-elect contributed to the attractive appearance of the supper tables and the latter made highly appreciated souvenirs of the party. The guests were Mrs. G. A. Koehlinger and two daughters, Miss Anna and Miss Mildred, Mrs. Oscar Adcock, Mrs. Maude Preissler, Mrs. George Brake, Mrs. J. W. Wells, Mrs. Arthur Siebold, Mrs. William Freuchenecht, Mrs. Arthur Cover, Mrs. Will Bostick, Miss Clara Inman, Miss Tina Foy, Miss Ivy Schild, Miss Josie Lynch, Miss Elsie Jacobs, Miss Nellie Gaugh and Miss Grace Banks. Lieutenant Warbiton is stationed at Camp Taylor. His home is in Crawfordville. Last evening Miss Clara Inman, of 702 Riverside drive, assisted by Miss Christine Fey, gave a progressive five-hundred party with a shower of gifts of various kinds for Miss Koehlinger. Pink and white carnations and lovely table appointments in the same colors were as pretty as could be and the corsage of pink roses that marked Miss Koehlinger's chair was enjoyed equally by the honor guest and the friends gathered to meet her and do her special honor. Other guests were Mrs. George Roemhke, Mrs. Arthur Koehlinger, Mrs. Fred Stickley, Mrs. Preissler, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Siebold, Mrs. Freuchenecht, Misses Ivy Schild, Josie Lynch, Elsie Jacobs and Nellie Gaugh.

THANKSGIVING IS THE MODERN VERSION OF ANCIENT FESTIVAL

BY BIDDY BYE.

Because the president issues a proclamation appointing a day of Thanksgiving each fall, we are apt to regard this holiday as peculiarly an American institution.

Thanksgiving Day is, however, only our modern version of very ancient festival, one observed in almost every corner of the globe. And we feast today on much the same foods our ancestors considered choice—so far as the food profiteers will let us.

The Thanksgiving proclamation appears in several places in the Bible. In Leviticus there is the command, "When ye shall have gathered the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the Lord."

The Greeks honored Ceres, the goddess of agriculture. Her symbols were poppies, ears of corn, a basket of fruit, and a little pig. Except for the poppies, the market basket of the ancient Greek goddess might be delivered to many modern kitchens just before Thanksgiving.

The turkey is America's distinctive contribution to the harvest home festival. Plymouth housekeepers must have roasted a score of the wild birds to satisfy the hungry hunters at that three-day feast in October, 1621. They had also to prepare great slices of white cod, with quantities of shellfish, and venison contributed by the Indians who came as the governor's guests. And they boiled vegetables, and baked loaves of barley flour and cakes of corn meal. For dessert there were nuts and wild honey and perhaps some wild fruit.

Thanksgiving Day is also the vintage festival in many lands. Grape juice, preferably the home made kind, is the modern equivalent for the product of the winepress.

To have a poetical significance, the Thanksgiving menu today should be arranged with reference to ancient bills-of-fare. Today we are saving our turkeys for our Sammies but we can make our feast classical, that is typical of the older time, by using the other foods.

And strangely enough, the cheap wartime foods are almost exactly the same as the foods with which the Pilgrims celebrated their release from the fear of famine.

The Pilgrim mothers, however, were saved on this war. The old did not have a fuel famine to bother them, even if they did have to cook the first Thanksgiving dinner out of doors.

HERE IS A NEW PINAFORE FROM PARIS IT'S PEASANT, BUT THAT'S IN FASHION

This war has served to put the European peasant very much in the spotlight. Nothing can ever make up to them what they lost when the Huns swooped down on them, despoiling their ancestral acres, looting or destroying their homes, but it may give them a wee bit of satisfaction to see the fine ladies of Paris dressed in peasant style. Above is shown a costume recently photographed on the Bois de Boulogne. The lace apron is worn over a plain gown of black satin.

first one is tonight and her topic, "The Art of Story Telling." This will be of special interest to adults as Miss Faulkner will give of her wide experience as a story teller to children and of the influence upon the young mind of many kinds of stories. Tomorrow afternoon Miss Faulkner will address the children, especially, Miss Faulkner has contributed for a long time to the story department of the Chicago Tribune and the Ladies' Home Journal. "Few of the children know me as Georgene Faulkner," says Miss Faulkner. "The Story Lady" was the appellation given me by the children of the streets, and I love it. All the stories I tell in the theatres to the children of the better classes or in the printed page, have first had the approval of those other poorer youngsters. They are my critics. If they say 'Gee, that's nice, Story Lady,' then I add it to the collection. If they say 'Aw, that's no good! Cut it out,' then I cut it out."

There's Need For Every Woman's Work

BY GRACE JOHNSTON.

"The vital message to Americans from Washington Red Cross headquarters is: Emphasize the great need of concentrating work under the woman's bureau, which includes all work for women except nursing."

This is the way Florence M. Marshall, director of the Woman's Bureau of the American Red Cross, opened her talk with me on war work for women. Miss Marshall is slight, sympathetic, serious. She impresses one at once as capable and practical, and she combines breadth of understanding with deep interest in humanity.

The woman's bureau includes making knitted garments and clothing for refugees, and preparing comfort kits and Christmas packets for men in camp, hospital and trench.

"Women making things for soldiers," continued Miss Marshall, "should remember a few essential points.

"First—Knitting. All the knitting that can possibly be turned out is needed. We especially need sweaters, helmets and socks—socks in unending supply.

"The printed Red Cross directions for knitting soldiers' socks are not the only ones which will produce an acceptable article. But they are simple, easy to follow, and the result is good. Any sock, however, made of good, heavy wool can be used.

"Yarn of colors other than gray and khaki is preferable for socks, to save the scarce gray and khaki for sweaters and articles for outside wear.

"We get all sizes and shapes of socks, but that does not matter, for besides the soldiers there are refugees from wet tents to adapt to supply. Tell the women to send the knitting, no matter how far from standard it may seem to them.

Gown of Present and Future Meet

BY BETTY BROWN.

Among the close observers of feminine fashions few will deny the gown shown herewith well deserves description by that much-abused adjective—charming. It begins with a sweet femininity about the bodice. The youthful round neck and the deep collar cape which caps the soft white sleeves impart modesty and daintiness. Over this crepe under-blouse is worn a tunic of black chiffon velvet, the skirt cut into four flying panels, the side panels eight inches longer than the front and back. From beneath fall four similar panels of soft white satin, edged at the hem with broad bandings of the velvet, and from between these peep the most modest and delectable trouserette known to fashion. They are simply full bloomers gathered into a banding of fur at the hem line.

Country Club Gardens a Supreme Suburban Place

One of the finest developments of its kind is that of Country Club gardens, the new suburban tract of the City & Suburban Building Co., located just west of the Country Club on the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana traction line, the Huntington road on the north and Taylor street on the south. This splendid tract is divided into lots averaging about 100 by 200 feet in dimension. The richness of the soil is shown by the statement of F. W. Gray, Fort Wayne city garden supervisor, who says "It would be a very poor gardener who could not show a profit of at least $300 from an acre of this ground planted in vegetables." During the short time Country Club Gardens have been offered to the public, more than seven hundred lots have been sold, thus showing the attractiveness and desirability of the development.

Country Club Gardens offer to the people employed in the city a quick connection with their places of employment, with the advantages of country life—a place in the country small enough to insure a goodly income, and yet a place with building restrictions to guarantee a high class community.

Country Club Gardens are an excellent investment, as the majority of those who have bought here will build in the spring, and it will be a settled community of people of like avocation.

William H. Jackson, 1657 Indiana avenue, a carpenter, has just purchased a lot in the Gardens of Ed Rieke. Mr. Jackson will build here in the near future.

Killed by Poisons

All scientists agree that poisonous products in the blood are eliminated by the kidneys. The kidneys act as a kind of filter for the blood. When the kidneys are changed or degenerated, by disease or old age, then these poisons are retained in the body. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals and with your meals to flush the kidneys. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric. This Anuric drives the uric acid out.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month. Anuric is many times more potent than lithia and dissolves uric acid in hot water does sugar.

FOOD PLEDGE CAMPAIGNSHOWED UP DISLOYALTY

Wayne County Afforded a Few Instances of Interesting Sort.

Indianapolis, Nov. 23.—The Indiana state council of defense authorizes the following:

One useful result of a house-to-house canvass for signers to the Hoover food administration patriotic pledge cards developed at Richmond, where the Wayne county council of defense has on file a list of persons who refused to sign the pledge cards.

This index of disloyalty is not extensive, but it gives the defense council data and information on which to work to induce slackers to become Americans in war service.

On the card giving information as to the disloyal action of one Richmond woman is the memorandum: "Refused. Did not want to have anything to do with Wilson, nor with anyone who upheld him."

This amazingly narrow and uninteresting view loses sight of the vital fact that the war is being fought as much for that blind and foolish woman as for any other human being within the compass of civilization and liberty. It further disregards the fact President Wilson is commander-in-chief of the army and navy and entitled to the support of every loyal citizen. War work is not in support of any person, but is a simple matter of upholding the American flag in a just cause.

Another Richmond woman who declined to sign the loyal service pledge card is the mother of an army officer now doing his bit. This woman apparently has been hoodwinked by German falsehoods as to the food pledge and its purpose.

One school teacher is reported among those missing from the rooster of Americanism. No teacher who is so disloyal as to act the slacker, no teacher who is so uninformed as to be misled by enemy agencies into treasonable folly is fit to be put in charge of the training of American children.

A Richmond newspaper tells of a minister in that city who is reported to have taken the position that the person who declined to join the patriotic food movement in the war emergency was acting entirely within his rights. This preacher is reported to have said that an attempt to enforce the food control law would be "un-American."

This minister needs to be instructed as to the real meaning of the term "un-American" as that expression is understood by Americans bent on saving America from the arch of liberty.

Still another report tells of a Wayne county woman who carried Hoover pledge cards to her neighborhood to be signed, but who immediately returned the cards unsigned, when the federal government fixed a wheat price slightly below the market price of wheat at the moment. In this case pure selfishness ruled predominant over loyalty to country.

Some members of the Friends church in Wayne county signed the Hoover pledge cards but marked out part of the pledge and entirely robbed the pledge of meaning. This small contingent of "mutilated patriotism" is the laughing stock of the state.

An immense majority of citizens readily sign the pledge cards, according to Miss M. E. B. Culbertson, secretary of the Wayne county council of defense. Many refused to sign because they were "neutral" and not because of any real lack of patriotism.

RICHMOND TO HUNT

Federal Deputy Will Lead
Chase for Spreaders of Propaganda.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 23.—A deputy United States marshal will be appointed for Richmond, following an investigation showing that an insidious German propaganda is being waged here by certain citizens whose actions have been under surveillance for some time. A number of them have been reported to the police department and federal authorities for alleged sympathy for Germany. No overt acts are feared, but loyal citizens believe that a deputy marshal will be able to put a stop to the pro-German work.

It was disclosed yesterday that reliable information has been obtained indicating that a secret German organization is working here. Members of the treason ring, it is said, held regular meetings for the purpose of planning support for the German cause.

Food conservation workers have complained bitterly about the opposition of certain citizens in signing food pledge cards. This opposition has been reported to the State Council of Defense. Several service men have been in Richmond tracing the spreading of anti-war literature a few weeks ago.

ENGAGEMENT IS BROKEN.

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—Major Thomas A. HOW TO REMOVE WRINKLES.

A Simple, Safe and Reliable Way.

Those who have become prematurely wrinkled, whether from trouble, worry or ill-health, now find well the practice of removing wrinkles. There is no need, however, of any woman incurring her chances of social or financial success by carrying around these wrinkles. Not only is it necessary to be treated by an expensive beauty specialist, right in your own home and without tiresome masses of steam, but you can remove your wrinkles by bringing them to your cheeks, the rosy bloom of girlish.

Simply get a little ammonia, cocoa cream for face, and a few drops of oil and rub your face with warm water until this oil would an ordinary cold cream, leave on for a few minutes and then wipe off with a soft, dry cloth. This will be lighted to see how it brightens up the skin, clears the complexion and erases the wrinkles in the crow's feet. It seems to come just right when the skin requires to keep it pink and healthy. POULTRY SHOW.

This Year's Display Promises Many New Features.

FUEL SITUATION SERIOUS.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The fuel situation in Noble county is very serious, said F. B. Park, county fuel administrator, who has just completed a survey of conditions, "and unless conservation of fuel is exercised many citizens of our community will be in serious straits before the winter is over. Dealers are co-operating wonderfully in an effort to meet the demands for coal, but there is very little coal obtainable in the state. In fact, nearly all the coal shipped here comes from other states. Noble county coal dealers have practically coalless bins. Where possible, people should burn wood and conserve the coal supply."

CARS ARE ANNULLED.

New Owner of B. G. & C. Expects to Junk Road in Few Weeks.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 23.—Passenger cars on the Bluffton, Geneva and Celina Traction company were ordered annulled yesterday morning by Receiver W. W. Rogers, upon orders from the owner, Thomas Flynn. An irregular freight schedule will be kept up, however, for the present, so that perishable stuff and such freight as is now held by the road may be delivered.

Thomas Flynn arrived in the city yesterday morning and immediately made a trip of inspection over the line, which he bought at receiver's sale, November 7, for $118,000. Mr. Flynn stated that he was not as yet ready to give out any statement as to details of how and when he would start junking the road, but that just as soon as he could make the necessary arrangements work of tearing up the line would commence. When asked what he would do about the petition filed with the public service commission by 125 patrons along the line for the continuation of the road, Mr. Flynn stated that that would make no difference in his present plans, and that any statement about the plans of the petitioners would have to come from the public service commission before it would have any effect upon his present arrangements.

EICHORN A CANDIDATE.

Will Oppose John A. M. Adair for Congressional Nomination.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 23.—Judge W. H. Eichhorn has announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for congress from the Eighth congressional district, following shortly a similar announcement made by John A. M. Adair of Portage.

Judge Eichhorn has had this step under consideration for the past several months, and has consulted his friends over the district regarding the matter. He has met with much encouragement, and this day throws his hat in the ring to leave it there until the votes are counted in the next primary election.

The candidacy of Judge Eichhorn will thus give the democrats of the district two men to vote for, as Mr. Adair announced his candidacy in Anderson yesterday, and will thus put a life into the campaign that the democrats have not known for many years.

SMOKING CIGARETTES.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—Many complaints are being made concerning young schoolboys of this city buying and smoking cigarettes. The practice has been in evidence for several weeks and, according to a citizen, efforts will be made to stop the practice at once. A state law prohibits minors from buying cigarettes and also the merchant from selling to minors. Anyone found buying cigarettes for minors can be prosecuted. Many young boys have learned in the past few weeks that they can purchase cigarettes and they are taking advantage of the privilege. Many of the parents of the boys are learning of their actions, and arrests will probably be made unless the law is enforced.

STATE'S CASE IS PRESENTED

Direct Testimony Against Mrs. De Saulles is Before Jury.

IS BELIEVED TO AID THE DEFENSE

Peculiar Mental Condition of Woman is Brought Out by Evidence.

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 23.—A jail physician's statement that it would be unwise to confine Mrs. Blanca De Saulles in a cell because of her "extreme nervousness and mental condition," together with statements by county authorities that her conduct was unusual after the tragedy, were features of the testimony at this morning's session of her trial here on a charge of murdering her divorced husband, John L. De Saulles, club man and Yale athlete, on the night of August 3.

This testimony was regarded by attorneys for the defense as strong substantiation of their claim that Mrs. De Saulles was mentally irresponsible for the shooting.

The prosecution closed the direct presentation of its case with the introduction of letters exchanged between Mrs. De Saulles and her former husband relative to the custody of their son.

GREAT NUMBER OF TANKS IN BATTLE PERFORMED BULLY

London, Nov. 23.—Nothing has been announced here officially or unofficially concerning the number of machines constituting what the correspondents describe as the "grand fleet" of tanks employed in Tuesday's advance, but the number apparently has been greater than in any one previous action. Casualties, of course, were inevitable in an operation of such a scale, but the special dispatches agree that they are not great. Some even describe the tank losses as slight.

One writer says that "a number" were knocked out by direct hits from German big guns. Another says that some were overturned by shell fire and others were bogged. One or two buried their noses in the soft earth and turned over in trying to climb down steep banks. One fell into a canal, but it is evident that the great majority plunged ahead unhindered.

ADVANCE OF PRICES OF FOOD IN MONTH

Washington, Nov. 23.—General food prices in the country advanced 2 per cent from August to September of this year, according to an announcement today of the bureau of labor statistics. Of the twenty-seven staple articles of diet on which compilations are based, seventeen increased in price, seven decreased and three remained stationary. Pork chops advanced 13 per cent, eggs 14 per cent and bacon meal 6 per cent.

From September, 1916, to September of this year food prices as a whole increased 28 per cent while a comparison of prevailing prices with those of 1914 shows that the cost of foodstuffs to the consumer jumped 43 per cent. Staple commodities included in the three year advance are corn meal, 14 per cent increase, flour, 98 per cent, potatoes 63 per cent, and bread 55 per cent.

FURTHER RESPITE TO SAMUEL V. PERROTT

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Wilson today granted a further respite of ten days to Samuel Perrott, former chief of police at Indianapolis, Ind., who was sentenced to four years' imprisonment for violating the election laws. Perrott is ill in an Indianapolis hospital, and this is the third respite granted him on that account.

It is reported, the dispatch adds, that the revolutionary committee at Moscow has seized the branch state banks there. It is said that 100,000,000 roubles recently were transferred there from Petrograd.

RUSS REDS MOVE SEAT. London, Nov. 23.—The all-Russian congress of peasants' delegates, according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd, is transferring its headquarters from Petrograd to Mozhieh. Because of her husband's failure to provide she has been required to take in washings. Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand live on the Leesburg road. In addition to a divorce she is asking for $5 a week for support money and $1,000 alimony. She is represented by Barrett, Morris & Hoffman.

ANOTHER GENERAL STRIKE IN FINLAND

London, Nov. 3.—Another general strike has been declared in Finland, according to a Reuter dispatch dated at Helsingfors, Wednesday, and sent by way of Uleaborg. It is blocking all civil factions and was called for the objects of compelling the substitution of the diet dissolved in July which had a socialist majority for the existing diet where the socialists are in the minority. Minor fighting is reported in various parts of the country. Former Senator von Wendt, a member of an old Finnish family, the dispatch adds, has telegraphed an urgent appeal to Premier George and President Wilson to allow the passage of American wheat cargoes to Narvik. Otherwise, he says, a catastrophe is unavoidable.

SENTENCE WILLIG FOR BREAKING QUARANTINE

Judge Kerr Gives $20 and Costs to Man Who Entered His Quarantined Home.

Acting in connection with the wishes of the health board, Judge Kerr assessed a fine of $20 and costs upon August Willig, 1010 High street, for violating the health board ordinance by breaking the quarantine placed upon his home. According to the statement of Mrs. Willig, her husband entered the house on several occasions and also food passed to him by inmates. Willig was arrested after neighbors had telephoned the health department that the man was breaking the quarantine. A health officer was dispatched and after much difficulty found Willig in a saloon. He was lodged in the cell room until Friday afternoon when he was taken to the Allen county jail, where he will be placed in solitary confinement.

The health board will be most thankful for any information regarding other people seen breaking quarantine and will investigate all such cases and if possible prosecute.

Protect Your Meters.

Once more the water works department urges all householders to protect their water meters from the cold. This warning although issued as regularly as winter comes around is as often ignored. The water works department will not stand responsible for meter parts damaged by the cold, and all repairs will be made at the cost of individuals. Wrapping the meters with paper and rags will as a rule prove effective protection.

Small Expense Account.

Phillip Doty, socialist candidate for mayor, although defeated, has the consolation of a small expense account. His statement filed Friday shows an expenditure of $2.

Only One Bid.

The board of works received only one bid for the sewer in the alley south of Rudisill boulevard. The bid which was above the estimate was made by Fred Fuelling. The board will ask for new bids.

WILL TURN IT OVER TO THE PRESIDENT

Railroads Will Let Wilson Rule on Wage Demand When It Comes.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Demands for wage increases soon to be presented formally to the railroads by the four brotherhoods of employees will be passed on to President Wilson and succeeding developments will depend on what action he may take or counsel he may give.

Results of the conference which the president had yesterday with the head of the brotherhoods have not yet been taken up by the railroads war board, but it was learned today that the railroad executives feel their recent statement placing their interests unreservedly in the hands of the president determined their willingness to do whatever was necessary for their country's interests and the logical pursuit of this would require the demands to be submitted to the president as soon as made.

It is expected the brotherhoods will present their new demands, approximating those which were refused a year ago, about Dec. 1. The railroads have indicated that their position will be that the increases sought, amounting to $109,000,000 annually, cannot be granted without increased revenues.

BROTHERHOODS SATISFIED.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 23.—W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who attended the conference at the white house yesterday between President Wilson, brotherhood chiefs and members of the federal mediation board said today the meeting was satisfactory to the brotherhood chiefs and that they hoped for satisfactory settlement of the wage questions. The referendum vote now being taken by the trainmen and the conductors' organization on the wage proposition will not be completed until November 25, and brotherhood chiefs do not expect to enter into negotiations with the railroads before December 10.

CUBANS ACCEPT SUGAR PRICES.

Havana, Thursday, Nov. 22.—Cuban sugar producers at a conference with President Menocal tonight have understood to have accepted the offer of the United States food administration of 4.6 hundred pounds freight on board at Cuban ports. No official confirmation could be obtained, but an announcement probably will be made later.

MUCH DAMAGE BY STORM.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The wind and rain storm which swept over Lake Michigan last night caused damage to bathing beaches and resorts along the shore in this city estimated today at $100,000. It also is feared that three men lost their lives when a pile-driver broke away from a tug which was towing it. Hardly a mile of the lake front failed to show signs of damage today, retaining walls and locker rooms of bathing resorts suffering most from the force of the waves.

TOM CHIVINGTON DENIES IT.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 23.—Tobacco prices reached top marks here today when a Louisville firm disposed of 950,000 pounds of burley at thirty cents a pound and 450,000 pounds of Indiana dark, one sucker leaf and lugs at an average of 18 1/4 cents per pound. The sale, totalling 1,400,000 pounds, is said to be the largest single tobacco transaction in the history of Kentucky. The upward trend of burley prices is indicated by the statement that seven cents a pound was considered a fair price in 1916 and that the five year average price to 1914 was in the neighborhood of eight cents.

TOP PRICES PAID TO GROWERS OF TOBACCO

London, Nov. 3.—Another general strike has been declared in Finland, according to a Reuter dispatch dated at Helsingfors, Wednesday, and sent by way of Uleaborg. It is blocking all civil factions and was called for the objects of compelling the substitution of the diet dissolved in July which had a socialist majority for the existing diet where the socialists are in the minority. DISCOUNTS HAIG DRIVE

German Newspaper Asserts It Will Have No Effect on the War.

INITIAL SUCCESS AND THAT IS ALL

Will Not Alter Course of Events in Italy or in Flanders.

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—The British drive on the Cambrai front will have no influence on the situation either in Flanders or in Italy, according to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin. It says:

"The British attempt to break through collapsed entirely in the face of the extraordinary bravery of our troops. It went no farther than the initial success, an eruption into our position which must be without effect on the neighboring positions and which the enemy tried to extend in three years, owing to the powerful thrusts of our reserves.

The enemy will not succeed by this abortive attack in diverting our attention from Flanders, where he is certain to renew his efforts which now have become a necessity, in order to win himself of the U-boat bases which are so dangerous to him. Moreover the attacks near Cambrai and Cramone will not have the slightest influence on the situation in Italy.

AIR ATTACKS SUCCEED.

London, Thursday, Nov. 23.—The official statement on aviation activities, issued tonight, reads:

"Further details received show that attacks made Tuesday on the enemy's infantry and transport by our low-flying pilots, including pilots from the Australian squadron, were most successful. On Wednesday the weather was even more unsuitable for flying than on the previous day, but a number of successful reconnaissances over the enemy's lines were carried out and every endeavor was made to keep in touch with our infantry. No enemy airplanes were encountered. None of our machines is missing."

GERMAN STRENGTH IN WEST.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Strength of the German military assembled on the western front is indicated by statistics compiled by the French authorities made public today. This shows that the German divisions engaged in battle in 1917 were: On the Aisne-Chamagne line, 57; Aisne-Vigny and Muisnes, 78; Verdun, 21; Lens, 7; Flanders, 90; Aisne, "October, 1917," 13.

DUTCH BOATS SUNK.

London, Nov. 23.—In the past few days the Germans have sunk five Dutch fishing boats, three outside the barred zone, according to a special dispatch from Amsterdam. The German destroyer V-69, which shared in the destruction work, was damaged in a fight with British warships last January. It was repaired at Ymuiden, Holland, and allowed to return to Germany.

UNITED STATES NOT SUTLER IS CROWDER'S WORD

Washington, Nov. 23.—America is not relegated to the role of sutler, declared Provost Marshal General Crowder in a statement published today outlining the accomplishments and aims of the selective draft system. While the nation's chief strength probably lies in her world economic supremacy, he asserted, "the blow that shatters the German line will be the blow of America's army and not the insidious stroke of a shrewd trader."

While recognizing fully the claims of those who believe that the country should conserve her man power as much as possible to maintain industrial efficiency at high pitch, Gen. Crowder emphasized that the primary objective is the placing of a powerful military machine in France.

J. L. Bireley Delivers an Interesting Address to Meter Class.

The Meter and Instrument society, one of the educational and social organizations at the General Electric works, listened to a most interesting and instructive discourse on "Meters and Metering," by J. L. Bireley, one of the men prominently connected with the meter department of the big institution, last night. There were over 100 in the audience, all members of the society, and they paid strict attention to the lecturer and will profit by it. Following the lecture were a number of questions proposed and answered with a view of bringing out some points not fully understood by all. The meeting closed with a social session, at which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Thursday evening, December 6. This organization came into being two or three weeks ago as one of the educational features of the General Electric works and so far the results have been all that could be wished for. In the class last night were a number of ladies, employees of the company, who displayed as much interest and enthusiasm as any of the male employees.

PREPARING FOR BIG BUSINESS.

Shippers are responding to the appeal of the railroads to co-operate in the handling of traffic during the winter months. It is said that the war has added millions of tons to the freight movement over the various lines and this movement will increase as the winter advances. The roads are in a congested condition at present and unless there is perfect co-operation between the carriers and the shipper, a most serious condition will prevail. In this connection, the Burlington makes public the following statement:

"A fair example of the value of co-operation is that of the shippers along the Burlington railroad, who, during the first nine months of this year, saved the use of 59,357 freight cars by loading the cars more heavily than in previous years. Cotton, which was formerly moved in units of fifty bales, now moves only in units of sixty-five and seventy-five, the increased trade unit in this one commodity having produced a saving of anywhere from $3,000 to $25,000 cars. Sugar, on which the carload minimum from the south was formerly only 24,000 pounds per car, now moves on a 60,000-pound carload minimum. In the handling of less than car load freight for a recent month, seventy-seven of the leading roads increased their load per car nearly 20 per cent over the same month last year, thereby saving the use of 114,300 cars."

"Consignees can also help by purchasing in the nearest market, by being prepared to store the whole contents of the cars they order, by bunching their orders so as to make full carload lots and by unloading cars promptly."

MISS CLARA PHILLEY RESIGNS.

Saturday completes the term of service of Miss Clara Philley in the office of the warehouse superintendent, R. O. Orff, at the General Electric works. She resigns in order that she may be at home with her mother, Mrs. H. A. Philley, who is in poor health. Miss Philley has for the past two years occupied a responsible clerical position at the works, having charge of the distributing desk for both the shipping and the receiving departments. She will be succeeded in that work by Miss Fern Sessard, who worked in that office before, returning to take up other work several months ago. Miss Philley is the daughter of Chief Clerk H. A. Philley, of Road Foreman of Engines O. E. Maxwell's office, of the Pennsylvania.

CAN ALSO HUSK CORN.

E. G. Becker, stenographer to H. L. Bley, general yardmaster of the Pennsylvania, has returned to his duties at the yard office after being off duty on a two-weeks' furlough, which time he spent helping his father husk corn down in Jackson township. E. G. insists that if he had not been so proficient in the art of husking corn his father would not be done yet.

Instead of a gun for weapon Mr. Ream will use a baseball bat, being somewhat of a sprinter and an effective wielder of a ball bat. The shopmen expect a share of the game."

was greatly interested in athletics while here in the city, having been a member of the Pennsylvania and St. Paul basketball teams, acting as captain of the latter team. Being an all around athlete, he was also placed in charge of all athletics of his battalion. The conditions at the camp, he writes, are excellent. He has gained twenty-five pounds since stationed at the camp.

ON VISIT TO HATTIESBURG. Delegation of Fort Wayne Residents Arrive on Special Train.

Commening Friday the navy recruiting station in the federal building will be open every evening from 6:30 to 9 o'clock to accommodate the rush of applicants. Married or single men between the ages of 21 and 35, who have no trades, but are citizens of the United States, are eligible for enlistment as firemen at good wages, with the consolation of knowing that the government will provide those dependent upon them with adequate insurance.

Men who wait until they are summoned to appear before the local draft boards for examination will not be eligible for enlistment in the navy, consequently it will behoove those who are desirous of serving in the navy to apply for enlistment in this branch of the service before being summoned.

Whether these biders will come from the national army or the regular army or the national guard has not yet been made public. It is understood that at least two and perhaps three of the bidders general to be appointed may come from civil life. This creates the possibility that Adjutant General Harry B. Smith of Indiana, might receive one of these appointments. It also makes an opening for Colonel Thomas B. Coulter, of the 132d infantry, who is the senior colonel of the Indiana brigade and is acting as commander.

The order commanding General Roger D. Williams, of Kentucky, to take command of the Indiana brigade was written but was held up before it was issued. It is reported, General Williams is at Camp Shelby without a command and it was the desire of the war department to place him in charge of the Indiana troops, but the insistence of Governor Goodrich and others that an Indiana man be chosen has caused a delay.

Mr. Schutt, a member of the mounted police, doing patrol work at camp and also in positions of the city. He was granted a ten day furlough, after which he will again join his company laden with many messages of cheer from home folks to other members of the company, whom he reports in excellent spirits and adding ardorously at a satisfactory rate.

TO CAMP LEWIS. Capt. John H. Gilpin, a Fort Wayne physician in the medical corps, who has been stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, has received notice that he has been transferred to Camp Lewis, Washington. Captain Gilpin will report at once for his new duties.

TANKS NOT FREAKS; REAL WAR ENGINES

Work in Byng's Shattering Drive in Flanders Has Proved Worth.

British Army Headquarters in France, Thursday, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The impression which existed in the minds of many soldiers that the British tanks were freaks of little value as instruments of war is being wiped out on account of the achievements of the great army of these mighty engines, which on Tuesday morning broke through the main Hindenburg line and carried the war miles into enemy territory. The work which the tanks did on that first day and have been doing ever since is one of the most striking features of the war. It cannot be said they are responsible for the tremendous victory won by the British force, infantry, artillery and cavalry all have played their part. Nevertheless, the tanks drove the entire wedge without which this triumph probably would have been impossible. In a few hours they tore through lines of barbed wire, the demolition of which by artillery would have required many days. Furthermore, their employment made possible the arrangement of the secret attack, which would have been without question had the artillery been brought into play.

CUT OUT THE WASTE AT BIG ARMY CAMPS

Washington, Nov. 23.—Food conditions at army camps are under investigation today by a war department committee headed by Surgeon General Gorgas with a view particularly to eliminate waste. General Gorgas and his fellow officers were at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., today. Creation of the committee was a result of complaints of food waste which was announced by Secretary Baker and Food Administrator Hoover in a joint statement. After explaining that many complaints date back to the time the camps were under contract and construction and that great quantities of surplus food had been sent to the men by their friends, the statement made public that the committee is already investigating and devising means of preventing waste. It gave assurance that all the soldiers will continue to have a wholesome, appetizing and nourishing diet.

ANOTHER DECLARATION OF WAR MAY BE MADE

Congress Will Be Urged to Break Relations With Bulgaria.

(Special Dispatch from our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Nov. 23.—When congress reconvenes next month for its long session, it is not improbable that Senator King, of Utah, will take steps urging the severance of diplomatic relations with Bulgaria.

This would mean sending home Stephen Panarettoff, the Bulgarian minister.

Mention his name in diplomatic circles here and it is always provocative of a response as to his charm of manner, the many years he was a professor in Robert college, the educational institution in Turkey so long maintained by American money, and the fact that he married an American woman.

Speak about the presence of the Bulgarian legation in this country, despite the fact that Bulgaria is an active ally of our enemy, Germany, and men in the state department will tell you the legation serves, as it were, as a window through which we look into the central powers.

Vice versa, however, the Bulgarian legation is very decidedly a window through which the kaiser and his agents look into the United States.

Just before he left on a journey to Honolulu Senator King made a statement that indicated his hostility to allies of our enemy having legations here. This and other publications since have given Panarettoff the jump.

While the Bulgarian legation speaks softly over here and tries to make Americans think the Bulgars have no hostile feelings toward us there are many who hold that everything that goes on in Sofia proves just the contrary.

It takes a long time for Bulgarian papers with the real Bulgarian news to get here, but they finally arrive, and they always tell the same story.

For instance, the Narodni Prava of Sept. 22 triumphantly reproduced extracts from Hearst's New York American, criticizing Wilson's policy, and gave its readers the impression that this was the real feeling of the country towards the president.

The German Weser Zeitung recently printed a statement by its correspondent in Sofia that if Greece declared war on the Teutons, the Bulgars would throw 800,000 men against the allied army of General Saraiu at Monastir and would place 200,000 in the Dardanelles to keep the Roumanians quiet.

If the Bulgars can actually put anything near 1,000,000 men in the field, they automatically release just that many Germans for service against the western front, where General Pershing's American boys are stationed and where many more soon will be.

"The limit of horror," of which the German war correspondents speak as having been reached by the French artillery in the preliminary bombardment at Verdun, was produced by a giant gun throwing an enormous shell to a height of 30,000 feet (about five and one-quarter miles). M. Eugène Tardieu, in the Echo de Paris, says that at the moment of firing the effect is that of an earthquake. Nothing like the devastating effect of this cannon has been seen during the war.

WOMEN COME TO FT. WAYNE IN PARTIES

Seem to Like to Shop in Groups Instead of Doing It Alone.

Now that Suburban shopping day—Wednesday—has become an established thing in Fort Wayne, bringing thousands of people from outside points each week, the merchants find much interest in meeting the needs of their many new friends and in studying the ways of their patrons. Said one of the merchants this week, while discussing the day and its significance with a group of other dealers:

"I have noticed one peculiarity, and that is that on one Wednesday I may have in my store a large number of people from Warsaw, and then on the following week, I will not discover that any of the out-of-town people are from Warsaw. But on that particular day there will be a bunch from Van Wert or Angola or some other town. I suppose that in arranging to come to Fort Wayne on Wednesday one person will say, 'I'm going to Fort Wayne on Wednesday,' and this will suggest to another to 'go along for company,' until quite a delegation is formed. This seems to be especially the way of the women, who meet at their parties or clubs, and whose tastes are similar. They form a party to come to the city and then cling together pretty well after they get here, seeing the new winter goods and enjoying the day together instead of as individuals."

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

HELP RED CROSS

Sophia B. Wright Circle of King's Daughters Make Scrap Books.

The Red Cross received a donation of $20 from the Kilsouga Campfire Girls Friday. This money will go into the general fund of the chapter and is used for buying material for hospital garments and dressings. The Sophia B. Wright circle of King's Daughters has planned a unique way of increasing the pleasure of the soldier boys at the front. They will make a number of scrapbooks, putting into them interesting and humorous clippings from current papers and magazines and will send them to the soldiers.

At the warehouse a number of women were busy preparing to make another shipment of surgical garments and dressings. The receipts therefrom from the various chapters of northern Indiana have increased so much that a number of new shelves have been erected. The exterior of the warehouse has been freshly painted and the shelves used for storing of hospital garments and surgical dressings have been covered. These steps have been taken in order that everything that goes to the soldiers may be just as sanitary as possible.

Rheinold Faust Placed the Bomb in Auditorium at Grand Opera.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 23.—Rheinold A. Faust, former postal clerk and naturalized German, who confessed to the police last night that he placed a bomb in the Auditorium theater last Friday night during a performance of grand opera, was questioned further today by Chief of Police Herman F. Sylvester and government agents regarding many threatening letters received by wealthy men since the United States entered the war. Faust told the police that he did not intend the bomb should hurt anyone but that he believed it would intimidate the wealthy patrons of the opera and by this means he said he hoped to obtain $10,000 from J. E. Forgan, chairman and Frank O. Weidner, president of the First National bank to whom he had sent letters demanding that sum. It was through these letters to the bank officials that detectives effected Faust's arrest yesterday. At his home the police found a bomb, the exact duplicate of the one which was placed in the Auditorium, as well as a quantity of nitroglycerine, smokeless powder, phosphorous, etc.

"I would like to ask a favor of you. I would like to know if your agents can find my brother, Richard Bailey. His mother has been ill ever since he left home, and is now in a dangerous condition and wants to see her son. The only thing that we know is that he is in Fort Wayne. He is 5 feet 5 inches tall, Thanking you for your efforts, I remain, MAX BAILEY."

HELPED HIMSELF TO NEIGHBOR'S PRESERVES

Robert Holsworth Enters Home and Steals from Pantry.

The gentleman burglar has nothing on Robert Holsworth. Thursday afternoon Holsworth decided that he wanted some peach preserves so he entered the home of Mrs. Amanda Spain, 1511 Richardson avenue, and helped himself to some preserves. He ate the food in the kitchen using Mrs. Spain's dishes and spoons. Mrs. Spain saw Holsworth leave the house and had him arrested. It was brought out in court that the youth had been arrested on previous charges of larceny so a sentence of $10 and costs and thirty days on the county roads was inflicted. Was a Loud Talker.

Police court was treated to a rare comedy Friday morning, when Thomas B. Bowser, colored, tried to explain a case of "larceny." Bowser denied that he was raving when picked up by the officers, but that he was telling them why he shouldn't be arrested. When it was proven that his ravings approached that of a fellow for loudness Bowser stated that he was so afflicted that he couldn't talk low and that a whisper was impossible. Another mystery that caused Bowser a lot of anxiety was as to where his shirt had disappeared to. When he was arrested he wore a shirt, but when tried Friday morning that article of apparel was lacking. No trace of the garment could be found in the cell room by the officers. Has Light Sentence.

Beulah Krull is a lucky person. Although she confessed to selling liquor and running a house of ill fame, she escaped prosecution further than a fine of $50 and costs. The house has been a prosperous one and the fire is but a small part of the earnings. Several drunks

Clarence Daugherty, Howard Thomas and Pat Fennell, drunks, had their cases continued indefinitely. Joseph Moore, James Ridge and James Burns, charged with loitering, also had their cases continued. Horace McClellan, charged with defaulting his board and rooming bill was ordered to appear Saturday with money to make up the deficit.

Depends Upon Dr. Drayer.

The sentence of August Willig, charged with breaking quarantine, will depend largely upon the testimony of Dr. Drayer. Judge Kerr hesitated to try the case until he could hear from Dr. Drayer.

PAT PAGE WON'T SAY.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—H. Orville ("Pat") Page, baseball coach at the University of Chicago, would neither deny nor confirm reports today that he was considering an offer to become manager of the St. Louis Nationals next season. "Nothing definite has been done," Page said. "Anyhow, any announcement must come from the St. Louis club. I am not in any position to discuss the subject."

Sip Apella when the chill of the winter evening has driven you to the cozy fireside. It is a delightful, sparkling drink which promotes good fellowship.

Apella is the pure unfermented juice of selected Autumn apples, clarified and made to sparkle and bubble. Do not confuse it with cider. Rather, compare Apella with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, which it strikingly resembles both in taste and appearance.

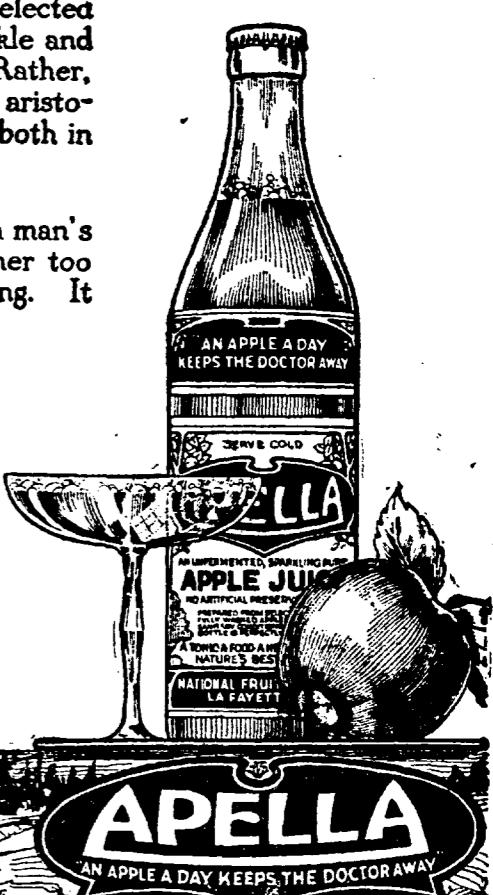

All your friends will like Apella. It is a man's drink and a woman's drink. Apella is neither too sweet nor too tart, but delightfully fascinating. It is distinctly a new drink with stood, the central figure in a group of khaki-clad boys from training camp, who will some day take their places in the trench where her boy fell. Her quivering lips and tear-dimmed eyes were hidden behind a veil. But when she heard the voice of a multitude raised in praise for James; when she read the tribute of America and France; when she caught the spirit, and the meaning, and the bigness of it all, she said:

"Surely it is not for us to mourn!" And that is the last time she wore black.

"My boy didn't like for me to wear sombre clothing," she said. "He didn't like for me to look sad. And every mother's soldier feels the same."

"Women whose hearts are aching cling to mourning. But in this case it isn't fitting. We must be no less brave than our sons, or brothers or husbands. Our chins must be as firm as theirs."

ACTION TO BE TAKEN TO EXTERMINATE PEST

Air Guns in the Hands of Children Are Prohibited by Chief Lenz.

Drastic action in regard to the airgun menace is promised by Chief of Police Charles Lenz. A trophy in the form of a boy's cap with two bullet holes is hanging on the wall of the chief's room as a constant reminder of just what these supposedly harmless guns can do. The cap was on the head of a small boy riding a wheel on West Jefferson street Wednesday morning. As the lad passed the corner of Fairfield and Jefferson he felt a hot streak over his scalp. Investigation proved that a small bullet from an airgun had pierced the cap, cut a small groove across his scalp and left through the other side of the tough material. The shot was purely accidental, and, outside of the consciousness of the airgun, no action will be taken.

Chief Lenz made the following statement: "Anyone found outside of his yard with an airgun in his hands will be promptly arrested and brought to the station. Parents who permit their children to play with this dangerous type of toy will be held responsible, and action will be instigated against them more than against their children. A shot from an airgun is sufficient to blind a person or to inflict a painful flesh wound, in some cases death from blood poisoning have even resulted from a lodgment of the little pellet. I will spare no efforts to exterminate the airgun menace."

See Need of It.

One of the flag officers of the Grand Fleet remained to the Associated Press correspondent today:

"We who have seen baseball occasionally on the other side or even as played by your naval men in the far east, have come to believe that we need it here. Our men are so completely isolated from civilization in this distant base that recreation of some kind is necessary and the islands hereabouts are as desolate of amusement opportunities as on Robinson Crusoe's isle.

Cricket is not belligerent enough for our sailors and football is impossible because the ground is too boggy.

"We have gone so far in the matter of baseball as to appoint a committee to look into the cost of equipment and we have also written to some of the governing officials of the game in America asking advice and suggestions. The equipment, we find, is pretty expensive, but we can get around that.

The main problem is one of teaching the game properly. Nobody here knows enough about it to feel qualified as an instructor, and it is a pretty dry business learning a game out of a textbook."

Doubts It Would Be Popular.

Another naval officer, who had himself played baseball in the United States, doubted whether it was possible to make baseball a popular sport among the British sailors, although he was thoroughly in favor of it if it could be done.

"My opinion, however," he said, "is that it really takes years to train men to play a game so complicated and highly skilled as your American baseball. I don't believe you could make even a mediocre baseball player out of the British sailor in a few months.

Nevertheless, I am all for giving it a trial. If we could really popularize baseball in England it would do a great deal toward cementing the entente cordiale which we all hope will endure forever between the people of the two countries."

DRIVE GERMANS BACK IN EARLY MORNING SMASH

German Reinforce Hastily.

Troops have been pulled away from other points and rushed to the Cambrai sector by the desperate Germans and so hard pressed were they for men that two companies of cripples and convalescents were recruited hastily at one camp and thrown into the line in the region of Maseulles. Some of these prisoners are in British hospitals and are receiving medical treatment. One prisoner was in the last stages of tuberculosis and he had to be moved to prevent the disease from spreading to the others who were in a state of cruel exhaustion and virtually helpless from their valiant attempts to fight under the lash of their unrelenting officers.

The great battlefield has taken on the aspects of scenes in wars gone by. It is no longer a conflict of trenches and shell holes but of men struggling bitterly with rifles and bayonet over a virgin battleground, while the long neglected cavalry sweeps in picturesquely charges against the enemy positions over the wide territory involved.

Roads Swarm With Troops.

Roads everywhere for two days have been swarming with advancing troops and with prisoners and civilians coming back from the front. Many rejoicing non-combatants, men, women and children, have been pouring out of the captured towns under the guidance of their deliverers from German bondage. This has been a battle of strange sights, but no more striking spectacle has been witnessed than that of these people marching toward homes and comfort back of the British front. Through the very gaps which the tanks had torn in the famous Hindenburg line, mothers yesterday and today were pushing baby carriages containing infants or tramping happily along with their babies clutched to their breasts. Besides them toddled other youngsters, many of them carrying their treasured dolls and not a few clinging determinedly to squirming puppies which they dared not trust to run on the ground. Old men and women were bringing away all the household effects they could pack on pushcarts or carry on their backs.

Long in Captivity.

For three years they had been in captivity and some of them in slavery. They had been subsisting on the bounty of the American relief committee which furnished them virtually the only food they obtained.

Hard fighting has been going on today at Crevecoeur, southeast of Maseulles. The British were holding a high ridge in front of this place and some troops had forced an entrance into the western part of the town. The Germans were still holding the eastern section. A German battery here which had been giving trouble was charged and captured by dismounted cavalrymen. The battery was surrounded by heavy barbed wire entanglement, precluding the use of horses, so the soldiers stormed the position on foot and annihilated the gun crews.

In the region of Rumiéy heavy machine gun and rifle fighting was proceeding last night and this morning.

West of Cambrai, tanks, cavalry and infantry were pressing the attack about Fontaine Notre Dame and the strong position in Bourlon wood. Fontaine Notre Dame has not been officially reported captured, but the story goes that tank crews were served with hot coffee by the civilians in this place this morning.

(Field Marshal Haig's official report last night said the Germans had re-taken Fontaine Notre Dame.)

Hold Underground Works.

Further north, near Baillecourt, the British were in possession of the entire underground fortifications known as the tunnel trench, which had been famed for its supposed impregnability. At least five determined counter-attacks have been smashed in this region. Southeast of Baillecourt hard fighting occurred at Moeuves last night and a strong counter-attack was repulsed.

The last line of trench defenses in the region of Cantaing have been broken and the British today were firmly established at many points in the Maisteres-Henrion line south of Cambrai.

It is now possible to give more details of Tuesday's battle. In the advance south of Cambrai the first hard fighting occurred at Lateau wood, which lies on the Cambrai highway south of Maseulles. This wood finally was cleared of Germans and the advance continued toward Maseulles. Some opposition was encountered in a suburb, but by 1 o'clock this had been overcome and the British had crossed the Ecoupe canal at a lock.

Brightly But in Vain.

The small German garrison fought bitterly to retain Maseulles. The whole place was undermined with dugouts in which the enemy was hidden with machine guns, but the Germans were forced to give up this place after a sanguinary struggle. Some of them were forced to retreat and the British had crossed the Ecoupe canal at a lock.

Never Discovered Him.

German officers came to live in his house and daily he heard them tramping about above him. In accordance with the custom, this house and all others were searched every little while to see if anyone was concealed, but the Germans never discovered his hiding place. Each day while the officers were away his wife snuggled his little store of food and water to him.

When the British entered the town the wife, after making sure that they were indeed British, went home and brought out her husband, who had his first glimpse of the outside world since August, 1914. The Germans were to have searched the house again the day the British captured the town. This refugee seemed to be in fair health, notwithstanding his confinement, but his nerves were badly shattered and he wept continually today as his story was being related. He was clinging to a bag containing several hundred francs which he had carried with him to his cave.

IS $9,406

Fort Wayne, making a total of $9,406.64 up to the time the teams reported last night at the enthusiastic get-together meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building. The women workers report that the impression has gained currency that because of the over-subscription of the Y. M. C. A. it is likely that the Y. W. C. A. fund will also be oversubscribed and, therefore, many are not contributing as largely as they otherwise would. It must be remembered that the quota of $21,000 represents the amount which the Fort Wayne district is asked to subscribe. The district includes seven counties, some of whom will be "lost in the shuffle" for the reason that there has been no time to organize the outside counties of the time of the close of the Y. M. C. A. campaign and the beginning of the women's campaign. The campaign arrangements were such that the "drive" was of necessity opened within a day or two after the "Y.-M." campaign, and this has added to the difficulty in educating the people to the great new problem which confronts the youth of America. It will dawn upon many of them when it is too late to do the good which must be done if the situation is to be well in hand within the next year.

The fact that many men now recognize the fact that the greatest success of the Y. M. C. A. will be lost unless the Y. W. C. A. is enabled to carry forward its great work, has spurred many of the supporters of the men's movement to come to the immediate aid of the women in their good work.

The campaign will be pushed with exceptional vigor today and tomorrow. The field was "thrown open" to the workers today, but each will be compelled to give territory so as to avoid as much as possible the duplication of field and effort. The Fort Wayne

SOME STATISTICS OF INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Over 47,000 Enrollments of Students and 7,146 Degrees Since 1830.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 22.—Since the first class was graduated at Indiana university in 1830, a total of 7,146 degrees (exclusive of the 1917 class) have been conferred, according to the proof sheets from the new Register of Graduates of Indiana university, which will be received from the printer in December. Of the degrees conferred, 4,376 persons were made bachelors of arts; 49 bachelors of letters; 8 bachelors of philosophy; 230 bachelors of science; 1,080 bachelors of laws; 18 received law certificates; 451 doctors of medicine; 15 doctors of medicine cum laude; 778 masters of arts; 13 masters of science; 43 doctors of philosophy, and 56 honorary degrees. Of this number of alumni, 5,243 persons were presumed to be living at the time the statistics were compiled for publication.

In all, there have been 47,599 enrollments in the university since 1830, the first figures available, although the institution was founded by an act of the state legislature of Jan. 20, 1820. This does not mean, however, that that number of persons have attended the university, for it is evident that the student who continues in college four years will, ordinarily, have enrolled four times. There is no compilation showing the actual number of students who have attended the university.

In the thirties, the average attendance was 48, which gradually increased to 102 in 1861. During the period of the civil war, the enrollment dropped as low as 68, but in 1896 increased to 184. The three hundred mark was reached in 1889 and the next decade recorded an unusual growth, the enrollment figure reaching 1,050 in 1899. In 1908 the 2,000 was first reached and, although the figures for 1917 are not contained in the Register of Graduates, it was announced at the university, that the enrollment exceeded 3,000 in the spring of 1917. This figure was greatly reduced this year by many of the undergraduates going to war.

Another interesting table contained in the register is the one showing the distribution of graduates by occupation. Fifteen Indiana graduates are serving as university or college presidents; 277 as professors; 125 as college teachers below the rank of professor; 17 as college officers; 208 as school superintendents; 218 as high school principals; 811 school teachers; 9 artists; 125 farmers; 64 are engaged in commercial work; 37 engineers; 39 financial; 58 government positions; 557 housekeepers; 78 newspaper work; 336 lawyers; 22 librarians; 13 literary work; 21 manufacturers; 262 physicians; 68 merchants; 64 ministers; 51 real estate dealers; 61 scientists; 23 social service workers; 5 in transportation work, and 581 in occupations too varied to classify.

A total of 209 other institutions have granted advance degrees to Indiana alumni, while 883 persons have been granted advanced degrees by Indiana, the register shows.

A comparison of the forthcoming Register of Graduates with the one issued in 1911 shows that the number of alumni has been increased 1,808 (exclusive of the class of 1917). The 1911 register shows 658 alumni dead and the new one 865 dead.

Ralph V. Sollett, the alumni secretary of the university, who has charge of the work of compiling the register, calls attention to a list of 108 persons, regarding whom he has been unable to obtain any information. He also announces that the university is desirous of obtaining information regarding persons who attended the university at any time, but did not receive a degree.

In addition to the statistic tables, the register is made up of three principal parts: a list of graduates by classes from 1830 to 1916 inclusive, showing degrees received, occupation and address of the living graduates and the date of death and place of burial of the dead; the second part gives a list of the graduates grouped by localities and the third part groups the graduates alphabetically.

Beauty.
There is an old saying that beauty is only skin deep, but that is far from the truth. Beauty is founded on good health, without that there is no real beauty. You can cover up a mucky or sallow complexion with face powder, but it will not be beautiful. A homely woman in good health is usually more interesting and charming than a bilious dyspeptic beauty. Constipation and a sluggish liver impair good looks. If you are troubled in this way take Chamberlain's Tablets and you will soon be looking better and feeling better.—Advertisement.

MUST PAY TAX.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—The internal revenue office in this city has ruled that a war tax must be charged on admissions to high school or college basketball games, unless all the net proceeds go to the school, for the purpose of buying new equipment, books, etc. The ruling was made in response to a number of requests from school authorities over the state.

VAST WASTE OF COAL

DECLARER FUEL BOSS

State Director Woollen Says
2,000,000 Tons Go for Nothing.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—An authorized statement from the office of Evans Woollen, state fuel administrator, to the effect that in Indiana an annual saving of 2,000,000 tons of coal can be affected by the proper method of firing furnaces and other heating plants, was given out yesterday. By following directions it is declared coal consumers can effect a vast saving.

"In steam heating and hot water plants one source of great waste is neglect of flues, both inside and outside," the statement says. "Flues quickly pick up a coating where alkali water is used. This coating is an insulation and requires vastly more heat to penetrate the flue and heat the water. On the inside of the flue, where the heat strikes direct, soot and dust rapidly accumulate and this requires more heat, which means more fuel consumption."

"Those who will take time to see that the furnace flues are clean will be rewarded by a saving of at least 20 per cent. in coal consumption. It is a well-established fact that by having clean flues four tons of coal will be made to do the work of five."

Attention to Coals.

"Where the bed of coals is not kept evenly distributed over the furnace grates, in the spots where the bed is light or the grate is bare, cold air rushes into the firebox. This reduces the temperature of the heating chamber and flues, permits gases to get out through the chimney without being consumed, and it results in the burning of vastly more coal than would be necessary if the fire were properly distributed."

"Another source of heat loss, which is very common, is the lack of a tight furnace base and boiler base. A crack in the ash chamber or a furnace or a crack in any part of the fire box permits cold air to rush in and results in improper combustion. The heat gases go out the chimney before they are burned. Few persons pay attention to these things, and yet they are costing money every hour the furnace is operated. The man who is using ten tons or more of fuel each winter, in an average-sized house, may be reasonably certain that he is not getting the best out of his coal. He is wasting."

100 Per Cent. Saving.

Word has reached the fuel administrator's office that the price of coal to the consumer in Vincennes has been reduced from the original recommendation of the county administrator. The first price recommended was $5 a ton for Indiana lump. That has been reduced to $4.50 a ton.

W. J. Hoover, a representative of H. A. Garfield, national fuel administrator, who has been sent to Indiana to help county administrators and others solve numerous problems, has undertaken to aid the Marion county administrator in reaching a fair price for coal to Marion county consumers.

Recommendation for retail price on coal in Benton county has been sent to the state office by Charles Snyder, fuel administrator for that county. He has fixed a margin of 73 cents a ton on coal sold at the yards and $1.23 a ton on coal delivered to the consumer. The retail price in Benton county is $5 a ton at the yards and $5.50 a ton delivered.

Boys, if you want a hair cut, come in before noon, if possible; it will save you waiting.

RATIONING SURE IF WASTE IS NOT STOPPED

State Food Administrator
Barnard Says Rule Must Be Kept.

Indianapolis, Nov. 23.—"Unless every housekeeper and every consumer, men and women, will live up to the regulations for food conservation as laid down by the government, we shall all soon be living on rations," was the message brought by H. E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana, to the "fourteen minute women" of the country, of which Mrs. Julia C. Henderson is director, at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday, it being his first conference with these speakers since his return from Washington.

Barnard declared emphatically that no part of the war administration is more essential than that of the food director, and he insisted that just now corn is the answer to the war situation. He explained that corn must be used as a substitute for wheat, and that as chief food of hogs it should be fed to produce pork fat, which is so essential to the army. He explained that the Hoover plan is for sufficient feeding of Americans first, but that Americans must be trained how to eat in a way to conserve wheat, pork products and sugar.

Pledge Cards Success.
So far the signing of the food conservation pledge cards has been a success in Indiana," said the speaker, "and I believe the women who have signed

C. V. Stainsby, assistant to Dr. Barnard, explained in detail the cash-and-carry plan which it is purposed to put into effect not only in groceries, but in all food stuffs and even in all other mercantile shops. According to this plan the retailer will be asked to mark all his goods at a price which would be legitimate when eliminating the expense of delivery and of carrying the account on his books. The customer will then have to pay extra for delivery charges and also will have to pay a certain rate of interest on a charge account.

Pledge for Co-operation. Don Harold, publicity director for the Indiana food administration, made a plea for a close-co-operation with the government plans for conservation without questioning their advisability.

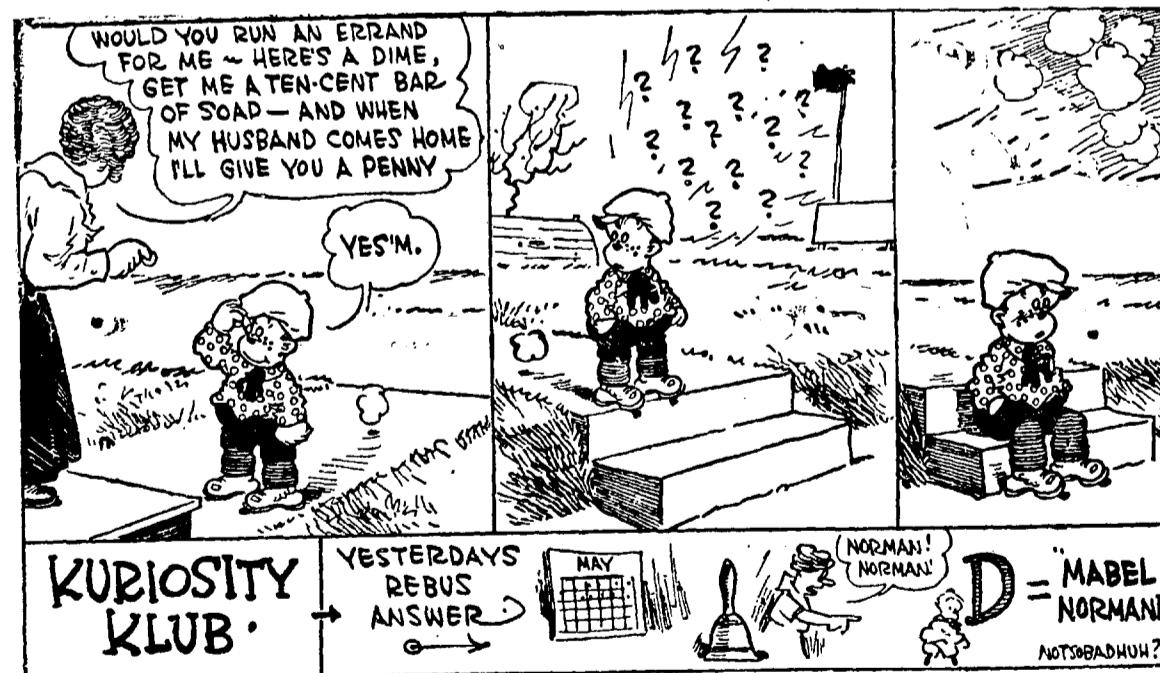

Following the addresses there was an informal round table discussion by the "fourteen-minute women." The organization has arranged for speakers at more than 100 gatherings in the last month. Any meeting of women wishing a speaker can get in touch with one of the "fourteen-minute women" by addressing Mrs. Henderson at her home, 512 East Eleventh street, or by telephoning her, Main 2650 or Circle 781. Fifty Years Old
---She Looks 29

Her Beauty Secret—
Buttermilk and Cream

Before I knew how to keep myself looking young and attractive at an age when most women appear wrinkled and old, I snatched all the attention away from the very ones whose admiration I was most anxious to retain. How a woman is handicapped at that moment you must understand, but honest. Unless she can ward off the tell-tale marks of age so destructive to fascination and charm, her future is bound to be one of disappointments and heartbreaks. Yet, from my own experience, I see no reason why any woman should not regain the clear, velvety smoothness of her skin and look fifteen years younger with merely the same simple recipe which I used with such great success myself. Not only has it dispelled all the marks of age, but my skin has become so firm and beautiful that I no longer worry about the effect of the sun on my complexion. I rub my face with ordinary buttermilk and rub in a teaspoonful of pure roseated cream. When my face was badly wrinkled, I used to wash my hands in cold water with the roseated cream and obtained quick results on even the deepest wrinkles of long standing. Then, everything else had failed. I turned to the application of shiny nose, enlarged pores or oily skin I found the application of a little Pouder Patis most effective. This pouder is an inexpensive French recipe. I know that many a wrinkled, hollow-cheeked, faded-looking woman has banished the sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes and increased her beauty.

Note—Pure roseated cream—Cream to be represented which is mentioned in the above article—is guaranteed by its manufacturers to banish complexion blemishes and make any woman look years younger and more attractive. Within days' time or the price will be refunded. The following local merchants stated that despite the war, they could supply these French cream products: Meyer Brothers, Dreier Drug Co., Wolf & Dassauer. —Advertisement.

THE CRAIG KENNEDY OF LIFE AIDING UNCLE SAM

World's Greatest Crime Detector Employed on Big Government Work.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23.—Uncle Sam has as a consulting expert for his secret service department, the greatest scientific crime detector of the century. He is Theodore Kytko, the original Craig Kennedy in real life.

THEODORE KYTKO.

No world history of crime detection of the past 30 years is complete without many chapters devoted to this work. Scotland Yard, the police prefectures of Paris, Vienna, Petrograd know him as well as does Chief Willkie of our own secret service, and Willkie was city editor of the Chicago Tribune years ago when Kytko was its artist and chief engraver.

Make a list of the great crime mysteries of the United States starting with the Haymarket riots in Chicago in 1886, and in a majority of the cases you find the deft touch of the scientist Kytko in the solution.

His testimony decided both the Baldwin and the Fair will cases on each of which $30,000,000 depended. He was the expert in the $2,000,000 Davies will case. He solved the mystery of the Slingsby baby case involving the substitution of a baby to secure an old English title of nobility. He is the leading authority of the world on Mafia plots, and to him come the U. S. secret service operatives for expert aid in detecting counterfeit money.

The Hedgepeth robbery, Sir Harry Cooper forgeries, Oregon land fraud, all lost their mysteries because of his keen masculine analysis, almost feminine intuition, and scientific methods.

The late emperor of Austria personally thanked him for uncovering the mystery of series of forgeries of the royal signature. The police of France acknowledged his services in solving a series of diamond and check robberies in Paris, and Scotland Yard, itself baffled by the Slingsby mystery, recognized his masterly detection.

Murder mysteries solved by him include the Leon Soeder case, Durante case, Blanton case in Texas, Martin Dwyer case, Docie Nolan, McNamara, Boston cases.

Kytko, who is 45, was born near the Moravian boundary, of noble Slavonic-Roman lineage.

After a course in criminology under the then leader of Europe in this science, the chief of the Viennese secret service, and a course in the natural sciences, Kytko began his army service. On receipt of a legacy from an uncle he secured a year's furlough and came to the United States. The Austrian minister sought to have him taken back but he took out citizenship papers in Chicago and defied extradition. For this he was disowned by his father.

As an artist and engraver on the Chicago Record, Tribune and St. Louis Globe-Democrat he pursued his studies in photography, chemistry and with the microscope, starting his career as a criminal investigator in the Haymarket cases and falling naturally into a position of leading handwriting expert.

He discovered the telephone lens as the result of a bet on his ability to photograph a fly as a distance, developed chemical methods of treating inks, specialized in finger print work, and discovered the fume method of bringing out the finger print.

As a linguist, speaking most of the modern languages he fraternized with anarchists and members of the Mafia and Comorora, until he became thoroughly familiar with their groups and workings.

Today the Mafia has a price of $2,000 on his head.

Working constantly in the face of death, he perfected his pistol shooting until his records are the envy of Pacific coast marksmen.

His friends like him is known as the "man without fear." He attributes his ignorance or fear to his father's sending him by night in boyhood many miles through the wildest mountains to a cemetery whence he was to return with flowers from his grandmother's grave.

OVERLANDS PREPARE FOR BIG GAME HERE

Want to Be in Trim for Clash With Soldiers from Camp Taylor.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The Kendallville Overlands will rest next Sunday, for the first time since the opening of the football season. This is being done as a matter of "safety first" so that all players will be in condition for the Turkey day game at Fort Wayne, next Thursday. At present all players are in fine condition and of the stars might receive injuries if the stars might receive injuries that would keep him out of the game and might prove serious to the team.

The big game for Thanksgiving will be played between the Friars of Fort Wayne and the army team from Camp Taylor, Ky. This game was made possible by the One Hundred Per Cent club of Fort Wayne, who wished to have the Camp Taylor team at Fort Wayne because of the fact that most of the players are Fort Wayne boys. After securing the army team it was a question to pick the best team in the northern part of Indiana as an opponent, and the mighty Overlands were chosen. Hundreds of fans from here are planning to attend the game. Enthusiasm and interest over the game at Fort Wayne is high and the largest crowd of the season is expected at the Allen county gridiron.

The Overlands have played nine games this season and piled up 256 points, while all opponents were held scoreless. It is the aim of the team to finish with a scoreless season.

CHAMPIONS TO DEFEND THEIR TITLES TONIGHT

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Champions in various classes who won their bouts last night in the amateur boxing tournament under way here will defend their titles again in the wind-up tonight. The tournament is a Red Cross benefit and sourced from various parts of the country are among the contestants. Tommy Murphy, of the Missouri Athletic club, lightweight champion, and Jack Tomash of New York, featherweight champion, won on knockouts in their first bouts. Their opponents were local men.

Copyright Underwood & Underwood. If Eddie Plant makes good his threat, he will stage the greatest comeback of baseball history. At 42 it is his intention to re-enter the game. EVEN BIG LEAGUERS "BONE" THEIR BATS Superstitious Believe It Fills Up the Pores of the Wood.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 23.—Superstitions of baseball players have given many a laugh to Charlie O'Leary who, for nine years, was a star infighter with the Detroit club of the American league. But it remained for the practice of baseball eccentricities to "bone a bat"—to rub their clubs with a big greasy bone fresh from a butcher shop—to produce really amusing situations.

O'Leary, a Chicagoan, with seventeen years of service on the diamond behind him, curled himself up in a chair and started.

"Never heard of a guy 'boning a bat?" he began. "Why, say, some of the players, even big leaguers, sit in the club houses for hours and bone a bat until it glistens. Sometimes they'll take their favorite stick to the hotel at night and 'bone' it for a couple of hours. And if any of them should get two or three hits in the game the next day, the devil himself couldn't get the bone away from them. It would be a lucky bone then and they'd rub it all the harder."

"Boning the bat," in the minds of the superstitious ones, fill up the pores of the wood prevents it from splintering and makes the bat ring when it connects with the ball—producing longer drives.

"Getting hits is the sole ambition of every ball player," O'Leary said, "and lot of them sincerely believe that 'boning' their bats will get them more hits. It's the truth that some of the 'bugs' of the game, after a particularly successful day, will take their bats to bed with them and some will even go so far as to stick them up in a seat opposite them while riding on a train."

O'Leary, who managed the San Antonio club of the Texas league last season, told of one lanky member of the team who happened to take a certain street car to the ball park one day. As luck would have it, he drove out four hits in the game that afternoon.

"Do you think I could get that bird to ride out to the park in an automobile with me the next day?" O'Leary asked. "Not on your life. For four days he waited for the same street car."

O'Leary has two offers to manage minor league clubs next season, but does not plan to close a deal until after the first of the year. There is a chance that he might return to the majors to fill some gap caused by the departure of a player into war service. O'Leary cavorts around the infield with much of his old-time speed and still is considerable of a hitter, although he steadfastly maintains that he quit "boning" his bats years ago.

SPORTING NOTES.

A total of fifty-six trotters covered a mile in 2:10 during the last season.

Te Monica, a Cuban, is among Columbia university swimming team candidates.

University of Detroit football eleven plays on Navin field, the home of the Detroit American league nine.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, has won his first four home matches in the interstate three-cushion billiard league this season.

The New York A. C. will promote a series of athletic meets among the soldiers at Camp Upton and Yaphank on Thanksgiving day.

Swimming teams, representing Young Women's Christian associations of Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Lancaster and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., will compete in league contests.

National champion lawn tennis player, Lieut. R. N. Williams II, is somewhere in France. Williams entered New in 1916 among lawn tennis players and it is singular that he is perhaps the first of the ranking first ten players to be sent across the ocean, although all the others have enlisted with the exception of Lin Murray, who is engaged in a factory which is making war munitions. Murray wanted to enlist in spite of this fact, but his many friends persuaded him he could best serve his country by staying at his present assignment.

Couch Gilmore Diddle, of the Annapolis academic football team which ran up a score of 307 points in four recent contests, says: "There are four cardinal principles in football which I follow at all times, running with the ball, blocking, interference and tackling. If a team knows those things it is good enough to take care of itself against any opponent. To build my team around those four points and keep them at it every day of the season. The attack will come after that, but not before. The rudiments are important and I have found it out through long experience. Another thing in the development of men along their natural lines. I never insist that a player do a certain thing in a certain way when he is better fitted to do it another way."

SOME NEW CHAMPIONS—TRACKMEN, MERMEN AND MERMAIDS—WHO SET NEW STANDARDS DURING 1917

(By Paul Purman.)

As a fitting close to the 1917 athletic season the A. A. U. has allowed nine new records in track and field events and 27 in tidal and tank swimming events.

Practically all of the latter were made in the fall swimming carnival at Honolulu where American mermen and mermaids set up new standards in many distances.

The most remarkable of the new marks is that of Clinton Larsen, of Brigham Young university, who set a record of 6 feet 7 1/2 inches in the high jump in an exhibition at Provo, Utah, in June.

Johnny Overton, of Yale, set two new marks for the year in the 1,000 yard and mile runs. The record for the former was 2:14, made indoor in March. The new mile indoor record is 4:16.

Joe Ray set up new standards for the two mile indoor by covering the distance in 9:11 2-5.

Other running records were:

300 yard run, indoor, .31 2-5, A. B. Kelly, Holy Cross college.

15 mile walk, 2:07 13 3-5, Ed Benz, N. Y. A. C.

In swimming events Norman Ross, of San Francisco, set no less than eight records. Perry McGillivray, two, and Duke Kahanamoku, Rudy Langer, Harold Kruger and Michael McDermott, each one.

Oiga Dorfner hung up standards in the 50, 100, 220, 300 and 500 yard swims in 29-foot tanks; Miss Dorothy Burns, of San Francisco, is credited with new marks in the 50, 100 and 220 yard swims in tide-water and Miss Claire Galligan for the 400 and 500 yard swims, the latter being made under different conditions than those which governed Miss Dorfner's record breaking effort.

FARMER BOY EXEMPTS MAY YET BE DRAFTED

Northern Indiana Slackers on Home War Work May See Sons Called.

Indiana, Nov. 23.—Farmers in northern Indiana counties whose sons have been exempted from military service because of the need for their labor on farms, have been charged with holding potatoes for higher prices, with refusing to help in the price board bone campaign, and with declining to aid the Red Cross.

At the official demand of district exemption board No. 2, Fort Wayne, the demand being approved by the state conscription officer, a local investigation is being made of the charges. It is the purpose of the investigators to give all farmers an opportunity to "get right" for their country. Where it is found that persons exempted from military duty are not living up to the war demands of America, the exemption board will reopen their cases and will see to it that the men either serve at home or with the army.

One case is reported in Elkhart county where a farmer who got 110 bushels of potatoes from three bushels of seed potatoes has refused to sell any of his crop.

The exemption board declines to permit producers to continue to "put their own welfare above that of Uncle Sam."

The state council of defense is asking county councils to co-operate in locating and identifying such persons as these to the end that publicity may be given their actions and their neighbors and especially families having young men in the service of the government may know who is loyal to the United States and who is not.

KHAKI TESTAMENT FOR EVERY SOLDIER'S KIT

Federated Churches Support
Campaign to Aid Morals
in Army.

New York, Nov. 23.—A campaign to help build up the army morale by putting a khaki testament in every soldier's kit has been given the united support of the federal churches, and the approval of the administration at Washington, according to an announcement made in this city today at a meeting of the war committee of the American Bible Society. James R. Wood, president of the American Bible Society, announced that the committee had approved plans to raise $400,000 for the immediate distribution of these testaments to all American soldiers and sailors now serving under the colors.

The money needed for the printing and distribution of these testaments will be raised through American Bible week. The date announced for this week is December 1 to 11.

The committee announced that money could be contributed to the campaign through any federated church or local Bible agency or sent to the American Bible Society in New York city.

Mr. Wood said the work had been undertaken by the society in response to repeated demands from the army and navy chaplains, the Young Men's Christian Association, and other religious agencies working for the spiritual welfare of the men at the front. "The appeal which the campaign will make is one which is bound to awaken a response among thoughtful Christian people," said Mr. Wood. "We must recognize that the maintenance of army morale is one of the surest ways of assuring victory, and we look to see the American army, not only the strongest, but the cleanest and noblest army at the front.

"The campaign should make an appeal to all patriotic citizens, and the committee feels that a special responsibility rests with the Christian church."

President Wilson's approval of the campaign was read in the following letter: "I am glad to have the opportunity to endorse the effort of the American Bible Society to procure a fund of $400,000 to cover the expense of supplying the men in the army and navy with Bibles. This is an object which I am sure all Christian people will want to see accomplished. I hope that it may be for the sake of the men who are going to the front. They will need the support of the only book from which they can get it."

In endorsing the campaign, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt says: "I very earnestly hope that the good people of the United States will furnish you the means to do this work. Every soldier and sailor of the United States should have a testament. The American Bible Society is the organization through which the work can be done in best shape."

Private F. M. Cook Shot in New York City Few Hours Before Furlough.

Private Frederick M. Cook, age 22, enlisted in the United States aviation corps, was accidentally shot and killed Thursday, while in New York city, waiting to be sent "over there." The soldier, the son of Mrs. Hattie Burman, 345 East Main street, had just received permission to spend a few days' furlough at his home before leaving for France, and this made the news of his death an added shock. The word reached the mother through a telegram sent by General Shanks, in command of the embarkation depot at Hoboken, N. J., and read as follows:

"Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 22, 3 p. m.
"Regret to advise you that Private F. M. Cook was accidentally shot and killed in New York. Please advise by telegraph what disposition you desire made of the body. We will await your instructions. Notify commanding general, port of embarkation, Hoboken, N. J."

WHY PEOPLE BUY LIBERTY GARDENS

The location of Liberty Gardens, on the Bluffton paved road across from Prairie Grove church, and at the intersection of the lower Huntington road, is such that no better place for a suburban addition could anywhere be found. The topography is fine and one can either select a cleared lot or a wooded one.

The streets, to be graveled, are nice and wide and surely in harmony with the surroundings. The lots facing these streets are all full size, having a frontage of 140 feet or more, enabling one to divide them into two without spoiling the effect.

The paved road, one of the finest leading from the city to Liberty Gardens is always clean and passable, both summer and winter, enabling one to reach the city in a very few minutes. The high pressure gas line along the paved road permits gas to be had for both light and heat. The Bluffton interurban has two stops very close by, thereby permitting quick transportation.

The new graded school just being finished being only a few rods from Liberty Gardens, will enable one to send their children until ready to enter high school.

Another great asset to Liberty Gardens is that a fine grocery will be erected in the spring, thereby making it very convenient to all who buy.

As an investment, Liberty Gardens cannot be excelled. The excellent quality of sand loam soil, underlaid with gravel, will yield abundant crops, as well as the natural growth of the city in this direction, being only a mile south of South Wood park, and the taxes being about one-fifth of that in the city.

These are a few of the reasons why anyone buying a suburban garden should at least see Liberty Gardens before making a decision. Mr. Rastetter, who has charge of selling Liberty Gardens, is proud to present this opportunity to the public. 22-21

Secretary Daniels' authorized this statement.

"The United States destroyer Chauncey, which was sunk at 1 o'clock on the eve of her son's expected arrival to spend Thanksgiving day at home, she collapsed and for several hours was in the care of a physician at the family home. Getz and Cahill were notified of the death and wired General Shanks to send the body on at once, and it is expected to arrive in Fort Wayne late Friday night or Saturday morning. The body will be taken to the undertaking establishment and later removed to the family home at the corner of Lafayette and Main streets. The shock was made worse from the fact that the mother had just returned from Garden City, N. Y., where she had spent an entire week's visit with her son, when he was on duty at that place. Plans had all been formed for a happy Thanksgiving together at home.

Private Cook came to this city with his mother one year ago. They had formerly lived in Huntington. On July 20 he enlisted in the aviation corps of the United States army and was sent as a recruit to Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Later he was sent to Kelly field, San Antonio, Texas, the largest aviation field in the world, as a member of the 82nd aerial squadron. He was then stationed at Garden City, L. I., awaiting orders for France. Expecting to sail at instant notice he had wired his mother to come and see him. Private Cook, while in Huntington, was employed as a brakeman on the Erie railroad, and was a member of the Huntington Lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. While in this city he became known to a number of people and was universally respected.

At this time no arrangements have been made for the funeral services, but it will probably be Sunday afternoon. Officers of Henry W. Lawton camp, United States war veterans, conferred Thursday night, with Sergeant Arthur Turner, of the recruiting station, and a firing squad and a bugler will sound final taps across the grave. The final rites will be paid by the veteran post in a beautiful and impressive military service. Interment in Lindenwood.

Peril in Acts of the

Death Follows an Illness of Several Years the Result of Paralysis.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Albion, Ind., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Amanda E. Worden, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Haney, pioneer residents of Albion, who has been ill for many years, died Wednesday afternoon from a long illness of complications, superinduced by paralysis, aged about 75 years. She was a winsome daughter, her face always radiant with smiles and respected in a degree that will bring heartaches to the community, outside of the family circle. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Palmer; four brothers, Messrs. John, Charles, Allen and Elmer Haney; also two sisters, Mrs. W. S. Kiser, of Angola, and Mrs. Hannah Price, of Albion, to mourn her demise. Funeral at M. E. church and interment in Albion cemetery.

The funeral of the White House pickets and their charge of brutality and insufficient food while confined in jail is arousing sentiment throughout the country which will prove harmful at this critical time, declared Dr. Shaw.

"I am fearful of the harm which may be done at this time because there are people in this country who are opposed to war and are ready to seize any excuse for antagonism against the government. We are a sentimental people, and sentiment will appeal when common sense will not, and so today there is sweeping over this country a great wave of sentimentality because it is said these women are receiving brutal treatment at the hands of the government."

To stop the progress of this wave of "sentimentality," Dr. Shaw said she had two proposals to the Washington police department. First, that a committee of respected and trusted citizens investigate the charges made by the pickets; and second, have those now serving sentences pardoned and allow them to picket under police protection, a police officer escorting each picket. This latter proposal, Dr. Shaw said, would soon stop the picketing."

Mr. Florence Casey is reported critically ill at her home on Court square.

W. H. Snyder, chiropractor, of Kalamazoo, Mich., was in Albion Wednesday evening from a visit with her cousins, Mrs. Daisy Stuart, at Indianapolis, and Mr. Fred Dice, of Marion, Ind., both former residents of Albion.

Rev. J. W. Newcombe, a former M. E. minister at Albion, was greeting friends here Wednesday.

The annual union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Presbyterian church Thursday evening, Nov. 29. Rev. H. N. Thompson, pastor of the Lutheran church, delivering the address, which will be followed by brief sermons from other ministers. It is hoped there will be no vacant seats.

Marriage permit has been granted to Harry Tester Rice and Ruth Luelle Luttsin, Ligonier, and the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. T. H. Harmon, of the U. B. church, in this city, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church parsonage.

SUBMARINE ATTACKS
TRANSPORT OF U. S.

A French Port, Nov. 23.—The latest American transports to reach here had an exciting trip through the submarine zone.

The first night in the zone two transports collided. One was slightly damaged while the other had a small hole in her bow and a few projecting guns damaged.

Temporary repairs were made and the ships proceeded.

The following night a submarine attacked the transports. The wake of a torpedo was seen off the bow of one of the vessels, but no conning tower or periscope was visible.

The transports raced ahead and succeeded in reaching port safely, where the collision damage was repaired.

GOLDEN RULE HERE.

Order Established in Fort Wayne Offers Many Features.

The order of the Golden Rule has been established in Fort Wayne with quarters at 531 Lincoln Life building.

This organization does not permit the sale of intoxicants in the club rooms, although not taking a stand for or against the liquor traffic, they do not believe the club rooms of a fraternal organization to be the place to sell intoxicants. The benefits are good while the dues are not excessive. The social features of the order are especially fine, particularly on ladies' nights. Other features are the sick, accident and funeral benefits, and free medical attention for the members and their families, free legal advice and free employment bureau for members.

ITALIAN LINE STILL HOLDS AGAINST FOE

The Italians Battle Fiercely for the Mountains and Finally Clinch Their Hold on Them.

SITUATION MENDS, BUT VENICE IN PERIL

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Thursday, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heavy fighting continues on the northern line along the low mountains above Monte Grappa. These successive mountains are proving to be the same kind of natural barrier to the enemy's swift advance that the successive rivers interposed before the Piave was reached. Before the enemy loomed snow-capped Grappa, held by the Italians, which would be a really formidable obstruction should the lower ranges be taken.

The name of this mountain inspires a feeling of security among the people, as it is taken from the local dialect, its meaning being "saw." The crest looks like a saw with teeth turned to the sky. It is toward this natural mountain barrier that the present mountain fighting is gradually developing.

Guglielmo Ferrero the distinguished Italian historian, declares that this mountain barrier is Italy's greatest security which throughout history has brought defeat to invading armies.

The fighting today between the Piave and Brenta rivers while heavy brought no material change in the position of the opposing forces.

Trotzky Addresses Note to All Belligerents Asking a Truce.

Stockholm, Nov. 23.—According to the Tidningen, a Russian diplomat left Stockholm yesterday for Petrograd with orders to hand the revolutionary government proposals for peace by the central powers.

(TROTZKY'S PEACE MOVE.)

Petrograd, Thursday, Nov. 22.—The note of Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik foreign minister to the allied embassies conveying the announcement of the proposal for an armistice reached the embassies last night. The text follows:

"I herewith have the honor to inform you, Mr. Ambassador, that the all-Russian congress of soldiers' and workmen's delegates organized on Oct. 26 a new government in the form of a council of national commissioners. The head of this government is Vladimir Ilich Lenin. The direction of the foreign policy has been entrusted to me in the capacity of national commissioner of foreign affairs.

HOLY CITY IS SOON TO FALL

German Newspapers Preparing Public for Capture of Jerusalem.

USELESS TO HOLD ON TO IT, SAYS ONE

Is Admitted That to Give Up the City Would Be "Painful Loss."

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—The German newspapers are preparing the public for the loss of Jerusalem. The Nord Deutsche Algemeine Zeitung says that to cling to places "which would bring us no military advantage would be tantamount to the useless sacrifice of numerous Turkish forces and our own troops and would likewise involve serious losses."

After discussing the difficulty of reinforcing the defenders, it says:

"Any way, the abandonment of Jerusalem, which is within the bounds of possibility, certainly would be an extremely painful loss, in view of the city's great historical past, but no military change would be caused by such a course.

Lieut.-Gen. von Ardenne from the Tagblatt, gives the Turkish retreat from Jaffa to the great range of the guns of the British fleet, and adds:

"Jerusalem is not equipped for defense. Therefore it is not improbable that this advanced position will be abandoned by the Turks." He insists this will in no wise affect the military situation.

GERMANS SHELLING AMERICAN SECTORS WITH MUCH ENERGY

With the American Army in France, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)

"The enemy artillery firing is more active along the American sector. Shells in more than normal number are falling on the rear. No casualties have resulted. In reprisal for the shelling of the town in which the American headquarters is located during which shell fell on an American regimental headquarters, American guns sent an equal number of shells into the corresponding town behind the German lines the next day.

Patrolling operations continue with nightly excursions to the vicinity of the German wire defenses, but the Americans have failed to encounter any Germans and no further casualties have been reported.

The officers who have served their turn in the trenches at the battalions already relieved have held a meeting with the commander of the first contingent and discussed their experiences. All agreed that actual training in the trenches under fire is the ideal method of acquainting officers and soldiers with fighting methods.

GERMANS SHELLING AMERICAN SECTORS WITH MUCH ENERGY

London, Nov. 23.—The vatican is accused in an editorial in the Morning Post of being implicated in the propaganda which the newspaper says was responsible for the recent Italian reverses. Reviewing what it describes as vatican machinations, the Post says that its political activities during the war "can by no sophistry be regarded as consistent with the principles of neutrality."

"From the beginning," says the Post, "the vatican has leaned to Austria's side, and lately has furiously, but actively, espoused the Austrian cause."

The newspaper calls on the British government to look into the matter, and demands that the vatican declare definitely on which side it stands.

ROUND UP OF THE FAKERS

Bogus "British Officers" to Be Object of a Wide Search.

SWINDLERS ARE QUITE NUMEROUS

Genuine British Officers Indignant at Harm Done to Repute.

New York, Nov. 23.—A concerted country wide effort to round up fake "British army officers" who, it is said, have imposed on the American public in many ways, is to be made by British officials now in New York. It was announced today. An investigation has disclosed, it was said, that at least fifty men posing as British officers are now operating throughout the country. A recommendation has been made to Washington, whereby, all subjects of the British government represented as undesirable by British officers will be deported.

The British officers here are indignant over impositions practiced upon Americans by the alleged representatives of the army. One man is said to have registered at one of New York's most exclusive hotels and succeeded in borrowing $70,000 from an elderly woman.

The impostors have been able to get the unlimited credit in other hotels in the United States. One alleged officer is said to have dined with American army officers upon representations that he was a colonel in the British army and actually took part in a review of troops.

CANADIAN OFFICER

ADDRESSSES THE ELKS

Sergeant Flahiff Tells of Experiences While With Army in France.

At a patriotic meeting and dinner given Friday night at the Elks' temple Sergeant John Flahiff, of the Canadian army, gave an interesting talk of his experiences along the western front. A chicken pie supper, following the talk, was attended by over 200 members. Claude G. Bowers gave a short talk on the principles of the order. Another feature of the program was the acts of vaudeville obtained from the current bill at the Palace theater.

In his talk, Sergeant Flahiff told of the different great battles of the war along the western front. He spoke particularly of the fights along the Somme sector which have been the most desperate of the war. Interesting references were made to the various methods of modern warfare. He praised highly the work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross.

Sergeant Flahiff was a member of the famous "Princess Pat" regiment, and won his shoulder straps for bravery in battle. At present he is on leave of absence as the result of a severe case of trench fever, but said as soon as his health would permit he was willing to re-enter the war under the Stars and Stripes.

Another campaign, that of the sale of anti-tuberculosis stamps, was opened Friday. Last season's mark reached was 455,566 stamps, bringing a total of $4,556.66 to aid the cause of white plague victims.

Fort Wayne has today several Hale and hearty citizens, who but a year or so ago were consumptives. These people owe their recovery to the treatment at Camp Recovery. Practically all of the cases at Camp Recovery are under treatment at the county's expense, and to keep up this good work at the camp sufficient funds are necessary. The sale of Red Cross stamps is the prime support of this tuberculosis hospital.

Mrs. J. R. Meriwether has opened the society headquarters in the Noll building and an active campaign from these headquarters will be started within a few days. Dr. Eric Crull, superintendent of the hospital at Camp Recovery says: "Unless the people buy seals in larger quantities than ever before, the society must abandon some of its work, and the disease will again show an increase per-

ITALIANS INVENT A WORKING-CLASS FLATType of Dwelling Will Be Adapted to Rebuilding of England.London, Oct. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—British architects and town-planning experts, who are making plans for a great remodelling of British cities after the war, declare that one of the most successful experiments in new types of industrial and urban housing is that which has been made by the Italian
Good Dwellings Society of Rome. The idea of adopting something similar in England has been proposed."The Italian Society," says a report on the Rome experiment, "has erected a block of working-class flats
containing 800 dwellings, designed for all types and sizes of families. The flats are built on four sides of a square, with a garden in the center,
in which the 'children's house' stands by itself.""You enter the quadrangle by a
for storing baby carriages and bicycles.
To the right is the porter's office, the postoffice and telephones for general use. Inside, nearest the gate, are flower beds and an open space for the pleasure of everyone. Beyond are the children's gardens, then the little low building called the children's house, a charming place, white,
with great windows that stand open to the air, and covered with rambler roses. Here is the nursery school for children under seven. Another big room in the children's house is
the 'after school' where the children over seven take their home lessons on returning from school, under supervision and in conditions that they could not possibly find in their own homes.""The 'after school,' the nursery school, and the cloak room occupy the whole of the front of the children's house. On the other side there is a group of rooms whose use is common to the whole establishment. There is a large common room for the women, furnished with electric sewing machines and electric irons, which can be used on payment of a small sum. Here also are great cutting tables and sowing tables, such as women know to be invaluable in sewing work but which are impossible in small homes.
A common wash house and laundry is in the basement of the building.""This central building also contains a 'surgery,' where a doctor is in attendance at stated times and any
tenants need attention in their own apartments, there is a fee of 20 cents.
Twice a week the doctor examines all the school children.""The buildings are equipped with numerous bathrooms, but hot water is obtainable only at stated times.
"The flats are of various sizes.
Overcrowding is forbidden, and families must move into larger flats as their numbers increase. The largest hats are designed to accommodate the parents and five children. Tenants who rise above a certain standard in the care of their dwellings receive a
annual bonus."Will Asquith Get

FROLIC IN IRELAND

Lads of the American Flotilla Enjoy Tramps Over Emerald Isle.

Base American Flotilla in British Waters. October 28.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Tramps through the beautiful Irish countryside are the favorite autumn pastime of American sailors on after-noon shore leave.

The Americans never saw so many pigs in their lives as they have since they began to wander around Ireland.

Up one of the favorite country roads they have become fast friends with an Irish farmer who has a remarkable squad of trained pigs. Whenever the sailors visit his farmyard the owner delights in running his pigs through a number of evolutions just to make the sailors laugh.

The farmer is very fond of the youthful Americans. To one party which called the other day he presented tiny porker which they took squealing back to their ship and adopted as their mascot.

One trip at sea, however, made piggy seasick that he turned over to the chef and made the centerpiece of a roast pig dinner, the like of which the boys have not had since leaving the shores of the United States.

Bicycling has gained a tremendous vogue with the American bluejackets.

Scores of them, mounted on machines of all possible types and vintages, may be passed daily on the roads leading out from the naval base. The bicyclists are rented from local dealers at about $2.50 to $3 a week. Many of the sailors have pedaled all the way to Blarney Castle, while others have ventured as far as the Lakes of Killarney.

They ride through the streets here at what the natives characterize as "reckless speed."

Several of the bluejackets are former professional or semi-professional cyclists who have competed in long distance contests in many parts of the United States and they like nothing better than a spin of 20 or 25 miles over good roads to be found in this part of Ireland.

The blackberry season is at its height now and the American sailors have joined with the natives in gathering thousands of quarts from the hedgerows along the roads.

The American sailors have caused a boom in the broiled lobster and oyster business of this port. Neither of these foods has ever been popular with the Irish people, although they are available in large quantities and at low prices.

A photographer has just made the rounds of the destroyer and on each of them has taken group pictures of the officers and men. The photographer was sent over by the British admiralty, which knows how the sailor loves to be "snapped." Copies of the photographs are sold to the sailors at cost price.

The photographer, just before coming to the Americans here, had taken photographs from a seaplane of the damage done to Zeebrugge, Ostend and other German submarine bases by British airmen. He has won great popularity among the Americans, who look forward to his further visits with much pleasure.

ber of people who travel, especially in express trains.

The latest edition of the Journal of the Association of German Railroads announces that at a recent meeting of the representatives of all German railroads, held in Berlin, it was unanimously decided not only to reduce the number of trains, but to put such a high cost upon travelling, by means of radical raises in the price of tickets, as to insure that only those will travel who absolutely must do so.

The advance contemplated and which probably will become effective within a very short time are as follows: On all tickets for express trains costing up to five marks, an extra charge of three marks will be levied; tickets hitherto costing from five to ten marks will be taxed eight marks extra; from ten to fifteen marks.

Likewise there is to be a sharp limitation in baggage regulations so that both the size and number of trunks, as well as their weight, will be cut down. For the first time in many years, Sunday trains are to be reduced in number. Hitherto they have always run on weekday schedules, sometimes even have been increased in number because of the German's love of making Sunday excursions.

In order to assure the punctual arrival and departure of trains, which unfortunately suffered greatly last winter because it was impossible to get up enough steam to haul the long heavy express trains on time, the time tables will be revised so that trips will be longer than under the present schedule—though probably no longer than they have been actually taking.

DELAYING THEIR CAUSE.

If the militant suffragists who are creating disorder in Washington and breaking into jail had the wit to see the damage they are doing to the cause to which they profess such devotion, they would pack their satchels and go home. We do not believe the high jinks they are cutting up in the capital will have the slightest effect to coerce congress. Indeed, quite the contrary result is likely.

The militants have no public support to speak of. They have not even the approval of the much larger body of suffragists in the country. They have been repeatedly condemned by their more rational and moderate sisters, who appreciate better how the march of the suffrage cause has been halted by the attempt to introduce in America the violence and lawlessness that so conspicuously marked the suffrage propaganda in England prior to the breaking out of the war. The ladies of the picket line have been deaf to all reason as they have been callous to all snares and appear determined to make as much trouble as they can invent.

There does not appear to be any doubt that sooner or later and at no great distance in the future congress will adopt the resolution to submit to the states the Susan B. Anthony amendment for complete political equality of women. That action would have earlier field if the militants could be persuaded to let Washington alone. The conclusion is that the disorderly militants harbor some sort of notion that by keeping at their silly and futile demonstrations in the capital they will stand to claim all the credit of the victory when it comes and be able to boast they compelled the president to heed and coerce congress into action.

It is much to be regretted that the picketers cannot be brought to appreciate the harm they do the cause they preach. Suffrage is no dearer to these disorderly few than it is to millions of American women who have faith in the chivalry and justice of the men who must make the laws by which woman's political equality must come. There might be a promising outlook for action on the Anthony resolution at the coming session of congress if the militants were to pack themselves off home and give congress at least the appearance of acting without constraint of any sort. Universal suffrage is coming. Nothing can head it off. And about the only factor of delay now seems to be the conduct of the violent school of propagandists, who are making the Washington police and police courts work overtime.

FOOD SHORTAGE REAL.

It is stated by Dr. H. E. Barnard, national food administrator for Indiana, that there is a real food shortage in the country and that if less wasteful and extravagant practices in the use of food are not made the rule the day of legal rationing will not be long coming.

It is not to be understood from this that there is any danger of famine or starvation. Americans are not going to perish miserably of hunger. But it does mean that under the necessities the war imposes this country must use its food carefully and be able to feed its allies, without whose ability to keep up the fight we are doomed to defeat in the war.

This nation must feed the European nations with whom we fight. And while we may have plenty of food for ourselves alone, we have too little if we meet the call of the allies for food.

It is a hard job to break up the habits of generations of well-fed Americans. Food always has been one of the things of greatest abundance in this country. If a wheat crop happened to run short we kept for ourselves and exported less. Prices might rise, but there was no attempt to conserve that grain and the proposal for wheatless meals and wheatless days would have got a horse laugh from Cape Cod to San Diego. We have been facing a growing shortage of flesh foods for a good many years and prices have been constantly rising. That has impressed nobody, although the warnings have been clear and persistent that America was rushing forward to a meatless future if conservation of food animals did not become the rule. There has been plenty of grumbling at prices and kicking against the packing trust and all that, but no one has appeared to consider that to reduce consumption of meat appreciably would furnish some little guarantee for the future.

In the present year we got a short wheat crop, but a bumper harvest of corn and an unprecedented yield of potatoes. We can eat all the corn and potatoes we want, but wheat must be conserved, for that and meat are the food staples that must be shared with the allies. Sugar has run so short that in some sections sugar famine has been an actuality. Fats are undeniably scarce and will become scarcer, for fats must be kept going to the battle fronts and the industrial centers that men may remain strong either for the fighting or for the not less vital service of labor that makes fighting possible.

When Dr. Barnard speaks of the possibility of rationing, that does not mean rationing as thorough and drastic as Germany has found it necessary to practice. We have plenty of certain foods. But there will have to be rationing if the scarcer foods are not conserved. Probably it would be no bad thing to put the American people under some constraint to cease waste and extravagance in the use of foods, and that altogether apart from any necessity that has to do with our part in the war. It has been so long and so universally the practice to have everything in a great abundance and to use it lavishly with the thought that where it came from was plenty; more, there perhaps must be some sort of force used to break the habits to which the modern generations of American people were born and bred. There seems to be a notion that the solemn counsel of Hoover, and others who ought to know, respecting the food shortage is a sort of joke and that the preaching of necessity for conservation is a pleasant. It is impossible for multitudes of people to get it into their heads that food after awhile may be hard to get.

The coal situation ought to teach the American people that notwithstanding the prodigious abundance of their resources they can be made to suffer want.

NO PEACE THAT ROUTE.

It is wholly in line with expectations that the envoys of nations of the allies will have nothing to do with the Lenin-Trotsky government in Petrograd. It will be equally in line with expectations that they will decline to receive the Bolshevik proposals for an armistice. If the anarchist regime now on top in the Russian capital were the unquestioned representative of authority for all Russia, the allied nations would in no wise entertain the proposals for a cessation of fighting, while lunatics, radicals, visionaries, German propagandists and paid agents of the kaiser put forward a peace program that could mean nothing but a breathing spell for the central powers and an opportunity to get ready for a harder offensive or a stiffer defense. It is settled in the minds of the allied nations, and in none more firmly than in this country's that the peace that comes must be a durable peace in which the world can feel safe. What Russian peace elements and German hirelings in Russia propose is nothing of the sort. It could lead nowhere but to more war and worse war. Mankind will be in the end much better off if this conflict be fought out to a decisive issue. What Russia and the kaiser may be able to cook up in the way of peace, is a poor thing to guess at, if we take Russia to mean the mob that is in control of the capital. It may not be long until the great mass of the people of Russia will be heard from to different effect.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw says the silly salaries in Washington have put the president's life in peril and that they displayed banners that were treasonable. What's the odds? They're "front page stuff" most of the time, ain't they, and what else could matter?

Eat for your health and you will not have to fuss yourself a great deal about the inconveniences and restraints of food conservation. The average American would be a lot better off on about half of what he daily puts into the hopper.

A household temperature of 60 degrees can be maintained with a lot less fuel than 70 degrees and the doctors agree that a temperature of 60 is the better one to get used to when coal is short.

GROCERS' WAR PROGRAM.

(Indianapolis News.)

The comprehensive program proposed by the food administration for cutting retail selling costs, and accepted by representatives of Indiana grocers, eliminates most of the practices that have been criticised as costly and wasteful. The proposals include:

The abolition of soliciting orders during the war.

Cutting deliveries to not more than one a day.

The elimination of the credit system.

The sale of such articles as prunes, cornmeal, oatmeal in bulk.

The general enforcement of these rules should reduce appreciably the cost of selling. The delivery system, in particular, has constituted a costly abuse. So habituated have customers become to the frequent trips of the grocer's wagon that it no longer seems necessary to order more than a few things at a time. The housewife feels free to telephone for a delivery at any time during the day. To meet this demand, started and encouraged perhaps by the merchants themselves because of competition, large dealers are required to maintain many vehicles and few of the smaller dealers are able to do business without one or two. If only one delivery a day were made the number of these could be reduced.

Any saving made by the dealers through the government's war program should be shared with the consumer. High retail prices, it has been said for years, are due in part to expensive methods of selling. If these are eliminated the public has a right to lower prices. Credit, frequent deliveries, etc., are a convenience, but if the consumer is not to have them he should not be obliged to pay for them. The ideal system might be to permit those who want expensive service to pay for it and to let others who pay cash and carry home their own packages reap the benefit of their efforts at economy.

In France at the outbreak of the war a complete military organization was formed to take care of expectant mothers and infants with the result that they never before were so well cared for.

This investigation, which has already brought to light evidence indicating that the "war price" of milk is a main factor in the appalling increase in infant deaths reported in many of our large cities since Aug. 1, throws some interesting sidelights on similar conditions abroad and shows how, in spite of the war, the larger belligerents are conserving child life.

Dr. J. S. Neff, of Philadelphia, secretary of the commission, reports that Germany, at the beginning of the war, exerted all her efforts in the care of the army and wounded, but soon realized the importance of checking the rising death rate of infants which from 151 per thousand in 1913 had jumped to 164 per thousand in 1914.

The German government then assumed the burden of maternity benefits (mostly wives of soldiers) paying extra to mothers who would nurse their babies twelve weeks. In 1915,

VINDICATES MEATLESS

CULT SAY VEGETARIANS

Manchester, England, Nov. 22.—"The experience of the present war should result in the general adoption of the meatless diet," says the annual "program" adopted by the Vegetarian Society of Great Britain, which has just closed its annual convention here.

In his presidential address, Professor Ernest Bell spoke of the "many hundreds of millions of men and women who are now obtaining a living out of the slaughter of animals and fish, and suggests that one of the social results of a general adoption of vegetarianism would be that "these people would turn to more humane and edifying work." He added, "at a time like this, when food is a most serious problem, it is monstrous to devote 64 pounds of dry grain to the production of one pound of beef."

Bernard Shaw, in a letter to the convention, said that he had been a vegetarian for forty years, and spoke of the meat diet as a relic of cannibalism.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The war department is making every effort to extend to American troops in France the same protection from alcohol, vice and disease that has been thrown around them in this country.

In America the screen of protection has been thrown far around camps and embarkation points. Wide zones of cleanliness have been created.

To establish similar conditions in France or Britain involves delicate diplomatic negotiations and questions

HERE IS A NEW PINAFORE FROM PARIS IT'S PEASANT, BUT THAT'S IN FASHION

The fact that her approaching marriage to Lieut. Ernest Warbrinton is not many weeks away is the reason for Mrs. Anna Koehlinger being the honored guest at a beautiful party on Wednesday evening for which Mrs. M. A. Coleman, of Washington boulevard east, was the hostess. Preparations for a happy time were made in the way of contests, decorations of yellow and white chrysanthemums and crepe paper and a supper. Crocheted baskets tied with yellow maline bows and filled with nuts and hand-painted envelopes that contained photographs of the bride and groom-elect contributed to the attractive appearance of the supper tables and the latter made highly appreciated souvenirs of the party. The guests were Mrs. G. A. Koehlinger and two daughters, Miss Anna and Miss Mildred, Mrs. Oscar Adcock, Mrs. Maudie Preissler, Mrs. George Brake, Mrs. J. W. Wells, Mrs. Arthur Siebold, Mrs. William Freuchenecht, Mrs. Arthur Cover, Mrs. William Bostick, Miss Clara Inman, Miss Tina Foy, Miss Ivy Schild, Miss Josie Lynch, Miss Elsie Jacobs, Miss Nellie Gaugh and Miss Grace Banks. Lieut. tenant Warbrinton is stationed at Camp Taylor. His home is in Crawfordsville. Last evening Miss Clara Inman, of 702 Riverside drive, assisted by Miss Christine Fey, gave a progressive five-hundred party with a shower of gifts of various kinds for Miss Koehlinger. Pink and white carnations, and lovely table appointments in the same colors were as pretty as could be and the corsage of pink roses that marked Miss Koehlinger's chair was enjoyed equally by the honor guest and the friends gathered to meet her and do her special honor. Other guests were Mrs. George Roenneke, Mrs. Arthur Koehlinger, Mrs. Fred Stickley, Mrs. Preissler, Mrs. Brake, Mrs. Siebold, Mrs. Freuchenecht, Misses Ivy Schild, Josie Lynch, Elsie Jacobs and Nellie Gaugh.

MISS FAULKNER TALKS TONIGHT.

Famous Story Teller to Entertain at Plymouth Church.

Under the auspices of Fort Wayne Troop 8, Boy Scouts of America, Miss Georgene Faulkner, of Chicago, gives two entertainments at Plymouth Congregational church this week. The first one is tonight and her topic, "The Art of Story Telling." This will be of special interest to adults as Miss Faulkner will give of her wide experience as a story teller to children and of the influence upon the young mind of many kinds of stories. Tomorrow afternoon Miss Faulkner will address the story department of the Chicago Tribune and the Ladies' Home Journal.

This war has served to put the European peasant very much in the spotlight. Nothing can ever make up to them what they lost when the Huns swooped down on them, despoiling their ancestral acres, looting or destroying their homes, but it may give them a wee bit of satisfaction to see the fine ladies of Paris dressed in peasant style. Above is shown a costume recently photographed on the Bois de Boulogne. The lace apron is worn over a plain gown of black satin.

"Boy of the children know me as Georgene Faulkner," says Miss Faulkner. "The Story Lady" was the appellation given me by the children of the streets and I love it. All the stories I tell in the theaters to the children of the better classes or in the printed page, have first had the approval of those other poorer youngsters. They are my critics. If they say 'Gee, that's nice, Story Lady,' then I add it to the collection. If they say, 'Aw, that's no good! Cut it out! then I cut it out."

"There is another important matter—clothes for refugees," continued Miss Marshall. "Our shipping facilities are so limited we must confine shipments to clothing and articles of long, hard service. It is unbelievable the amount of flimsy flimsy, high-heeled shoes, thin perishable clothing we receive. No shoes can be accepted unless in excellent condition with good, heavy soles and sensible heels. Men's discarded suits and women's and children's clothing, woolen and in good repair, are acceptable.

"Garments for refugees—underwear, children's and infants' clothes—should comply with Red Cross directions. A model baby layette is being prepared. No underwear made of old for hospital garments and supplies—sheets, pillow cases, wash cloths, towels, comfort pillows and so children, especially. Miss Faulkner has contributed for a long time to the Red Cross directions also must be strictly followed. Official patterns for pajamas, bed shirts, bathrobes, operating garments, convalescent suits, can be had for 10 cents at Red Cross chapters.

"Finally, there is a new undertaking—Christmas packets for the million or more American soldiers.

"There is a fine feeling of helpfulness urging women to serve," said Miss Marshall. "No woman should spend time making what she thinks is wanted. Let her get in touch with Red Cross needs through the nearest chapter, select the tasks she is best fitted to do and then work, work, work!

"Women, work for democracy, while men fight for it!"

BY GRACE JOHNSTON.

"The vital message to Americans from Washington Red Cross headquarters is: Emphasize the great need of concentrating work under the woman's bureau, which includes all work for women except nursing."

This is the way Florence M. Marshall, director of the Woman's Bureau of the American Red Cross, opened her talk with me on war work for women. Miss Marshall is slight, serious. She impresses one at once as capable and practical, and she combines breadth of understanding with deep interest in humanity.

The woman's bureau includes making knitted garments and clothing for refugees, and preparing comfort kits and Christmas packages for men in camp, hospital and trench.

"Women making things for soldiers," continued Miss Marshall, "should remember a few essential points.

"First—Knitting. All the knitting that can possibly be turned out is needed. We especially need sweaters, helmets and socks—socks in unending supply."

The printed Red Cross directions for knitting soldiers' socks are not the only ones which will produce an acceptable article. But they are simple, easy to follow, and the result is good. Any sock, however, made of good, heavy wool can be used.

"Yarn of colors other than gray and khaki is preferable for socks, to save the scarce gray and khaki for sweaters and articles for outside wear."

"We get all sizes and shapes of socks, but that does not matter, for besides the soldiers there are refugees from wee tots to adults to supply. Tell the women to send the knitting, no matter how far from standard it may seem to them."

Among the close observers of feminine fashions few will deny the gown shown herewith well deserves description by that much-abused adjective—charming. It begins with a sweet femininity about the bodice. The youthful round neck and the deep collar cape which caps the soft white sleeves impart modesty and daintiness. Over this crepe under-blouse is worn a tunic of black-chiffon velvet, the skirt cut into four flying panels, the side panels eight inches longer than the front and back. From beneath fall four similar panels of soft white satin, edged at the hem with broad bands of the velvet, and from these peep the most modest and detectable trouserettes known to fashion. They are simply full bloomers gathered into a banding of fur at the hem line.

And strangely enough, the cheap wartime foods are almost exactly the same as the foods with which the Pilgrims celebrated their release from the fear of famine.

The Pilgrim mothers, however, were saved one big worry. They did not have a fuel famine to bother them, even if they did have to cook the wild birds that

Killed by Poisons

All scientists agree that poisonous products in the blood are eliminated by the kidneys. The kidneys act as a kind of filter for these products. When the kidneys are changed or degenerated, by disease or old age, then these poisons are retained in the body. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals and with meals to flush the kidneys. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric. This Anuric drives the uric acid out.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milks and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month. Anuric is many times more potent than lithia and dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

OLD-TIME TONIC FOR WOMEN.

Watson, Ind.—"I wish to say in regard to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that I have taken it for trouble from which women suffer, also during expectancy, and found it to be satisfactory in every way. I believe it to be great medicine."—MRS. MAMIE COON.

Druggists have dispensed this Prescription for nearly fifty years. Liquid or tablets. No alcohol, no narcotic.

SHOWED UP DISLOYALTY

Wayne County Afforded a Few Instances of Interesting Sort.

Indianapolis, Nov. 23.—The Indiana state council of defense authorizes the house canvas for signers to the Hoover food administration patriotic pledge cards developed at Richmond, where the Wayne county council of defense has on file a list of persons who refused to sign the pledge cards.

This index of disloyalty is not extensive, but it gives the defense council data and information on which to work to induce slackers to become Americans in war service.

On the card giving information as to the disloyal action of one Richmond woman is the memorandum: "Refused. Did not want to have anything to do with Wilson, nor with anyone who upheld him."

This amazingly narrow and un-intelligent view loses sight of the vital fact that the war is being fought as much for that blind and foolish woman as for any other human being within the compass of civilization and liberty. It further disregards the fact President Wilson is commander-in-chief of the army and navy and entitled to the support of every loyal citizen. War work is not in support of any person, but is a simple matter of upholding the American flag in a just cause.

Another Richmond woman who declined to sign the loyal service pledge card is the mother of an army officer now doing his bit. This woman apparently has been hoodwinked by pro-German falsehoods as to the food pledge and its purpose.

One school teacher is reported among those missing from the rooster of Americanism. No teacher who is disloyal as to act the slacker; no teacher who is so uninformed as to be misled by enemy agencies into reasonably folly is fit to be put in charge of the training of American children.

A Richmond newspaper tells of a minister in that city who is reported to have taken the position that the person who declined to join the patriotic food movement in the war emergency was acting entirely within his rights. This preacher is reported to have said that an attempt to enforce the food control law would be "un-American."

This minister needs to be instructed as to the real meaning of the term "un-American" as that expression is understood by Americans bent on saving America from the arch foe of liberty.

Still another report tells of a Wayne county woman who carried Hoover pledge cards to her neighborhood to be signed, but who immediately returned the cards, unsigned, when the federal government fixed a wheat price slightly below the market price of wheat at the moment. In this case pure selfishness ruled predominant over loyalty to country.

Some members of the Friends church in Wayne county signed the Hoover pledge cards but marked out part of the pledge and entirely robbed the pledge of meaning. This small contingent of "mutilated patriots" is the laughing stock of the state.

An immense majority of citizens readily signed the pledge cards, according to Miss M. E. P. Culbertson, secretary of the Wayne county council of defense. Many refused to sign because they were "mulish" and not because of any real lack of patriotism.

RICHMOND TO HUNT OUT THE DISLOYALISTS

Federal Deputy Will Lead
Propaganda.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 23.—A deputy United States marshal will be appointed for Richmond, following an investigation showing that an insidious German propaganda is being waged here by certain citizens whose actions have been under surveillance for some time. A number of them have been reported to the police department and federal authorities for alleged sympathy for Germany. No overt acts are feared, but loyal citizens believe that a deputy marshal will be able to put a stop to the pro-German work.

It was disclosed yesterday that reliable information has been obtained indicating that a secret German organization is working here. Members of the treason ring, it is said, hold regular meetings for the purpose of planning support for the German cause.

Food conservation workers have complained bitterly about the opposition of certain citizens in signing food pledge cards. This opposition has been reported to the State Council of Defense. Secret service men have been in Richmond tracing the spreading of anti-war literature a few weeks ago.

CARS ARE ANNULLED.
New Owner of B. G. & C. Expects to June Road in Few Weeks.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 23.—Passenger cars on the Bluffton, Geneva and Celina Traction company were ordered annulled yesterday morning by Receiver W. W. Rogers, upon orders from the owner, Thomas Flynn. An irregular freight schedule will be kept up, however, for the present, so that perishable stuff and such freight as is now held by the road may be delivered.

Thomas Flynn arrived in the city yesterday morning and immediately made a trip of inspection over the line, which he bought at receiver's sale, November 7th, for $118,000. Mr. Flynn stated that he was not as yet ready to give out any statement as to details of how and when he would start junking the road, but that just as soon as he could make the necessary arrangements work of tearing up the line would commence. When asked what he would do about the petition filed with the public service commission by 125 patrons along the line for the continuation of the road, Mr. Flynn stated that that would make no difference in his present plans, and that any statement about the plans of the petitioners would have to come from the public service commission before it would have any effect upon his present arrangements.

EICHORN A CANDIDATE.

Will Oppose John A. M. Adair for Congressional Nomination.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 23.—Judge W. H. Eichorn has announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for congress from the Eighth congressional district, following shortly a similar announcement made by John A. M. Adair of Portland.

Judge Eichorn has had this step under consideration for the past several months, and has consulted his friends over the district regarding the matter. He has met with much encouragement, and this day throws his hat in the ring to leave it there until the votes are counted in the next primary election.

The candidacy of Judge Eichorn will thus give the democrats of the district two men to vote for, as Mr. Adair announced his candidacy in Anderson yesterday, and will thus put a life into the campaign that the democrats have not known for many years.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Kendallville Pioneer Dies Suddenly of Heart Trouble.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—Freeman R. Andrews, sixty-six years old, a pioneer of this community, was found dead in his bed at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Hampshire, near here, yesterday. Death was the result of heart trouble.

Surviving relatives include the daughter, one son, Thomas Andrews, of Ohio; two sisters, ten grandchildren and one great grandchild. Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment in Lake View cemetery.

EATS HEARTY MEAL.

Then Mrs. James Dragoo, DeKalb County Resident, Succumbs.

St. Joe, Ind., Nov. 23.—After eating a hearty dinner Mrs. James Dragoo died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Johnson, here. Death was pronounced as due to paralysis.

SMOKING CIGARETTES.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—Many complaints are being made concerning young schoolboys of this city buying and smoking cigarettes. The practice has been in evidence for several weeks and, according to a citizen, efforts will be made to stop the practice at once. A state law prohibits minors from buying cigarettes and also the merchant from selling to minors. Anyone found buying cigarettes for minors can also be prosecuted. Many young boys have learned in the past few weeks that they can purchase cigarettes and they are taking advantage of the privilege. Many of the parents of the boys are learning of their actions, and arrests will probably be made unless the law is enforced.

STATE'S CASE IS PRESENTED

Direct Testimony Against Mrs. De Saulles is Before Jury.

IS BELIEVED TO AID THE DEFENSE Peculiar Mental Condition of Woman is Brought Out by Evidence.

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 23.—A jail physician's statement that it would be unwise to confine Mrs. Bianca De Saulles in a cell because of her "extreme nervousness and mental condition," together with statements by county authorities that her conduct was unusual after the tragedy, were features of the testimony at this morning's session of her trial here on a charge of murdering her divorced husband, John L. De Saulles, club man and Yale athlete, on the night of August 3.

This testimony was regarded by attorneys for the defense as strong substantiation of their claim that Mrs. De Saulles was mentally irresponsible for the shooting.

The prosecution closed the direct presentation of its case with the introduction of letters exchanged between Mrs. De Saulles and her former husband relative to the custody of their son.

GREAT NUMBER OF TANKS IN BATTLE PERFORMED BULLY

London, Nov. 23.—Nothing has been announced here officially or unofficially concerning the number of machines constituting what the correspondents describe as the "grand fleet" of tanks employed in Tuesday's advance, but the number apparently has been greater than in any one previous action. Casualties, of course, were inevitable in an operation of such a scale, but the special dispatches agree that they are not great. Some even describe the tank losses as slight.

One writer says that "a number" were knocked out by direct hits from German big guns. Another says that some were overturned by shell fire and others were bogged. One or two buried their noses in the soft earth or turned over in trying to climb down steep banks. One fell into a canal, but it is evident that the great majority plunged ahead unhindered.

ADVANCE OF PRICES OF FOOD IN MONTH

Washington, Nov. 23.—General food prices in the country advanced 2 per cent from August to September of this year, according to an announcement today of the bureau of labor statistics. Of the twenty-seven staple articles of diet on which compilations are based, seventeen increased in price, seven decreased and three remained stationary. Pork chops advanced 13 per cent, eggs 14 per cent and corn meal 24 per cent.

From September, 1916, to September this year food prices as a whole increased 29 per cent while a comparison of prevailing prices with those of 1914 shows that the cost of foodstuffs to the consumer jumped 43 per cent. Staple commodities included in the three year advance are corn meal, 148 per cent increase; flour 98 per cent, potatoes 63 per cent, and bread 55 per cent.

FURTHER RESPITE TO SAMUEL V. PERROTT

AN FAITH HELLE PRENT IT.

London, Nov. 23.—Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik foreign minister, according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd, announces that the Russian secret diplomatic correspondence is in his possession and will be published immediately. It is reported, the dispatch adds, that the revolutionary committee at Moscow has seized the branch state banks there. It is said that 100,000,000 roubles recently were transferred there from Petrograd.

RUSS REDS MOVE SEAT.

London, Nov. 23.—The all-Russian congress of peasants' delegates according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd, is transferring its headquarters from Petrograd to Mozhay. The congress is reported to fear Maximilian intervention and the transfer is for the purpose of enabling the soldiers at the front to participate in its meetings.

Charging that her husband attempted to kill her with a shotgun, Laura B. Hildebrand has filed suit in the superior court asking for a divorce from Otto C. Hildebrand. Not satisfied with this sort of cruelty he has also failed to provide for herself and child, she charges, but instead squanders his money for drink.

Because of her husband's failure to provide she has been required to take in washings. Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand live on the Leesburg road. In addition to a divorce she is asking for $5 a week for support money and $1,000 alimony. She is represented by Barrett, Morris & Hoffman.

ANOTHER GENERAL

STRIKE IN FINLAND

London, Nov. 3.—Another general strike has been declared in Finland, according to a Reuter dispatch dated at Helsinki, Wednesday, and sent by way of Uleaborg. It is blocking all civil factions and was called for the object of compelling the substitution of the diet dissolved in July which had a socialist majority for the existing diet where the socialists are in the minority. Minor fighting is reported in various parts of the country. Former Senator von Wendt, a member of an old Finnish family, the dispatch adds, has telegraphed an urgent appeal to Premier George and President Wilson to allow the passage of American wheat cargoes to Narvik. Otherwise, he says, a catastrophe is unavoidable.

SENTENCE WILLIG FOR BREAKING QUARANTINE

Judge Kerr Gives $20 and Costs to Man Who Entered His Quarantined Home.

Acting in connection with the wishes of the health board, Judge Kerr assessed a fine of $20 and costs upon August Willig, 1010 High street, for violating the health board ordinance by breaking the quarantine placed upon his home. According to the statement of Mrs. Willig, her husband entered the house on several occasions and also ate food passed to him by inmates. Willig was arrested after neighbors had telephoned the health department that the man was breaking the quarantine. A health officer was dispatched and after much difficulty found Willig in a saloon. He was lodged in the cell room until Friday afternoon when he was taken to the Allen county jail, where he will be placed in solitary confinement.

The health board will be most thankful for any information regarding other people seen breaking quarantine and will investigate all such cases if possible prosecute. Protect Your Meters.

Once more the water works department urges all householders to protect their water meters from the cold. This warning although issued as regularly as winter comes around is as often ignored. The water works department will not stand responsible for meter parts damaged by the cold, and all repairs will be made at the cost of individuals. Wrapping the meters with paper and rags will as a rule prove effectual protection.

WILL TURN IT OVER TO THE PRESIDENT

Railroads Will Let Wilson Rule on Wage Demand When It Comes.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Demands for wage increases soon to be presented formally to the railroads by the four brotherhoods of employees will be passed on to President Wilson and succeeding developments will depend on what action he may take or counsel he may give.

Results of the conference which the president had yesterday with the head of the brotherhoods have not yet been taken up by the railroads' war board, but it was learned today that the railroad executives feel their recent statement placing their interests unreservedly in the hands of the president determined their willingness to do whatever was necessary for their country's interests and the logical pursuit of this would require the demands to be submitted to the president as soon as made.

It is expected the brotherhoods will present their new demands, approximating those which were refused a year ago, about Dec. 1. The railroads have indicated that their position will be that the increases sought, amounting to $109,000,000 annually, cannot be granted without increased revenues.

BROTHERHOODS SATISFIED.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 23.—W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who attended the conference at the white house yesterday between President Wilson, brotherhood chiefs and members of the federal mediation board said today the meeting was satisfactory to the brotherhoods and that they hoped for a satisfactory settlement of the wage questions. The referendum vote now being taken by the trainmen and the conductors' organization on the wage proposition will not be completed until November 25, and brotherhood chiefs do not expect to enter into negotiations with the railroads before December 10.

UNITED STATES NOT SUTLER IS CROWDER'S WORD

Washington, Nov. 23.—America is not to be relegated to the role of suttler, declared Provost Marshal General Crowder in a statement published today outlining the accomplishments and aims of the selective draft system. While the nation's chief strength probably lies in her world economic supremacy, he asserted, "the blow that shatters the German line will be the blow of America's army and not the insidious stroke of a shrewd trader."

While recognizing fully the claims of those who believe that the country should conserve her man power as much as possible to maintain industrial efficiency at a high pitch, Gen. Crowder emphasized that the primary objective is the placing of a powerful military machine in France.

CUBANS ACCEPT SUGAR PRICES.

Havana, Thursday, Nov. 22.—Cuban sugar producers at a conference with President Menocal tonight are understood to have accepted the offer of the United States food administration of 4.6 hundred pounds freight on board at Cuban ports. No official confirmation could be obtained, but an announcement probably will be made later.

TOP PRICES PAID TO GROWERS OF TOBACCO

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 23.—Tobacco prices reached top marks here today when a Louisville firm disposed of 950,000 pounds of burley at thirty cents a pound and 450,000 pounds of Indiana dark, one sucker leaf and lugs at an average of 15 1/2 cents per pound. The sale, totalling 1,400,000 pounds, is said to be the largest single tobacco transaction in the history of Kentucky. The upward trend of burley prices is indicated by the statement that seventeen cents a pound was considered a fair price in 1916 and that the five year average price to 1914 was in the neighborhood of eight cents.

INITIAL SUCCESS AND THAT IS ALL

Will Not Alter Course of Events in Italy or in Flanders.

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—The British drive on the Cambrai front will have no influence on the situation either in Flanders or in Italy, according to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin. It says:

"The British attempt to break through collapsed entirely in the face of the extraordinary bravery of our troops. It went no farther than the initial success, an eruption into our position which must be without effect on the neighboring positions and which the enemy tried to extend in vain, owing to the powerful thrusts of our reserves."

"The enemy will not succeed by this abortive attack in diverting our attention from Flanders, where he is certain to renew his efforts which now have become a necessity, in order to rid himself of the U-boat bases, which are so dangerous to him. Moreover, the attacks near Cambrai and Craonne will not have the slightest influence on the situation in Italy."

AIR ATTACKS SUCCEED.

London, Thursday, Nov. 23.—The official statement on aviation activities, issued tonight, reads:

"Further details received show that attacks made Tuesday on the enemy's infantry and transport by our low flying pilots, including pilots from the Australian squadron, were most successful. On Wednesday the weather was even more unsuitable for flying than on the previous day, but a number of successful reconnaissances over the enemy's lines were carried out and every endeavor was made to keep in touch with our infantry. No enemy airplanes were encountered. None of our machines is missing."

GERMAN STRENGTH IN WEST.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Strength of the German military assembled on the western front is indicated by statistics compiled by the French authorities made public today. This shows that the German divisions engaged in battle in 1917 were: On the Aisne-Champagne line, 57; Aisne-Vigny and Mezines, 78; Verdun, 21; Lens, 7; Flanders, 90; Aisne, "October, 1917," 13.

DUTCH BOATS SUNK.

London, Nov. 23.—In the past few days the Germans have sunk five Dutch fishing boats, three outside the barred zone, according to a special dispatch from Amsterdam. The German destroyer V-69, which shared in the destruction work, was damaged in a fight with British warships last January. It was repaired at Ymuiden, Holland, and allowed to return to Germany.

Results of the conference which the president had yesterday with the head of the brotherhoods have not yet been taken up by the railroads' war board, but it was learned today that the railroad executives feel their recent statement placing their interests unreservedly in the hands of the president determined their willingness to do whatever was necessary for their country's interests and the logical pursuit of this would require the demands to be submitted to the president as soon as made.

It is expected the brotherhoods will present their new demands, approximating those which were refused a year ago, about Dec. 1. The railroads have indicated that their position will be that the increases sought, amounting to $109,000,000 annually, cannot be granted without increased revenues.

UNITED STATES NOT SUTLER IS CROWDER'S WORD

Washington, Nov. 23.—America is not to be relegated to the role of suttler, declared Provost Marshal General Crowder in a statement published today outlining the accomplishments and aims of the selective draft system. While the nation's chief strength probably lies in her world economic supremacy, he asserted, "the blow that shatters the German line will be the blow of America's army and not the insidious stroke of a shrewd trader."

Mother, I feel just as safe as can be in the army and I am sure that I will be back home with you all in the near future. Mother, instead of you worrying about me you should be real proud to know that you have a son here. INVESTS $200 IN THE

LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Ronald Scott, of Columbia City, now in France, Certainly Doing His Bit.

(Special to The Sentinel—Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 23.—Ronald Scott, with a United States battery in France, writes his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Scott, of Elma, that he has purchased $200 worth of Liberty loans, paying $20 monthly. The private gets $30 a month, his regular service pay $30 being increased 20 per cent for foreign service. The young soldier states in his letter that the country is getting to be more beautiful every day in France, as the cold weather comes on. He says: "The dark green pines that grow thick on the long, smooth slopes around here are dotted everywhere with the bright green and gold of deciduous trees. The hard white French roads spangle the landscape everywhere one turns in the neighborhood of the camp. Another thing that adds to the beauty of the scenery is the general formation of the land itself. From almost any point one can see for miles, and yet there is no semblance of a plain. It is all in long, nearly unbroken slopes, so while the hills are as high as they are at home, each one is three or four miles long. It is Thursday, the 18th, and some more rain—soldiers' weather, they call it. By the way, moving pictures and music are furnished by the French free of charge, nearly every night. We have had a straight week of rains, and fair weather is surely due."

TANKS NOT FREAKS;
REAL WAR ENGINES

Work in Byng's Shattering Drive in Flanders Has Proved Worth.

British Army Headquarters in France, Thursday, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The impression which existed in the minds of many soldiers that the British tanks were freaks of little value as instruments of war is being wiped out on account of the achievements of the great army of these mighty engines, which on Tuesday morning broke through the main Hindenburg line and carried the war miles into enemy territory. The work which the tanks did on that first day and have been doing ever since, is one of the most striking features of the war. It cannot be said they are alone responsible for the tremendous victory won by the British force, infantry, artillery and cavalry all have played their part. Nevertheless, the tanks drove the enterling wedge, without which this triumph probably would have been impossible. In a few hours they tore to shreds, lines of barbed wire, the demolition of which by artillery would have required many days. Furthermore their employment made possible the arrangement of the secret attack, which would have been without question had the artillery been brought into play.

ON VISIT TO HATTIESBURG.
Delegation of Fort Wayne Residents Arrive on Special Train.

Camp Shelby, Miss., Nov. 23.—A special train carrying 150 fathers, mothers, sisters and sweethearts from Fort Wayne, Ind., arrived at Camp Shelby at 9 a.m. yesterday. Many of the soldiers they came to meet were at the train and much hugging and kissing and even crying followed. Most of the visitors came to see members of the 113th battalion, signal corps, and Major Horace F. Hill, commander, did everything in his power to make their stay pleasant, arranging for the men to have time off this evening. The Fort Wayne people will remain three or four days.

AT BIG ARMY CAMPS

Washington, Nov. 23.—Food conditions at army camps are under investigation today by a war department committee headed by Surgeon General Gorgas with a view particularly to eliminate waste. General Gorgas and his fellow officers were at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., today. Creation of the committee was a result of complaints of food waste was announced by Secretary Baker and Food Administrator Hoover in a joint statement. After explaining that many complaints date back to the time the camps were under contract and construction and that great quantities of surplus food had been sent to the men by their friends, the statement made public that the committee is already investigating and devising means of preventing waste. It gave assurance that all the soldiers will continue to have a wholesome, appetizing and nourishing diet.

ANOTHER DECLARATION OF WAR MAY BE MADE

Congress Will Be Urged to Break Relations With Bulgaria.

(Special Dispatch from our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Nov. 23.—When congress reconvenes next month for its long session, it is not improbable that Senator King, of Utah, will take steps urging the severance of diplomatic relations with Bulgaria.

This would mean sending home Stephen Panaretoff, the Bulgarian minister.

Mention his name in diplomatic circles here and it is always provocative of a response as to his charm of manner, the many years he was a professor in Robert college, the educational institution in Turkey so long maintained by American money, and the fact that he married an American woman.

Speak about the presence of the Bulgarian legation in this country, despite the fact that Bulgaria is an active ally of our enemy, Germany, and men in the state department will tell you the legation serves, as it were, as a window through which we look into the central powers.

Vice versa, however, the Bulgarian legation is very decidedly a window through which the kaiser and his agents look into the United States.

Just before he left on a journey to Honolulu Senator King made a statement that indicated his hostility to allies of our enemy having legations here. This and other publications since have given Panaretoff the jitters.

While the Bulgarian legation speaks softly over here and tries to make Americans think the Bulgars have no hostile feelings toward us there are many who hold that everything that goes on in Sofia proves just the contrary.

It takes a long time for Bulgarian papers with the real Bulgarian news to get here, but they finally arrive, and they always tell the same story.

For instance, the Narodni Pravda of Sept. 22 triumphantly reproduced extracts from Hearst's New York American, criticizing Wilson's policy, and gave its readers the impression that this was the real feeling of the country towards the president.

The German Weller Zeitung recently printed a statement by its correspondent in Sofia that if Greece declared war on the Teutons, the Bulgars would throw 800,000 men against the allied army of General Samoil at Monastir and would place 200,000 in the Dardanelles to keep the Roumanians quiet.

If the Bulgars can actually put anything near 1,000,000 men in the field, they automatically release just that many Germans for service against the western front, where General Pershing's American boys are stationed and where many more soon will be.

"The limit of horror," of which the German war correspondents speak as having been reached by the French artillery in the preliminary bombardment at Verdun, was produced by a giant gun throwing an enormous shell to a height of 30,000 feet (about five and three-quarters miles). M. Eugene Tardieu, in the Echo de Paris, says that at the moment of firing the effect is that of an earthquake. Nothing like the devastating effect of this cannot have been seen during the war.

Seem to Like to Shop in Groups Instead of Doing It Alone.

Now that Suburban shopping day—Wednesday—has become an established thing in Fort Wayne, bringing thousands of people from outside points each week, the merchants find much interest in meeting the needs of their many friends and in studying the ways of their patrons. Said one of the merchants this week, while discussing the day and its significance with a group of other dealers:

"I have noticed one peculiarity, and that is that on one Wednesday I may have in my store a large number of people from Warsaw, and then, on the following week, I will not discover that any of the out of town people are from Warsaw. But on that particular day there will be a bunch from Van Wert or Angola or some other town. I suppose that

HELP RED CROSS

Sophia B. Wright Circle of King's Daughters Make Scrap-Books.

The Red Cross received a donation of $20 from the Kinsqua Campfire Girls Friday. This money will go into the general fund of the chapter and is used for buying material for hospital garments and dressings. The Sophia B. Wright circle of King's Daughters has planned a unique way of increasing the pleasure of the soldier boys at the front. They will make a number of scrapbooks, putting into them interesting and humorous clippings from current papers and magazines and will send them to the soldiers.

At the warehouse a number of women were busy preparing to make another shipment of surgical garments and dressings. The receipts there from the various chapters of northern Indiana have increased so much that a number of new shelves have been erected. The exterior of the warehouse has been freshly painted and the shelves used for storing of hospital garments and surgical dressings have been covered. These steps have been taken in order that everything that goes to the soldiers may be just as sanitary as possible.

LABOR CONVENTION HEARS MINE VERDICT

Judgment Against Miners Will Cost $600,000 if It Stands.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 23.—William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers, announced on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor here today, that a telegram had been received stating that the verdict had been given against the mine workers for $200,000 damages in the action brought by the Bache-Denman Coal company for damage to their property near Fort Smith, Ark. The action was brought by the company under the Sherman act and as the amount of damages granted by the court is trebled under the provisions of this law, the total assessment against the mine workers will be $600,000, Mr. Green said. A resolution was adopted on Green's motion that the executive committee of the federation investigate and give such assistance as in their power to continue the fight and to carry an appeal to the United States supreme court, if necessary.

"This is another instance of organized labor being sued under a law that was supposed to be to catch the big fellow," commented Secretary Green.

HELPED HIMSELF TO NEIGHBOR'S PRESERVES

Robert Holsworth Enters Home and Steals from Pantry.

The gentleman burglar has nothing on Robert Holsworth. Thursday afternoon Holsworth decided that he wanted some peach preserves so he entered the home of Mrs. Amanda Spain, 1811 Richardson avenue, and helped himself to some preserves. He ate the food in the kitchen using Mrs. Spain's dishes and spoons. Mrs. Spain saw Holsworth leave the house and had him arrested. It was brought out in court that the youth had been arrested on previous charges of larceny so a sentence of $10 and costs and thirty days on the county roads was inflicted. Was a Loud Talker.

Police court was treated to a rare comedy Friday morning, when Thomas B. Bowser, colored, tried to explain a case of "jimmies." Bowser denied that he was raving when picked up by the officers, but that he was telling them why he shouldn't be arrested. When it was proven that his ravings approached that of a bellow for loudness Bowser stated that he was so afflicted that he couldn't talk low and that a whisper was impossible. Another mystery that caused Bowser a lot of anxiety was as to where his shirt had disappeared to. When he was arrested he wore a shirt, but when tried Friday morning that article of apparel was lacking. No trace of the garment could be found in the cell room by the officers.

Has Light Sentence. Beulah Krull is a lucky person. Although she confessed to selling liquor and running a house of ill fame, she escaped prosecution further than a fine of $60 and costs. The house has been a prosperous one and the fine is but a small part of the earnings.

Several Drunks. Clarence Daugherty, Howard Thomas and Pat Ferrall, drunks, had their cases continued indefinitely. Joseph Moore, James Ridge and James Burns, charged with loitering, also had their cases continued. Horace McClellan, charged with defaulting his board and rooming bill was ordered to appear Saturday with money to make up the deficit.

Depends Upon Dr. Drayer. The sentence of August Willig, charged with breaking quarantine, will depend largely upon the testimony of Dr. Drayer. Judge Kerr hesitated to try the case until he could hear from Dr. Drayer.

Apella is the pure unfermented juice of selected Autumn apples, clarified and made to sparkle and bubble. Do not confuse it with cider. Rather, compare Apella with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, which it strikingly resembles both in taste and appearance.

All your friends will like Apella. It is a man's drink and a woman's drink. Apella is neither too sweet nor too tart, but delightfully fascinating. It is distinctly a new drink with

THINKS MOTHERS OF HEROES SHOULD NOT WEAR MOURNING

Mrs. Alice Dodd of Evansville, whose son, James Bethel Graham, fell at Artois, France, November 3, has set the example of patriotism to her felstood, the central figure in a group of khaki-clad boys from training camp, who will some day take their places in the trench where her boy fell. Her quivering lips and tear-dimmed eyes were hidden behind a veil. But when she heard the voice of a multitude raised in praise for James; when she read the tribute of America and France; when she caught the spirit and the meaning, and the bigness of it all, she said:

"Surely it is not for us to mourn!"

And that is the last time she wore black.

"My boy didn't like for me to wear sombre clothing," she said. "He didn't like for me to look sad. And every mother's soldier feels the same."

"Women whose hearts are aching cling to mourning. But in this case it isn't fitting. We must be no less brave than our sons, or brothers or husbands. Our chin must be as firm as theirs."

"FOR THE SAKE OF THE BOYS WHO FALL IN FRANCE AND THE WOMEN LEFT BEHIND IN AMERICA, I AM TAKING OFF THE CRAPE!"

Air Guns in the Hands of Children Are Prohibited by Chief Lenz.

Drastic action in regard to the airgun menace is promised by Chief of Police Charles Lenz. A trophy in the form of a boy's cap with two bullet holes is hanging on the wall of the chief's room as a constant reminder of just what these supposedly harmless guns can do. The cap was on the head of a small boy riding a wheel on West Jefferson street Wednesday morning. As the lad passed the corner of Fairfield and Jefferson he felt a hot streak over his scalp. Investigation proved that a small bullet from an airgun had pierced the cap, cut a small groove across his scalp and left through the other side of the tough material. The shot was purely accidental, and, outside of the confiscation of the airgun, no action will be taken.

Chief Lenz made the following statement: "Any one found outside of his yard with an airgun in his hands will be promptly arrested and brought to the station. Parents who permit their children to play with this dangerous type of toy will be held responsible, and action will be instigated against them more than against their children. A shot from an airgun is sufficient to blind a person or to inflict a painful flesh wound, in some cases death from blood poisoning have even resulted from a lodgment of the little pellet. I will spare no efforts to exterminate the airgun menace."

assist in the introduction of the American game.

See Need of It.

One of the flag officers of the Grand Fleet remarked to the Associated Press correspondent today:

"We who have seen baseball occasionally on the other side or even as played by your naval men in the far east, have come to believe that we need it here. Our men are so completely isolated from civilization in this distant base that recreation of some kind is necessary and the islands hereabouts are as destitute of amusement opportunities as on Robinson Crusoe's Isle. Cricket is not belligerent enough for our gallermen and football is impossible because the ground is too boggy."

"We have gone so far in the matter of baseball as to appoint a committee to look into the cost of equipment and we have also written to some of the governing officials of the game in America asking advice and suggestions. The equipment, we find, is pretty expensive, but we can get around that. The main problem is one of teaching the game properly. Nobody here knows enough about it to feel qualified as an instructor, and it is a pretty dry business learning a game out of a text-book."

Doubts It Would Be Popular.

Another naval officer, who had himself played baseball in the United States, doubted whether it was possible to make baseball a popular sport among the British sailors, although he was thoroughly in favor of it if it could be done.

"My opinion, however," he said, "is that it really takes years to train men to play a game so complicated and highly skilled as your American baseball."

I don't believe you could make even a mediocre baseball player out of the British sailor in a few months. Nevertheless, I am all for giving it a trial. If we could really popularize baseball in England it would do a great deal toward cementing the entente cordiale which we all hope will endure forever between the people of the two countries."

DRIVE GERMANS

BACK IN EARLY MORNING SMASH

Germans Reinforced Hastily.

Troops have been pulled away from other points and rushed to the Cambrai sector by the desperate Germans and so hard pressed were they for men that two companies of cripes and convalescents were recruited hastily at one camp and thrown into the line in the region of Masmieres. Some of these prisoners are in British hospitals and are receiving medical treatment. One prisoner was in the last stages of tuberculosis and he had to be moved to prevent the disease from spreading to the others who were in a state of cruel exhaustion and virtually helpless from their valiant attempts to fight under the lash of their unrelenting officers.

The great battlefield has taken on the aspects of scenes in wars gone by. It is no longer a combat of trenches and shell holes but of men struggling bitterly with rifles and bayonet over a virgin battleground, while the long neglected cavalry sweeps in picturesque charges against the enemy positions over the wide territory involved. Roads Swarm With Troops.

Roads everywhere for two days have been swarming with advancing troops and with prisoners and civilians coming back from the front. Many rejoicing non-combatants, men, women and children, have been pouring out of the captured towns under the guidance of their deliverers from German bondage. This has been a battle of strange sights, but no more striking spectacle has been witnessed than that of these people marching toward homes and comfort back of the British front. Through the very gaps which the tanks had torn in the famous Hindenburg line, mothers yesterday and today were pushing baby carriages containing infants or tramping happily along with their babies clutched to their breasts. Besides them toddled other youngsters, many of them carrying their treasured dolls and not a few clinging determinedly to squirming puppies which they dared not trust to run on the ground. Old men and women were bringing away all the household effects they could pack on pushcarts or carry on their backs.

Long in Captivity. For three years they had been in captivity and some of them in slavery. They had been subsisting on the bounty of the American relief committee which furnished them virtually the only food they obtained.

Hard fighting has been going on today at Crecocour, southeast of Masmieres. The British were holding a high ridge in front of this place and some troops had forced an entrance into the western part of the town. The Germans were still holding the eastern section. A German battery here which had been giving trouble was charged and captured by dismounted cavalrymen. The battery was surrounded by heavy barbed wire entanglement, precluding the use of horses, so the soldiers stormed the position on foot and annihilated the gun crews.

"In the region of Rumilly heavy machine gun and rifle fighting was proceeding last night and this morning."

West of Cambrai, tanks, cavalry and infantry were pressing the attack about Fontaine Notre Dame and the strong position in Bourlon wood. Fontaine Notre Dame has not been officially reported captured, but the story goes that tank crews were served with hot coffee by the civilians in this place this morning.

(Field Marshal Haig's official report last night said the Germans had retaken Fontaine Notre Dame.)

Hold Underground Works. Further north, near Baillecourt, the British were in possession of the entire underground fortifications known as the tunnel trench, which had been famed for its supposed impregnability. At least five determined counter-attacks have been smashed in this region. Southeast of Baillecourt hard fighting occurred at Moeuvres last night and a strong counter-attack was repulsed.

The last line of trench defenses in the region of Cantalpont have been broken and the British today were firmly established at many points in the Masmieres-Beauraumont line south of Cambrai.

It is now possible to give more details of Tuesday's battle. In the advance south of Cambrai the first hard fighting occurred at Lateau wood, which lies on the Cambrai highway south of Masmieres. This wood finally was cleared of Germans and the advance continued toward Masmieres. Some opposition was encountered in a suburb, but by 1 o'clock this had been overcome and the British had crossed the L'Escaut canal at L'Escaut.

Fought Bitterly But in Vain. The small German garrison fought bitterly to retain Masmieres. The whole place was undermined with dugouts in which the enemy was hidden with machine guns, but the Germans were forced to give up this place after a sanguinary struggle. Some of them were still holding out in the cellars today.

Marcoing was taken with small resistance on the part of the enemy and this gave the British a second crossing of the canal. The advancing troops forced a passage here at the same hour as Masmieres was entered. The Masmieres-Beauraumont trench line north of Masmieres apparently had been reinforced by Germans from Cambrai and this front held up the advance temporarily with rifle and machine gun fire but the British alternately forced the Germans from the trenches in hand to hand fighting. German resistance was weak as a whole and they surrendered freely in many places. Yesterday their lines stiffened and hard fighting followed. German reinforcements from Lens and the two companies of invalids already mentioned were thrown into the line.

Wither Under Terrible Fire. The first counter attack came over the ridge from the northeast of Masmieres. The enemy advanced in massed formation as in the early days of the war. The British had concentrated a large number of machine guns at this point and were hoping for a counter attack. They permitted the enemy to advance to within a thousand yards of the line before they opened fire. Then the machine guns and artillery were turned on the Germans and they were smashed in a withering storm.

At 1 o'clock an attack on Marcoing was attempted by the enemy, but as in the former case they were caught in a heavy artillery and machine gun fire and they turned back after suffering severely. An hour later another body of Germans advanced on Noyelles, which was held by one company of British troops. Here some of the stiff fighting of the battle took place at close quarters. Both sides rushed up reinforcements and for two hours the battle surged back and forth through the streets and among the buildings.

Bayonet is Busy.

It was a melee in which the bayonet played the principal part. The Germans fought well, but they were not good enough to withstand the fury of the British assault, and gradually they were forced back across the canal the east.

Among the prisoners taken by the British were several officers, who were caught in the regimental headquarters and shell holes.

Marcoing is held by the British.

The British commander was captured and it is reported that his advent into the British lines was a particularly humorous spectacle. He came tramping back clad in an elaborate fur coat followed by two servants who carried more of his finery. He was swearing mad at the turn of events. The sight of British cavalry threw him almost into a frenzy and the lurid language which he directed at the British drew a smile from even the hardened Tommy, who has a somewhat picturesque vocabulary of his own.

Civilian Captives Rejoice.

Civilians who were released from Masmieres today told something of their experiences in the last three years. They rejoiced at their new found freedom and many of them today still slept with joy when the subject of their deliverance was brought up. It was a motley crowd which came out of this place, people in all conditions and from many walks of life. Among them was the mayor, M. Lestain, a middle aged man, who acted as spokesman.

They first learned of the approach of the British from machine gun fire in the distance. They were immediately thrown into a state of excitement and watched for the coming of their friends from every vantage point available. They had their first sight of the advancing forces at the bridgehead, and saw coming with the attacking troops strange monsters which they never dreamed existed. They were the great tanks, and the people stand in amazement as these mighty engines ploughed their way forward.

Few Germans in Place. They were released for two days have been swarming with advancing troops and with prisoners and civilians coming back from the front. Many rejoicing non-combatants, men, women and children, have been pouring out of the captured towns under the guidance of their deliverers from German bondage.

This has been a battle of strange sights, but no more striking spectacle has been witnessed than that of these people marching toward homes and comfort back of the British front.

Throughout yesterday the Teutons attacked the Italian positions between the Brenna and Piave rivers. Several positions were lost more than once, the statement adds, but all were retaken.

Towards evening the last Italian counter-attack definitely stopped the Austro-Germans.

NO CLAIMS FROM BERLIN.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—Fighting is progressing in the Italian mountains between the Brenta and Piave rivers, says the official statement issued today by the German general staff.

BIG CIRCLING MOVEMENT FAILS.

Rome, Nov. 23.—A great circling attack attempt was made yesterday by the Austro-German forces against Monte Melotto, but the Italians held all the positions, it was announced today by the war office.

Throughout yesterday the Teutons attacked the Italian positions between the Brenta and Piave rivers. Several positions were lost more than once, the statement adds, but all were retaken.

Towards evening the last Italian counter-attack definitely stopped the Austro-Germans.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMANS.

Paris, Nov. 23.—Another German attempt to recapture the ground taken by the French in their recent attack on the Aisne front was checked by the French fire, the war office reports. The statement follows:

"Active artillery fighting continues in the sectors of Cerny and Juvin-court. In this region our fire checked an enemy attack against the positions on our left, which we captured on Nov. 21.

"Our patrols in operations near the Ailette brought back prisoners and inflicted losses on the enemy. Northwest of Reims and in the Champagne raids on our small posts were without result. On the right bank of the Meuse the artillery fighting continued in a spirited manner during the night. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

last defensive line before Cambrai. The transportation service kept pace with the advance, the construction of roads and railroads, Field Marshal Haig announces, having contributed largely to the success of the operation.

That the surprise was complete is shown by the fact that the British casualties were considerably less than the number of Germans captured—more than 9,000. The British also were able to free the French population of some of the towns and villages. These people the Germans had been unable to remove. The German troops encountered included cripples and convalescents.

High military opinion, recently expressed, that the chances of the Italians holding the Piave line and saving Venice are increasing hourly, seems likely to be strengthened by the tone of today's Italian official statement showing continued successful resistance by the Italians to the furious attempts being made by the enemy to pierce their northern front.

The Italian first and fourth armies, defending the northern line, were the defensive forces that added to the record of their already notable achievements. An encircling movement in the Monte Melotto region northeast of Astago was completely frustrated by the first army, although great forces of Austro-German troops were employed in the attempt. All the Italian positions remained in the hands of the defenders. The fourth army, holding the front on the east, between the Brenta and the Piave, was compelled to conduct all day with a series of attacks in the Teuton effort to turn the flank of the Piave river line in the Monte Grappa region. The battle tide ebbed and flowed throughout the day, but when night came the Italians had retaken all the positions they had temporarily lost and a final counter-attack clinched the victory.

public has addressed itself simultaneously to all the belligerent people and their governments.

"Accept my assurance, Mr. Ambassador, of the profound respect of the soldiers' and workmen's government for the people of France, which as cannot help aiming at peace, as well as the rest of the nations exhausted and made bloodless by this unexampled slaughter.

NOT CRAZY ABOUT IT.

Amsterdam, Nov. 25.—The German newspapers as a rule discuss the Bolshevik peace proposal non-committally. The Berlin Post says that it is tangential movement for an armistice will be confronted with the necessity of making the most far-reaching decisions. The Lokal Anzeiger remarks that if it proves true that the Russian army in the name of an authorized government has made an offer, it would be examined seriously if acceptable as regards the entire military situation.

Satisfaction at the proposal is expressed by the Vossische Zeitung. It says, however, that the Russians must clearly realize that Germany's military position is not such as to compel her to concur in the armistice proposal, the acceptance of which depends entirely on technical conditions. The Russians' proposal, however, doubtless will receive an examination in a benevolent spirit, it adds. The Tagblatt says Germany can merely submit the offer to conscientious and cogitative examination in which the entire military situation must be taken into consideration.

FORTY-FOUR LOADS OF HAY REACH MARKETS

Prices Drop as the Market Swamps—Quotations Hold Up for Corn and Oats.

Fort Wayne markets were swamped with hay Friday and the prices fell. The market opened with the quotations for the first few loads holding up to $26, but as more and more loads reached the market the price fell to $21 a ton. The report that the government buyers had ceased to buy and the awakening of farmers to the fact that they would have to defray the expenses of baling hay that went to the government were big factors in Friday's heavy rush. Six loads of corn averaged $1 and $1.15 a bushel. Three loads of oats brought 65 and 67 cents a bushel.

CAPTAIN JAMES B. WHITE CAMP, Sons of Veterans, is arranging for a famous mock trial to be held in Vorderman hall, Monday evening, December 3. On this date proceedings will be instituted before Special Judge Frank Dulin by King James of England, for the appointment of a guardian for Kaiser Bill Hohenzollern, who has been muddling up affairs about his domain so long that number of the crowned heads located to conveniently near, claim a guardian should be appointed for the naughty despot. In defense of his case Bill has employed the famous firm of lawyers, composed of T. W. Blair and W. H. Tschannen, to defend him, and Charles P. Josse, together with David Hogg, will represent the plaintiff. A number of crowned heads will appear to testify at the trial, some forc, but more against the kaiser.

As exponents of the mock trial the local camp has already achieved a reputation and there can be no doubt that this entertainment will be both entertaining and instructing. The trial will be the first of a number of programs to be held this winter.

LEAVITT AND LOCKWOOD.

Able Leavitt and Ruth Lockwood, a pair of hilarious funsters, in a hodge podge of vaudeville endeavor that runs the gamut from straight song to serious verse touching at dance and travesty stations en route, provide fifteen minutes of uproarious fun as one of the features of the bill for the remainder of the week at the New Palace. Their bubbling good humor and infectious laughs regulate a vaudeville audience regularly. Hugo Jansen's Fashion Shop, a tiny musical comedietta, created round a gown fashioning trick, is a novelty number on this bill. Alphonse Berg drapes gowns on living models, building them without cutting or sewing the material merely by deftly twisting and tucking the ends, pinning loops, etc. Earl Corr and Blanch LaTelle provide the comedy relief as Iolan Cornerib and his daughter Neuraglia.

Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace's ventriloquial turn, "The Theatrical Agency," is a clever bit of comedy and dance. Miss Wallace providing a beautiful picture in several dance numbers, while assisting McCormick as a ventriloquist. Bob Zeno and Eva Mandel's lively talk skit "At the Bee Hive," opens some new gags and some ukulele stuff. Eva Marr and Rena and Vera Dwyer in songs, dances and impersonations and the Four Ankers in superb gymnastics complete this bill.

SOME STATISTICS OF INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Over 47,000 Enrollments of Students and 7,146 Degrees Since 1830.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 22.—Since the first class was graduated at Indiana university in 1830, a total of 7,146 degrees (exclusive of the 1917 class) have been conferred, according to the proof sheets from the new Register of Graduates of Indiana university, which will be received from the printer in December. Of the degrees conferred, 4,376 persons were made bachelors of arts; 49 bachelors of letters; 9 bachelors of philosophy; 230 bachelors of science; 1,080 bachelors of laws; 18 received law certificates; 451 doctors of medicine; 15 doctors of medicine cum laude; 778 masters of arts; 13 masters of science; 43 doctors of philosophy; and 55 honorary degrees. Of this number of alumni, 5,243 persons were presumed to be living at the time the statistics were compiled for publication.

In all, there have been 47,599 enrollments in the university since 1830, the first figures available, although the institution was founded by an act of the state legislature of Jan. 20, 1820. This does not mean, however, that that number of persons have attended the university, for it is evident that the student who continues in college four years will, ordinarily, have enrolled four times. There is no compilation showing the actual number of students who have attended the university.

In the thirties, the average attendance was 48, which gradually increased to 102 in 1861. During the period of the civil war, the enrollment dropped as low as 68, but in 1896 increased to 184. The three hundred mark was reached in 1889 and the next decade recorded an unusual growth, the enrollment figure reaching 1,050 in 1899. In 1908 the 2,000 was first reached and, although the figures for 1917 are not contained in the Register of Graduates, it was announced at the university, that the enrollment exceeded 3,000, in the spring of 1917. This figure was greatly reduced this year by many of the undergraduates going to war.

Another interesting table contained in the register is the one showing the distribution of graduates by occupation. Fifteen Indiana graduates are serving as university or college presidents; 277 as professors; 125 as college teachers below the rank of professor; 17 as college officers; 208 as school superintendents; 218 as high schools principals; $11 school teachers; 9 artists; 125 farmers; 64 are engaged in commercial work; 37 engineers; 39 financial; 53 government positions; 557 housekeepers; 70 newspaper work; 336 lawyers; 23 librarians; 13 literary work; 21 manufacturers; 262 physicians; 63 merchants; 64 ministers; 51 real estate dealers; 61 scientists; 23 social service workers; 5 in transportation work; and 581 in occupations too varied to classify.

A total of 209 other institutions have granted advanced degrees to Indiana alumni, while 883 persons have been granted advanced degrees by Indiana, the register shows.

A comparison of the forthcoming Register of Graduates with the one issued in 1911 shows that the number

1,808 (exclusive of the class of 1917).

The 1911 register shows 658 alumni dead and the new one 865 dead.

Ralph V. Sollitt, the alumni secretary of the university, who has had charge of the work of compiling the register, calls attention to a list of 108 persons, regarding whom he has been unable to obtain any information. He also announces that the university is desirous of obtaining information regarding persons who attended the university at any time, but did not receive a degree.

In addition to the statistical tables,

the register is made up of three principal parts: a list of graduates by classes from 1830 to 1916 inclusive, showing degrees received, occupation and address of the living graduates and the date of death and place of burial of the dead; the second part gives a list of the graduates grouped by localities and the third part groups the graduates alphabetically.

Beauty.

There is an old saying that beauty is the truth. Beauty is founded on good beauty. You can cover up a muddy but it will not be beautiful. A a belligerent beauty. Constipa-

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21.—The internal revenue office in this city has ruled that a war tax must be charged on admissions to high school or college basket ball games, unless all the net proceeds go to the school, for the purpose of buying new equipment, books, etc. The ruling was made in response to a number of requests from school authorities over the state.

VAST WASTE OF COAL

State Director Woolen Says
2,000,000 Tons Go for Nothing.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—An authorized statement from the office of Evans Woolen, state fuel administrator, to the effect that in Indiana an annual saving of 2,000,000 tons of coal can be affected by the proper method of firing furnaces and other heating plants, was given out yesterday. By following directions it is declared coal consumers can effect a vast saving.

"In steam heating and hot water plants one source of great waste is neglect of flues, both inside and outside," the statement says. "Flues quickly pick up a coating where alkali water is used. This coating is an insulation and requires vastly more heat to penetrate the flue and heat the water. On the inside of the flue, where the heat strikes direct, soot and dust rapidly accumulate and this requires more heat, which means more fuel consumption."

"Those who will take time to see that the furnace flues are clean will be rewarded by a saving of at least 20 per cent. in coal consumption. It is a well-established fact that by having clean flues four tons of coal will be made to do the work of five."

Attention to Coals.

"Where the bed of coals is not kept evenly distributed over the furnace grates, in the spots where the bed is light on the grate is bars, cold air rushes into the firebox. This reduces the temperature of the heating chamber and flues, permits gases to get out through the chimney without being consumed, and it results in the burning of vastly more coal than would be necessary if the fire were properly distributed."

"Another source of heat loss, which is very common, is the lack of a tight furnace base and boiler base. A crack in the ash chamber or a furnace or a crack in any part of the fire box permits cold air to rush in and results in improper combustion. The heat gases go out the chimney before they are burned. Few persons pay attention to these things, and yet they are costing money every hour the furnace is operated. The man who is using ten tons or more of fuel each winter, in an average-sized house, may be reasonably certain that he is not getting the best out of his coal. He is wasting."

100 Per Cent. Saving.

Word has reached the fuel administrator's office that the price of coal to the consumer in Vincennes has been reduced from the original recommendation of the county administrator. The first price recommended was $5 a ton for Indiana lump. That has been reduced to $4.50 a ton.

W. J. Hoover, a representative of H. A. Gathfield, national fuel administrator, who has been sent to Indiana to help county administrators and others solve numerous problems, has undertaken to aid the Marion county administrator in reaching a fair price for coal to Marion county consumers.

Recommendation for a retail price on coal in Benton county has been sent to the state office by Charles Shyder, fuel administrator for that county. He has fixed a margin of 73 cents a ton on coal sold at the yards and $1.23 a ton on coal delivered to the consumer. The retail price in Benton county is $5 a ton at the yards and $5.50 a ton delivered.

RATIONING SURE IF

State Food Administrator
Barnard Says Rule Must Be Kept.

Indianapolis, Nov. 23.—"Unless every housekeeper and every consumer, men and women, will live up to the regulations for food conservation as laid down by the government, we shall all soon be living on rations" was the message brought by H. E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana, to the "fourteen-minute women" of the country, of which Mrs. Julia C. Henderson is director, at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday, it being his first conference with these speakers since his return from Washington.

Dr. Barnard declared emphatically that no part of the war administration is more essential than that of the food director, and he insisted that just now corn is the answer to the war situation. He explained that corn must be used as a substitute for wheat, and that as chief food of hogs it should be fed to produce lard fat, which is so essential to the army. He explained that the Hoover plan is for sufficient feeding of Americans first, but that Americans must be trained how to eat in a way to conserve wheat, pork products and sugar.

Pledge Cards Success.

"So far the signing of the food conservation pledge cards has been a success in Indiana," said the speaker. "I believe the women who have signed

C. V. Stansby, assistant to Dr. Barnard, explained in detail the cash-and-carry plan which it is proposed to put into effect not only in groceries, but in all food stuffs and even in all other mercantile shops. According to this plan the retailer will be asked to mark all his goods at a price which would be legitimate when eliminating the expense of delivery and of carrying the account of nibs books. The customer will then have to pay extra for delivery charges and also will have to pay a certain rate of interest on a charge account.

Plea for Co-Operation.
Don Harold, publicity director for the Indiana food administration, made a plea for a close-co-operation with the government plans for conservation without questioning their advisability.

Following the addresses there was an informal round table discussion by the "fourteen-minute women." The organization has arranged for speakers at more than 100 gatherings with in the last month. Any meeting of women wishing a speaker can get in touch with one of the "fourteen-minute women" by addressing Mrs. Henderson at her home, 512 East Eleventh street, or by telephoning her, Main 2650 or Circle 731. Fifty Years Old

---She Looks 29

Her Beauty Secret
Buttermilk and Cream

Before I knew how to keep myself looking young and attractive at an age when most women appear wrinkled and old, I endured all the sharp pangs of neglect from the very ones whose admiration was most precious to me. I used to dream an hour or two at the moment youthful freshness and beauty have gone! Unless she can ward off the tell-tale marks of age so destructive to fascination and charm, her future is bound to be one of disappointments and regret. Yet I have learned from my own experience, I need no reason why any woman should not regain the clear, velvety smoothness of her skin and look five to fifteen years younger by means of the same simple recipe which I used with such great success myself. I may have to pay the price of wrinkles, sallow skin and complexion blemishes, but my skin has become so firm and beautiful that I no longer worry about the effect of the passing years. At night I simply wash my face with buttermilk, rub it in with a teaspoonful of pure, resonant cream. When my face was badly wrinkled, I used Japanese Ice Pencils in connection with the roseated cream, and obtained quick results on even the deepest wrinkles of long standing. The evenness of my skin has failed. To correct the appearance of a shiny nose, enlarged pores or oily skin I found the application of a little Poudre Petals most effective. By following this easy and inexpensive French recipe I know that many a wrinkled, low-cheeked, faded-looking woman has banished every sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes and marvelously increased her beauty.

Note: Pure roseated cream—Cream Toilet Roseated—which is mentioned in the above article—is guaranteed by its manufacturers to banish complexion blemishes and make any woman look years younger and far more beautiful in ten days' time or the price will be refunded. The following is a copy of a letter sent, despite the war, they could supply these French created products: Meyer Brothers, Dreicer Drug Co., Wolf & Dessoer. —Advertisement.

EVEN BIG LEAGUERS "BONE" THEIR BATS

Want to Be in Trim for Clash With Soldiers from Camp Taylor.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The Kendallville Overlands will rest next Sunday, for the first time since the opening of the football season. This is being done as a matter of "safety first" so that all players will be in condition for the Turkey day game at Fort Wayne, next Thursday. At present all players are "in fine condition" and in playing a game Sunday someone of the stars might receive injuries that would keep him out of the game and might prove serious to the team.

The big game for Thanksgiving will be played between the Friars of Fort Wayne and the army team from Camp Taylor, Ky. This game was made possible by the One Hundred Per Cent club of Fort Wayne, who wished to have the Camp Taylor team at Fort Wayne because of the fact that most of the players are Fort Wayne boys. After securing the army team it was a question to pick the best team in the northern part of Indiana as an opponent, and the mighty Overlands were chosen. Hundreds of fans from here are planning to attend the game. Enthusiasm and interest over the game at Fort Wayne is high and the largest crowd of the season is expected at the Allen county gridiron.

The Overlands have played nine games this season and piled up 265 points, while all opponents were held scoreless. It is the aim of the team to finish with a scoreless season.

CHAMPIONS TO DEFEND THEIR TITLES TONIGHT

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Champions in various classes who won their bouts last night in the amateur boxing tournament under way here will defend their titles again in the wind-up tonight. The tournament is a Red Cross benefit and soldiers from various parts of the country are among the contestants. Tommy Murphy, of the Missouri Athletic club, lightweight champion, and Jack Tomasini, of New York, featherweight champion, won on knockouts in their first bouts. Their opponents were local men.

A total of fifty-six trotters covered a mile in 2:10 during the last season.

De Monica, a Cuban, is among Columbian university swimming team candidates.

University of Detroit football eleven plays on Navin field, the home of the Detroit American league nine.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, has won his first four home matches in the interstate three-cushion billiard league this season.

The New York A. C. will promote a series of athletic meets among the soldiers at Camp Upton and Yaphank on Thanksgiving day.

Swimming teams, representing Young Women's Christian associations of Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Lancaster and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., will compete in league contests.

National champion lawn tennis player, Llout, R. N. Williams II, is somewhere in France. Williams ranked No. 1 in 1916 among lawn tennis players and it is singular that he is perhaps the first of the ranking first ten players to be sent across the ocean, although all the others have enlisted, with the exception of Jim Murray, who is employed in a factory which is making war munitions. Murray wanted to enlist in spite of this fact, but his many friends persuaded him he could best serve his country by staying at his present employment.

Coach Gilmore Dibble, of the Annapolis academy football team, which ran up a score of 305 points in four recent contests, says: "There are four cardinal principles in football which I follow at all times, running with the ball, blocking, interference and tackling. If a team knows those things it is good enough to take care of itself against any opponent. I build my team around those four points and keep them at it every day of the season. The attack will come after that, but not before. The rudiments are important and I have found it out through long experience. Another thing is the developing of men along their natural lines. I never insist that a player do a certain thing in a certain way, when he is better fitted to do it another way."

(Copyright Underwood & Underwood.) If Eddie Plank makes good his threat, he will stage the greatest comeback of baseball history. At 42 it is his intention to re-enter the game. As he retired only last year it should not be a difficult matter to get in condition. Maybe he is jealous of his old side partner, Chief Bender, who made such a great record with the Phillies last year.

SOME NEW CHAMPIONS—TRACKMEN, MERMEN AND MERMAIDS—WHO SET NEW STANDARDS DURING 1917

(By Paul Purman.)

As a fitting close to the 1917 athletic season the A. A. U. has allowed nine new records in track and field events and 27 in tidal and tank swimming events.

Practically all of the latter were made in the fall swimming carnival at Honolulu where American mermen and mermaids set up new standards in many distances.

The most remarkable of the new marks is that of Clinton Larsen, of Brigham Young university, who set a record of 8 feet 7 1/2 inches in the high jump in an exhibition at Provo, Utah, in June.

Johnny Overton, of Yale, set two new marks for the year in the 1,000 yard and mile runs. The record for the former was 2:14, made indoors in March. The new mile indoor record is 4:16.

Joe Ray set up new standards for the two mile indoor by covering the distance in 9:11 2-5.

Other running records were:

60 yard dash, indoor, .06 2-6, Joe Loomis, Chicago, A. A.

300 yard run, indoor, .31 2-5, A. B. Kelly, Holy Cross college.

15 mile walk, 2:07.17 3-5, Ed Bonz, N. Y. A. C.

In swimming events Norman Ross of San Francisco, set no less than eight records. Perry McGillivray, two, and Duke Kahanamoku, Rudy Langer, Harold Kruger and Michael McDermott, each one.

Olga Dorfner, hung up standards in the 50, 100, 220, 300 and 500 yard swims in 20-foot tanks; Miss Dorothy Burns, of San Francisco, is credited with new marks in the 50, 100 and 220 yard swims in tide-water and Miss Claire Galligan for the 446 and 500 yard swims, the latter being made under different conditions than those which governed Miss Dorfner's record breaking effort.

EVERYTHING READY FOR SUNDAY'S GAME

Wabash is Spending Considerable Money to Strength- en Its Team.

Everything is now in readiness for the big annual clash between the fast Friars' football team and Wabash. The Friars' "Howling Hundred" have been organized, the Friar team is in tiptop condition and a capable substitute for Feeney has been secured.

Undoubtedly the game will be the best and most exciting of the season. Wabash has promised to come "loaded" and is spending considerable money to strengthen the weak places. It will be a much different and much better team than the one that met Hammond twice this season.

Tickets are going rapidly, although there are any number of goods seats left. They are on sale at Meyer Brothers' drug store at Wayne and Calhoun streets.

Considerable interest is being taken in the preliminary game to be played between the Tigers and Bachelors at 1:15 o'clock. The Tigers are claimants of the amateur championship of the city while the Bachelors won the title last season.

SHADES OF JOHN BULL! IS BASEBALL TO SUPERSEDE CRICKET IN ENGLAND?

The war promises to do what four decades could not do to the conservative British mind—make baseball a popular sport in England.

British sporting papers are freely predicting that baseball is likely to supersede cricket as the popular English game and cites the immense crowds which have attended recent games between Canadian troops to back up their predictions.

From the few hundreds who attended the first game played in England the 20,000 in games held this fall.

No less than 101 Canadian teams were entered in an elimination match held in three years.

PROMISES THRILLS

Kendallville Overlands Will Take Field With Team Hard to Beat.

That the Kendallville Overlands expect to make the Camp Taylor boys go all the time to beat them in their Turkey day clash is an evident fact. According to their line-up, "Nervy" Leland will play at fullback. He is a tall, heavy giant, who can smash the line and punt the ball with unusual accuracy. "Brick" Brennan, one of the cleverest quarters of this region, will general the Overlands. He is noted for the manner in which he picks the enemy's weak points and directs his charges against that place. His ability in making forward passes has helped in winning a number of games this season.

A. Runge, a big, stalwart Indian star, will play at guard; Holden will play the opposite guard position. McQuin and Reilly, halfbacks, and Adams and Walschak, ends, are other huskies appearing in the Kendallville team.

Tickets for the game are already on sale at several of the neighboring cities and at Altar's and Regel's cigar stores, on the transfer corner. The tickets will be placed on sale at a number of other places soon.

The Hundred Per Cent. club will hold a meeting Friday night at the Commercial club to form further plans for the game. This organization is basking the Thanksgiving game and will turn over the entire proceeds to the Camp Taylor boys for the benefit of the camp.

KHAKI TESTAMENT FOR EVERY SOLDIER'S KIT

Federated Churches Support
Campaign to Aid Morals
in Army.

New York, Nov. 23.—A campaign to help build up the army morale by putting a khaki testament in every soldier's kit has been given the united support of the federal churches, and the approval of the administration at Washington, according to an announcement made in this city today at a meeting of the war committee of the American Bible society. James R. Wood, president of the American Bible society, announced that the committee had approved plans to raise $400,000 for the immediate distribution of these testaments to all American soldiers and sailors now serving under the colors.

The money needed for the printing and distribution of these testaments will be raised through American Bible week. The date announced for this week is December 1 to 11.

The committee announced that money could be contributed to the campaign through any federated church or local Bible agency or sent to the American Bible society in New York city.

Mr. Wood said the work had been undertaken by the society in response to repeated demands from the army and navy chaplains, the Young Men's Christian association, and other religious agencies working for the spiritual welfare of the men at the front. "The appeal which the campaign will make is one which is bound to awaken a response among thoughtful Christians," said Mr. Wood. "We must recognize that the maintenance of army morale is one of the surest ways of assuring victory, and we look to see the American army, not only the strongest, but the cleanest and noblest army at the front."

The campaign should make an appeal to all patriotic citizens, and the committee feels that a special responsibility rests with the Christian churches."

President Wilson's approval of the campaign was read in the following letter: "I am glad to have the opportunity to endorse the effort of the American Bible society to procure a fund of $400,000 to cover the expense of supplying the men in the army and navy with Bibles. This is an object which I am sure all Christian people will want to see accomplished. I hope that it may be for the sake of the men who are going to the front. They will need the support of the only book from which they can get it."

In endorsing the campaign, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt says: "I very earnestly hope that the good people of the United States will furnish you the means to do this work. Every soldier and sailor of the United States should have a testament. The American Bible society is the organization through which the work can be done in best shape."

WHY PEOPLE BUY LIBERTY GARDENS

The location of Liberty Gardens, on the Bluffton paved road across from the Prairie Grove church, and at the intersection of the lower Huntington road, is such that no better place for a suburban addition could anywhere be found. The topography is fine and one can either select a cleared lot or a wooded one.

The streets, to be gravelled, are nice and wide and surely in harmony with the surroundings. The lots facing these streets are all full size, having a frontage of 140 feet or more, enabling one to divide them into two without spoiling the effect.

The paved road, one of the finest leading from the city, to Liberty Gardens is always clean and passable, both summer and winter, enabling one to reach the city in a very few minutes. The high pressure gas line along the paved road permits gas to be had for both light and heat. The Bluffton interurban has two stops very close by, thereby permitting quick transportation.

The new graded school just being finished being only a few rods from Liberty Gardens, will enable one to send their children until ready to enter high school.

Another great asset to Liberty Gardens is that a fine grocery will be erected in the spring, thereby making it very convenient to all who buy.

As an investment, Liberty Gardens cannot be excelled. The excellent quality of sand loam soil, underlaid with gravel, will yield abundant crops, as well as the natural growth of the city in this direction, being only a mile south of South Wood park, and the taxes being about one-fifth of that in the city.

These are a few of the reasons why anyone buying a suburban garden should at least see Liberty Gardens before making a decision. Mr. Rastetter, who has charge of selling Liberty Gardens, is proud to present this opportunity to the public.

fers Many Features.

been established in Fort Wayne with quarters at 531 Lincoln Life building.

This organization does not permit the sale of intoxicants in the club rooms, although not taking a stand for or against the liquor traffic, they do not believe the club rooms of a fraternal organization to be the place to sell intoxicants. The benefits are good while the dues are not excessive. The social features of the order are especially fine, particularly on ladies' nights. Other features are the sick, accident and funeral benefits, and free medical attention for the members and their families, free legal advice and free employment bureau for members.

Run Without Lights.

Both vessels were running without lights at the time of the accident, the Rose crashing into the Chauncey on the port side abreast of the fourth funnel. The after portion of the destroyer immediately submerged and officers and men in that part were drowned.

"After the collision the remaining portion of the vessel floated for about an hour and the transport was thus enabled to rescue the remainder of the officers and crew. They were taken to port by the Rose."

Temporary repairs were made and the ship proceeded.

The following night a submarine attacked the transports. The wake of a torpedo was seen off the bow of one of the vessels, but no conning tower or periscope was visible.

The transports raced ahead and succeeded in reaching port safely, where the collision damage was repaired.

TRANSPORT CLEAVES DESTROYER, SAYS SIMS

Admiral Reports on Sinking of the Chauncey After a Collision.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The American destroyer Chauncey, sunk Monday with the loss of twenty-one men, was cut in two by the transport Rose, the navy department was advised by Vice Admiral Sims.

The after part of the destroyer sank immediately, carrying down three officers including the commander, Lieutenant Commander Walter E. Reno, and eighteen enlisted men who were believed to have been asleep.

Vessel on Convoy Duty.

The Chauncey undoubtedly was convoying the Rose and both vessels were running through the war zone without lights. The transport struck the destroyer on the port side abreast the fourth funnel and ploughed through the frail vessel. The forward part of the wreck remained afloat an hour, enabling the Rose to rescue the seventy officers and men in that section. They were taken to port
